Ballistics Experts To Check Evidence

Support For Trials At Prison

Marin County supervisors, shocked by last Friday's shoot-out at the Hall of Justice, said today they will ask Marin judges to have trials of San Quentin inmates held within the prison.

Board chairman John F. McInnis and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney reported judges were already studying the possibility.

"Moving trials to San Quentin Prison is being given very serious consideration," said Maloney. However, there are legal and other complications that must be ironed out, he explained. "It is difficult to suggest anything specific at this point."

The board's action came on the heels of a move by the presiding judge in San Francisco to try the case of the so-called Soledad Brothers within San Quentin.

INSIDE PRISON

Judge Carl H. Allen, who presides in San Francisco Superior Court, said yesterday he would do everything he can to move the trial, scheduled to begin next month in San Francisco, inside the prison.

However, objections were expressed by both Marin's presiding judge and Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, although James W.L. Park, associate warden of San Quentin, approved.

"I don't see any possibility of our superior court's accepting the transfer," said Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Bales asserted: "We have enough trouble with prison inmates right now without bringing that problem into Marin County."

HAS FACILITIES

Park said, however, that San Quentin has facilities for a trial and new metal-detecting devices that would make an attempted break a "little harder to pull off."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss insisted today that the board express itself strongly on the need to transfer trials to the prison.

"The worst people in the state are brought to the Civic Center and are exposing our people to hazards," declared Supervisor Michael Wornum. "We should ask the judges that it is the feeling of this board that all San Quentin cases be tried in San Quentin."

Other supervisors agreed and instructed Maloney to draft such a letter to the judges.

The board also approved a policy statement, suggested by McInnis, calling for a full investigation in order to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy.

The statement also asks Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and Bales to keep the supervisors informed of the investigation into

NEWTON SAYS HE'LL PRESIDE OVER FUNERAL

Black Panther party leader Huey Newton reportedly will preside over "revolutionary" funeral services in Oakland Friday for two of the three slain abductors of Marin Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley.

Newton made the statement in a radio interview to be broadcast tonight.

The services for William Christmas and Jonathan P. Jackson will be at 9 a.m. at St. Augustine's Church.

The Panther's ministry of information in Oakland today had no knowledge of plans for the "revolutionary" services.

The Oakland mortuary handling funeral arrangements said the Black Panthers were providing lodging in Oakland for the family of Jackson, 17, of Pasadena.

Bailiffs May Need Arms, Reagan Says

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan today suggested that court bailiffs may have to be armed in light of the slayings last Friday of Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and his three abductors.

The governor, commenting on the tragedy at his weekly news conference, said that the practice of having unarmed bailiffs "may have to be reviewed."

Such a step, however, would have to await the recommendations of top court officials studying the problem of courtroom security, Reagan said.

He also said that the Mulford Act, which bars the carrying of loaded firearms in public buildings, may have to be tightened. Reagan suggested that the act may have to be extended to prohibit the carrying of any firearm in a public building, except by law enforcement officers.

Reagan said that his office was working with Chief Justice Roger J. Traynor and the presiding judges of all counties throughout the state "to make sure this can't happen again. We're looking at this from every angle."

Reagan declined to comment on the possibility that the unsuccessful escape attempt was part of a plot to free the three Soledad convicts facing murder trials for slayings at the prison.

All Arms, Bullets To State

State ballistics experts have been handed part of the task of untangling the sequence of events Friday in which Marin Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were shot to death and Assistant Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas and a convict, Ruchell Magee, were seriously wounded.

District Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today that all weapons and bullets recovered in the shootout have been turned over to state criminal identification and investigation bureau experts in Sacramento. Bales said he expects their report late this week.

Investigators still do not know whose shot wounded Thomas, who is paralyzed from the waist down and was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Magee's condition was listed as satisfactory at the San Quentin Prison hospital.

IN THE FIELD

Sheriff's Inspector Ron Retana, in charge of the overall investigation of Friday's violence, was in the field this morning on the case and could not be reached for late developments.

Who fired the shot that triggered the bloodbath still was not known for certain, but Bales said it was his impression that a convict within the getaway van fired first on a San Quentin guard standing by at the Civic Center roadblock; another convict blasted Judge Haley with a shotgun, and then Thomas grabbed a convict's gun and felled three of the four gunmen.

END FAST

At San Quentin prison, 18 inmates this morning ended a three-day sympathy fast for the two inmates killed Friday.

The hunger strike occurred in the adjustment center where slain convicts James D. McClain and William A. Christmas were housed, Park reported.

He said the prisoners indicated another three-day fast may follow.

Park said it was difficult to determine overall prisoner reaction to the Friday killings. "One prisoner said the men in his unit were not talking about it," Park said, adding that "the thinking prisoners are keenly aware that Friday's action reflects on them."

REMAINS UNFILLED

Judge Haley's superior court seat has yet to be filled, even on a temporary basis.

Presiding Judge Joseph G. Wilson could appoint a pro tem judge, court attaches said, but all jury trials in Marin Superior Court have been canceled this week. Only lesser matters and nonjury trials will be heard by the remaining judges.

Judge Wilson has canceled his planned vacation, but it was not known if he would be on the bench this afternoon.

Other than the trial of McClain, who was accused of stabbing a San Quentin guard, Judge Haley had no major matters on the calendar.

'A CRUEL GAME'

O'Connell Hits Fairfax Hiring

By C. P. McCARTHY

Fairfax City Councilman Francis J. O'Connell stunned a city council meeting last night with a blistering attack on alleged under-the-table maneuvering, vindictive scheming and a "cruel game of Fairfax dominoes" surrounding hiring of a permanent city administrator. (See other Fairfax City Council stories, page 7.)

The meeting began with O'Connell, even before approval of previous meetings' minutes, moving that the council rescind its decision last Thursday night to hire a full-time administrator.

After a 10-minute discussion of whether the motion was in order, it was seconded by Councilman Cornelis van Vliet.

Without discussion, the council voted and lined up the same way it voted Thursday: O'Connell and van Vliet to rescind; Mayor Frank J. Egger and Councilmen Robert R. Souza and Lee Nelder against.

O'Connel lthen read a four-page prepared statement aimed he said, at bringing "into the open that which is being done under the table."

He said that Souza and Nelder had both opposed the idea of a full-time administrator and had praised the efficiency of Francis Lestanguet, city clerk and administrator, during the April election campaign. Both voted for the full-time position last week.

O'Connell charged that "the only thing Fran Lestanguet did to start down that political bobsled last Thursday was to put Souza's telephone credit card in the council budget page."

Souza had a telephone credit card, which the city paid for, for several years. This year Mrs. Lestanguet took the expense out of the telephone allocation for general government and listed the credit card as a separate item in the proposed council budget.

At a budget session last month, Souza said he used the card for making calls from his San Francisco office to Fairfax city offices.

When a move was made to eliminate the card from the budget, Souza accused other councilmen of trying to censor him.

O'Connell last night went on to say that the move to hire a full-time administrator was not a spontaneous action, as had been reported in the press. "I claim it was vindictively schemed and maneuvered," he said.

He said that during a break in last week's meeting, "Souza approached a lady in the audience to ask her to set the stage" for Egger to make the motion.

"When this lady refused to become part of the plot — another woman was chosen to read the script," O'Connell said. "It is also a coincidence that the woman who goaded Mayor Egger into his motion happened to be Nelder's co-chairman during his campaign," he continued.

"Nelder's other co-chairman of his campaign is scheduled on

REAGAN NOTES SMOG DECLINES IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said today that Los Angeles residents might find it "hard to believe" but California's smog level is back to what it was 10 years ago.

"While wiping their eyes, they might find it hard to believe but there has been a decline" in smog because of restrictions placed on autos and more new cars on the road, the governor told his weekly news conference.

Reagan said there were "signs of progress" and "we are back to about the 1960 level of smog despite the increase of autos."

The governor said California was outstripping most states in the smog war, and he pointed to a recent federal poll which did not have a California city listed on the top 10 polluted cities.

Reagan Still Holds No Budget Compromise

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan announced today he would not compromise his $1 billion tax program in order to free it from a state Senate stranglehold.

"I don't see the need for any amendments or compromise," Reagan said. "I think it is a good bill . . . It is a good bill that should be passed."

Reagan also for the first time publicly criticized Sen. Clark Bradley, R-San Jose, for refusing to vote for the deadlocked tax shift legislation. He accused Bradley of "distorting" the program's contents.

Reagan's tax program has been stalled on the Senate floor for two weeks with no indication when the deadlock will be broken. Bradley and 12 Democrats have refused to vote for it.

Weekend efforts to resolve the impasse made no apparent progress. Reagan was asked at a news conference whether he would offer any compromise amendments to get the program passed.

"No," he said.

He said he was "bothered" by refusal of delegates at a board of governor's meeting of the conservative United Republicans of California to support his position over Bradley's.

The meeting occurred during the weekend in Oakland. The delegates based their endorsement of Bradley's stand on a five-page position paper he issued.

Bradley is especially opposed to a feature of the Reagan tax shift program which increases the state sales tax from five cents on-the-dollar to a record six cents. The additional revenue would finance homeowner property tax relief.

Bradley has argued that sales taxpayers would be required to finance someone else's property tax relief.

But Reagan said that Bradley failed to note that homeowners also pay the sales tax and "it is unfair for one segment of the public to go on paying an unjust burden."

The governor said that Bradley's case "was not founded on fact and was not a fair presentation."

Previously, Reagan has carefully avoided criticizing Bradley, a Republican up for reelection.

Reagan repeated his insistence that he has not abandoned hope that the tax shift legislation will be approved. He said he had not ruled out putting it on call at a special session of the legislature concurrent with the lawmakers' veto session later in the fall.

Police Seal Off Montevideo In Search For Kidnapers

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Police and thousands of army troops sealed off this capital from the rest of Uruguay today and searched door-to-door for a captive American and a Brazilian diplomat threatened with execution by Tupamaros guerrillas.

Authorities raided a suspected Tupamaros camp on the outskirts of the city, making four arrests and confiscating revolvers, hand grenades, machine guns and explosives.

But they found no trace of the two men despite telephone calls to newspapers early in the day claiming the Brazilian had been killed as was another American hostage on Monday.

The left-wing group killed Dan Mitrione, 51, of Richmond, Ind., Monday and warned that hostages Claude Fly, 65, of Fort Collins, Colo., and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Dias Gomide, 41, were next unless the Uruguayan government freed 150 political prisoners. The government has refused to deal with the kidnapers.

The streets were almost deserted in the early-morning darkness as military jeeps and police cars made surprise raids in different areas. There were a number of arrests of suspected terrorists and police announced today they had picked up Andres Cultelli Chiribao, 48, a suspected high Tupamaro officer, as he left a church Monday.

Authorities said there were blood-stained pieces of paper in the stolen car in which Chiribao was captured and the blood would be compared with Mitrione's.

Chiribao's son, Alfredo Emelio, was killed in a gunbattle with authorities when the Tupamaros took over the town of Pando last Oct. 8.

What amounted to martial law was put into effect by President Jorge Pacheco Areco when he was granted near-dictatorial powers by congress on Monday. He called out nearly 10,000 army troops to put pressure on the guerrillas.

In Brasilia, the Brazilian government confirmed that it has put Brazilian troops "on alert" along the Uruguayan-Brazilian border to watch for Tupamaros trying to flee north into Brazil.

But the Brazillian officials had no comment on a report by the Jornal do Brazil in Rio de Janeiro that eight planeloads of paratroopers had been flown to the city of Santana do

Cholera Epidemic

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet public health official today denied that a cholera epidemic has closed the Soviet Black Sea coast and said the disease had sealed off only two cities, Astrakhan and Odessa, a U.S. embassy spokesman said.

Meanwhile, the embassy spokesman said, a representative of the official Intourist travel agency denied Intourist had been canceling tours to Black Sea resorts because of cholera. The Intourist spokesman said reports to this effect were based on misunderstandings.

$3 Million Missing

EATONTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—A federal grand jury met in Newark today to consider evidence of an alleged $3 million embezzlement of the Eatontown National Bank.

U.S. Attorney Frederick B. Lacey, the top federal prosecutor in the state, toured the closed-down bank Monday with Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Goldstein. Lacey said he was making "a presentation of evidence in connection with the alleged embezzlement."

The bank closed Friday after audits showed $3 million missing. Federal officials have not said whether anyone had been charged.

Miami Trial Delayed

MIAMI (UPI) — Jim Morrison, the so-called "King of Orgasmic Roc," will go on trial in Criminal Court Wednesday on felony charges of lewd and lascivious behavior.

The 26-year-old lead singer of The Doors also was charged with misdemeanors of drunkenness, profanity and indecent exposure following an uproarious performance here March 1, 1969.

His trial was to have started Monday, but Judge Murray Goodman hadn't finished another trial and delayed the start of Morrison's trial until Wednesday afternoon.

RCA-Union Accord

WASHINGTON (UPI) — RCA Corp. and the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE) reached a tentative agreement Monday which could end a 10-week strike by 12,000 employees in seven states.

The IUE-RCA conference board recommended the settlement terms to members at 14 plants in the 12 affected cities. Terms were withheld pending a membership vote expected to be completed by next Monday.

An IUE spokesman said the negotiating committee has the authority to conclude an agreement with RCA without submitting it to union members, but the committee will await the vote before deciding whether to accept the contract.

N.Y. Greets Mobutu

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Joseph Mobutu of the Congo was guest of honor at a reception given Monday night by Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Stone Premier's Car

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Demonstrators demanding a harder line toward Roman Catholics in this violence-beset corner of Ireland jostled Premier James Chichester-Clark and hurled stones at his car in Londonderry today.

Chichester-Clark, fighting for political survival, was assailed as he left a noisy, five-hour meeting of his constituents in south Londonderry that lasted into the early hours of the morning.

Some members of the governing Unionist party are demanding Chichester-Clark's resignation.

The premier crouched in the back seat of the car as members of the crowd pushed past a police corlon, threw stones and thumped and kicked the vehicle. It finally made its way through the demonstrators and drove away.

End Delivery Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—Employes of United Parcel Service (UPS) returned to work today after a two-week strike that won them the right to wear American flag buttons on their uniforms.

A backlog of an estimated 2,000 packages piled up during the walkout.

Reds Surround Base Near Laos

SAIGON (UPI) — An Allied commander said today some 2,000 North Vietnamese had surrounded a South Vietnamese artillery base near the Laotian border. South Vietnamese troops sent in reinforcements and U. S. planes flew air strikes in an effort to break up the siege.

Col. Nguyen Van Diem, a regimental commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division said the 2,000 troops were part of five North Vietnamese battalions around Fire Support Base O' Reilly, 26 miles west of Hue and 12 miles east of Laos.

Diem estimated that 250 North Vietnamese had been killed in fighting around the base since Saturday. Air strikes flown by Allied planes including U.S. B52s were credited with killing most of the Communist troops.

Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese casualties were one killed and 24 wounded.

Diem said the apparent intention of the North Vietnamese was to take Allied artillery bases in the region one-by-one with the goal of opening an infiltration route to the east.

The base is four miles north of the U. S. 101st Airborne Division's abandoned artillery base Ripcord. Ripcord was evacuated July 23 under heavy Communist pessue after a 23-day siege that killed 61 Americans and wounded 345.

The North Vietnamese were estimated tohave more than 100 mortars in the attack against O'Reilly.

Field reports said three troopers of the 25th Infantry Division were killed and six wounded in a four-hour battle with Communist troops Monday 40 miles northwest of Saigon. It was the biggest action of the day in Vietnam.

Two other Americans were killed and two wounded when their truck hit a mine in Binh Duong Province northwest of Saigon Monday.

The U. S. command announced today that two U. S. Marine Air Wing units totaling 615 men, Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron No. 17 and Wing Equipment Repair Squadron No. 17, will leave for Iwakuni, Japan, Aug. 18 as part of the Nixon administration's 50,000-man withdrawal to be completed by Oct. 16.

Meanwhile, a Cambodian infantry commander said today a division of 5,000 North Vietnamese troops is setting up a estimated to have more than 100 Phnom Penh as a launching pad for attacks on the capital.

Maj. Prak Neng, deputy commander of the Cambodian army's Infantry Battalion base area 30 miles southeast of based at Saang 18 miles south of Phnom Penh, said the immediate target of the Communist division was Saang.

Saang, on the west bank of the Bassac River, is the center of a major food producing region and transportation hub with roads leading to Phnom Penh and southeast to the South Vietnamese border.

End Of An Era: Women At McSorley's

NEW YORK (UPI) — For 116 years they've been gathering at McSorley's Old Ale House, sipping their ale and saying how there'd be trouble if they let a woman in the place.

Monday they gathered at McSorley's, sipped their ale and some of them said how right they had been.

Women were leaning on the bar and getting sawdust in their shoes at McSorley's for the first time. It all happened as Mayor John V. Lindsay signed into law a bill prohibiting discrimination against women in places of public accommodation and the women headed for New York's oldest drinking establishment.

One of the first female customers was Lucy Komisar, a vice president of the National Organization for Women. She did not have a good time, but said when she left politics was sometimes that way.

As she entered the swinging doors, a waiter asked for a birth certificate and would not accept a driver's license as proof she was 18. There was a brief scuffle as she tried to shove past him. Then Daniel Kirwan, who with his mother owns the bar, let her in.

Miss Komisar also got into an argument with some men wearing undershirts. One of them dumped a stein of ale over her. He was shown out and she was allowed to stay as McSorley's enforced its rule against rowdyism, even if it couldn't enforce its ban on women.

Kirwan had wanted his mother to be the first woman served in the bar. Mrs. Dorothy O'Connell Kirwan is part owner, but she has never been inside. She turned down her son's invitation. Two women who work in the neighborhood were the first, but they stayed only briefly.

Equal Rights Amendment Clears House By 350-15

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., the 82-year-old chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said in his view men and women were as different as "a horse chestnut and a chestnut horse," and no law could change that.

"Vive la difference," he added.

But Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., said that was not the issue. "Any kind of discrimination is degrading to the individual and harmful to society as a whole," she said, and went on to tell how women, in her view, are degraded in the United States.

That was the prelude to a historic moment Monday as the House voted 350 to 15 for a proposed constitutional amendment which states: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The proposal is called the Equal Rights Amendment and its effect on legal relationships between men and women could be profound if it eventually passes the Senate and is ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Both sides agreed it could make women subject to the draft and compel such institutions as the U.S. military academy at West Point to accept women.

They said it could overturn hundreds of state laws intended to protect women workers. Sponsors said these laws in reality give no protection but bar women from many responsible, high-paying jobs.

The House vote was a personal victory for Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., the chief sponsor, and Miss Alice Paul, the 85-year-old former suffragette who was one of the original group of militant feminists who drafted it 47 years ago.

The amendment had been stuck in Celler's judiciary committee since it was introduced in 1923. Last month, Mrs. Griffiths got the required majority of 218 signatures on a petition to extricate it and she brought up her petition for a vote Monday.

The House voted 332 to 22 to remove the proposal from committee for immediate consideration.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, the ranking Republican on the judiciary committee, tried later to get it returned to the committee but that motion was beaten, 344 to 26.

Senate passage of the proposal seems certain, with 83 of the 100 senators sponsoring it, but there is no indication yet when the vote will be taken.

San Anselmo City Salary Package Set

The San Anselmo City Council last night wrapped up the city salary package by voting increases of 6 to 8 per cent for some department heads and leaving the pay of one unchanged.

The salary of head librarian Lucy Palo was left at $950 per month.

City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel, who said of his salary, "I'll just leave it up to you guys," was raised from $1,525 per month to $1,612. City Atty. John G. Buresh expressed no dissatisfaction with his $723 per month, plus an added $9 per month for office expenses.

However, Charles R. Leitzell, public works director, who sought a 10 per cent hike, and the police and fire chiefs, who sought 15 per cent each, were disappointed.

PARITY DISPUTE

Leitzell was hiked from $1,475 per month to $1,581, or about 7 per cent.

Police Chief Raymond Buchignani, who argued thathissubornani, who argued that his subordinates sometimes outearn him, was raised from $1,243 to $1,336, but Fire Chief Frank Sousa — who started at the same level — was granted a raise to only $1,322.

After breaking city tradition of pay parity between police and firemen in salary negotiations and refusing earlier in the evening to put the parity issue on the November ballot without a referendum, the council felt an equal raise to Sousa would undermine the stand.

Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Lewis W. Stewart opposed the fire chief salary and Capurro also opposed the police chief raise, arguing the two chiefs should be paid the same salary as Leitzell.

OFF THE BALLOT

Firemen asked the council to put the pay parity question to the public, but the council decided, Capurro and Stewart dissenting, that if the council placed it on the ballot, it would imply tacit acceptance.

Noting that the mechanical deadline for placing an item on the ballot is tomorrow, Buresh said the salary contract for fiscal 1970-71 calls for further talks on the subject and parity could not be achieved this year, without voiding the contract. He called for future negotiations on the issue.

Stewart contended that the item should be placed on the ballot as a matter of courtesy and Capurro said disparity was causing low morale in the fire department.

Hub Budget Had To Give Somewhere

The San Anselmo City Council last night sat on its fiscal suitcase and found it just wouldn't close.

Faced with a general fund tax rate of $1.70 per $100 assessed valuation — 18 cents over the legal limit — the council took out $23,000 budgeted for a fire engine and another $35,300 that was to renovate 5.3 miles of city streets.

Convinced, however, that the items were necessary, the council authorized a proposition for the Nov. 2 ballot calling for a 9-cent special tax for two years to finance the engine.

Another proposal tabled until another council session tonight would create a special tax of an unspecified amount for a number of years for street work.

City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel had asked the council to ax $42,700 in contracted street work on Jordan, San Rafael and San Anselmo avenues and Brookside Drive, plus the engine, lower the general fund rate to $1.47 and the total tax rate to $2.30 per $100 assessed valuation.

The total rate last year was $2.25.

The council, however, decided to squeeze in the Jordan and San Rafael avenues projects for $10,400. Kaeppel did not indicate what the adjusted rate would be.

Asst. Fire Chief Richard McLaren and Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro urged retention of the fire engine.

"If this fire engine is not purchased this year, I feel sorry for the city," McLaren said, noting that the city has 31- and 23-year-old engines in service now.

Capurro, who originally voted against including the fire engine in the budget, said it was the most important item in the budget and was the lone dissenter when the cuts were approved.

The council majority gambled that voters would see the obvious need for the engine. "I cannot believe that the voters of San Anselmo will vote against a fire engine. If it (the ballot measure) fails, bailing out is going to be very serious for us," Mayor James F. Reed said.

Although councilmen were less sure voters would approve an added tax for street work at least one councilman felt it was a good idea to put it to a public vote.

"This could be the best thing that ever happened to San Anselmo," Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson said. "If the people of San Anselmo really want their streets fixed, this is the time to present it to them."

Hub Council Raises Business License Tax

The San Anselmo business license tax rate was increased last night from 30 cents to 50 cents per $1,000 gross receipts by the city council.

Although it rejected a proposal of 40 cents before settling on 30 cents in 1969, the council gave in to budget pressures last night.

City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel predicted about $3,200 would be added to the 1969-70 total of $25,005 by the increase. That would mean an average increase of about $10 per business, Kaeppel said.

The increase passed over the objections of Councilmen Lewis W. Stewart and Woodrow V. Capurro and two businessmen, A.O.L. Casper and Abe Froman.

Casper said, "I think we are a bunch of captives. We can't run away because our investment is here."

He joined Froman in cautioning that federal, state and county governments are also increasing their bites and Froman said the tax increase would threaten small businesses.

Stewart felt the money might better be spent improving the appearance of stores to increase sales tax revenues and Capurro said the generated revenue would not save the city from its financial woes.

However, Mayor James F. Reed pointed out, "We've increased almost everything we can find to get us through these inflationary times."

The minimum tax stands at $15 and the maximum is $350 per year.

Help Called To Halt Looting

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh police called in reinforcements Monday after two nights of rock-throwing and looting which they blamed on 90-degree temperatures.

Aid came from Concord, Antioch, Walnut Creek, the California Highway Patrol and the Contra Costa county sheriff's office under the Bay Area Mutual Aid Pact.

There were three arrests during the Saturday and Sunday night looting.

Juvenile Theft Suspects Booked

A San Jose boy and a San Francisco girl were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall by sheriff's deputies yesterday on suspicion of auto theft, possession of stolen credit cards and other charges.

Deputies were called to Jack's 66 service station on Highway 101 north of Novato, where they said they found Michael C. Santander, 17, attempting to pay for tire repairs with a stolen credit card. The car driven by Santander and containing Terryl Annette Hendershott, 17, was found to have been stolen in San Francisco, and deputies said both the boy and girl possessed stolen wallets and credit cards from San Francisco.

The couple told deputies they had been vacationing on the Russian River.

Burglary At School

Two projectors and a record player, value unknown, were stolen over the weekend from Hidden Valley School in Sleepy Hollow, custodian Gordon C. Sims reported to sheriff's deputies. There was no sign of forced entry, deputies said.

AMA Article Says Darvon Not Superior

CHICAGO (UPI) — Darvon, the most dispensed drug in the United States, is not superior to codeine or aspirin as a pain killer, according to an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Darvon, known technically as Propoxyphene Hydrochloride, was evaluated on the basis of 243 articles in a study by pharmacist Russell R. Miller, Dr. Alfred Feingold and James Paxinos.

They concluded propoxyphene "is no more effective than aspirin or codeine and may even be inferior to these analgesics. . .

"Our review prompts us to recommend aspirin as the mild analgesic of choice. When aspirin does not provide adequate analgesia, it is unlikely that propoxyphene will do so."

The review concluded that propoxyphene, unlike some narcotics used in analgesia, has a "low potential for physical dependence" or addiction.

However, the authors said, the low addiction potential of the drug has not prevented its abuse.

They cite the cases of two narcotics addicts who substituted propoxyphene when opiates were not available and a third patient who consumed 14 Darvon capsules daily for five months before being hospitalized with confusion and grand mal seizures.

The authors suggested physicians "keep several things in mind" when prescribing analgesics.

First, they said, mild pain may respond to any treatment, including no action at all. Second, "the fact that a drug is sold only by prescription in no way proves its efficacy and potency. And third, "advertising . . . can never present complete information about a drug."

Senate Decision Near On Expanding ABM

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said today it was "wrong and unfair" for the Defense Department to minimize American nuclear power while stressing Soviet strength in the Senate battle over expanding the Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system.

Cooper is co-sponsor, along with Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., of an amendment that would limit Safeguard to two presently-authorized sites at Grand Fork, N.D., and Malstrom AFB, Mont.

The administration wants authority to place Safeguard at Whiteman AFB, Mo., and Warren AFB, Wyo.

Cooper made his charge against the Defense Department in a floor speech prepared for the final full day of debate on the antiexpansion amendment.

The Senate has scheduled a vote on the amendment for 3:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

The probable outcome of the vote was still too close to predict, with both sides claiming headway. Some Senators in GOP Leader Hugh Scott's camp were talking about rounding up 50 votes against the amendment, enough for a clear victory for the administration.

The amendment would cut $322.2 million out of the $19.2 billion bill for military hardware for the business year ending next June 30. Left intact would be about $1 billion for continued work on the two original ABM sites.

Cooper said he and Hart did not minimize present Soviet nuclear strength or the threat that would be posed to the United States if the Russians continued to deploy their SS9 missiles.

"But I believe, and I think it wrong and unfair to our people, that the representatives of the Department of Defense have minimized the awesome power of our present nuclear deterrent, and the more powerful nuclear weapons the U.S. is capable of producing, and in fact, is producing.

"While speaking continually of the development of Soviet offensive weapons, little notice is given to the programs in which the U.S. is engaged, not alone defensive, to protect our deterrent, but programs to strengthen our offensive nuclear weapons," Cooper said.

FAIRFAX

tonight's agenda in an attack of the elected chairman of our planning commission whose only mistake was to campaign for Adelaide Wilson (former councilman) against Souza and Nelder."

O'Connell, who said "I do not wrap Nelder in the same bag with Souza on most of my statements," listed voting records of the present council.

In 20 split votes, he said, Nelder and Souza have voted together 19 out of 20 times.

O'Connell charged that "Souza and his voting partner" have tried to cut the salary of City Atty. Wallace Myers because of Myers's interpretation of the law regarding election recounts.

In the April election, Souza trailed Albert E. Gately by three votes. Souza called for a recount, which subsequently proved him a winner, but Myers had ruled that until a recount showed otherwise, Gately had been elected and was entitled to Souza's council seat.

O'Connell said the attempts to hire a full-time Administrator and to cut Myers's salary "were designed and calculated to insult these dedicated officials so that in their hurt they would resign."

He also said that "on at least two occasions, Souza's voting partner has chided the police chief (James R. Orr) as though to test the length of his temper fuse — possibly into saying, 'I quit.' "

O'Connell concluded what he called his "prepared tirade" by saying Fairfax taxpayers were being shortchanged by the inaction of the council. He urged residents to pressure the council.

"Either we work together for the city and its taxpayers or replace any or all of us," he said.

When cheers, whistles and applause from the audience which jammed the Fairfax Women's Club died down, Souza told the audience and the council, "I assure you I could easily rebut every one of the statements."

Souza called it another unfortunate step in the history of Fairfax "where personalities are more important than issues," but said he was not going to respond to O'Connell's statement because "I respect him too much."

Nelder observed that "I could say he was being a bum loser" because he didn't get his way on the administrator vote.

"He wouldn't have read that speech if we had reconsidered the (full-time administrator) vote — evaluate that," Nelder said, adding that his vote was his own and "I can vote as I see fit."

Livramento, which is separated from the Uruguayan city of Rivera by only one street.

Anonymous telephone calls to Montevideo newspapers early today said the body of Dias Gomide could be found in the suburb of Malvin. Police checked out the address given and said the reports were groundless.

Mitrione, Fly and Dias Gomide were kidnaped over the past 10 days.

Pacheco Areco gave the searchers a free hand to make arrests and raid suspected hideouts without filing charges or obtaining search warrants.

Congress voted 79-30 Monday to give the president permission to suspend most constitutional rights in the struggle against the Tupamaros guerrilas because of "the extraordinary case of treason or conspiracy against the fatherland."

It gave Pacheco Areco's government the power to search homes without warrants, seize property of prisoners, ignore habeas corpus appeals, use secret instead of public accusations, open mail, limit freedom to enter and leave the country, prohibit meetings and curtail freedom of speech and press.

The congressional vote limited the special presidential powers to a duration of 20 days.

Hayakawa Challenges Motives Of Radicals

TOKYO (UPI)—Educator S.I. Hayakawa says student radicals escalate their demands beacuse they find too many people agreeing with them and they want to remain an elite minority.

Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, was answering a question Monday raised by a Japanese educator following Hayakawa's address to the Japan-America Society.

Nerve Gas Trains On Run To Sea

By U.P. International

Two military trains carrying deadly nerve gas rockets cleared their last large city today and started their run toward the sea, where the gas will be dumped in the ocean depths.

A 24-car train from the Richmond, Ky., arsenal rolled down through the Appalacia cool country during the night and made its way through Spartanburg, S.C. — the largest city along its route — about 9 a.m.

At the same hour a 46-car train from the Anniston, Ala., Army Depot left Athens, Ga., after a two-hour stop to take on added fuel and water.

The two trains pick up the same track at Clinton, S.C. and head almost eastward in their run for the Sunny Point military terminal near Wilmington, N.C., where the gas will be loaded aboard an old ship hull for disposal in the Atlantic.

The Anniston train looped far to the south to avoid passing through Atlanta, and the Richmond train also detoured around the big population centers of Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and Charlotte, N.C. Charlotte is the largest city in the Carolinas.

Crowds turned out all along the routes of the two trains, apparently satisfied by the Army's assurances that the chances of an accident are "nil."

Witness Tells Of Being 'High'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—State star witness George Sams Jr. testified today at the Black Panther trial of Lonnie McLucas that he was high on marijuana when he gave the order to kill alleged police informer Alex Rackley.

"I was high when I gave the order to kill him," Sams, 24, told the Superior Court jury of nine whites and three blacks in the trial of the first of eight Panthers accused in the slaying last year.

Sams said that during an interrogation of Rackley, a New York City Panther who allegedly informed on the New York Panther 21, "I guess I smoked a joint every four to five hours or so." This preceded the killing.

'Minister' Loses Court Appeal

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—U.S. District Judge Philip C. Wilkins Monday rejected an appeal by Kirby J. Hensley, 57, the mail-order minister.

Wilkins refused to dissolve a restraining order issued in San Joaquin County to keep Hensley from giving honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees in exchange for a $20 offering.

Peter Stromer, attorney for the self-proclaimed minister, said Hensley would begin a one-year jail term in Santa Clara County Wednesday unless the U.S. Supreme Court grants a stay of execution.

In San Jose, Hensley was convicted of violating a state law prohibiting issuance of unaccredited degrees.

Pot Suspicions Book Two Teens

Sheriff's deputies and drug abuse bureau agents booked two Southern Marin teen-agers into county jail yesterday on suspicion of possession of marijuana, transporting marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A car containing Mitchell Sheridan Jadot, 18, of 204 Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley, and Fred Stanton Dupuis, 18, of 17 West Shore Road, Belvedere, was stopped by sheriff's patrol cars after aid was asked by drug abuse agents in following the auto on Highway 101.

The two teen-agers were booked and released on their own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Cal-Vet Bonds Worth $100 Million Sold

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest today sold $100 million in bonds to finance Cal-Vet farm and home loans and to pay for new junior college and state building construction.

It was the second sale of state bonds since voters in June approved a seven per cent interest ceiling and signaled a break in the backlog of Cal-Vet loan applications seeking approval.

Governors Postpone Tax-Sharing Decision

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (UPI)—The nation's governors today delayed action on a plan to pressure Congress and the Nixon administration to share federal income taxes with the states.

The National Governors Conference voted to refer to a committee their plan for more federal revenue sharing. The committee was instructed to bring the issue back to Wednesday's final business session.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois asked the conference to adopt a plan calling for state legislatures to approve a constitutional amendment requiring that states share in federal income taxes.

Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi offered a substitute plan asking the governors' executive committee to try to persuade Congress to act on revenue sharing. He said a constitutional amendment should be sought only as a last resort.

The governors then voted to delay action.

Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington said Nixon and Congress should give the program "a higher priority."

However, many governors attending the conference thought the idea of a program where the federal government would share its income tax funds with the states with no strings attached was fruitless because of a trade negotiated between a governors' committee and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, met with the committee in February and gave it a choice of whether it wanted action on revenue sharing or the Nixon welfare package. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said the welfare proposals should have a higher priority.

Nixon has endorsed a revenue sharing plan and has submitted a formula for such a program to Congress. Mills' committee, which approved the welfare package, has never acted on the revenue sharing plan.

Ellington said public and congressional pressure was building for action on revenue sharing, and he prodded the administration to do more.

"I am firmly convinced that the battle over revenue sharing will be an historic crossroads in whether or not a balance of government is to be maintained in our federal system," Ellington said. "And I must add I think the national administration must prove they are serious about getting revenue sharing and give it a higher priority."

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois wanted to amend Ellington's report to call for a constitutional amendment, initiated by the state legislatuers, to require revenue sharing. All amendments added to the constitution have been initiated by Congress, not the state legislatures.

Security Force Voted For BART

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate today gave final legislative approval to a bill creating a security force for the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit system.

The measure by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan on a 22-1 vote concurring in amendments written by the Assembly.

The security officers would have statewide jurisdiction to investigate crimes allegedly committed in the BART district composed of San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

the deaths of Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three of his abductors.

The supervisors asked for police, investigative and autopsy reports concerning the shooting to be furnished to Maloney and County Administrator Alan Bruce for a report on the chronology of events.

The "Soledad Brothers" trial concerns three Negro convicts who are charged with killing a white guard at racially troubled Soledad Prison. They are George L. Jackson, 28, brother of the youth slain in the Marin escape attempt; Fleeta Drumgo, 25, and John Chutchette, 27. The victim was John V. Mills, 26.

Venue was changed to San Francisco by Monterey County's Judge Anthony Brazil after defense attorneys argued they could not get a fair trial there.

As they took Judge Haley and six others hostage, the abductors demanded the release of the "Soledad Brothers," Although Park later doubted their assertions that they were revolutionaries, as they claimed.

Park said they were vicious instead.

Judge Allen said in San Francisco that if he was not successful in getting the trial moved, he would make sure that there was strict security during the courtroom action. He said he would consult the California Judicial Council and the state Supreme Court's presiding jurist.

Senate Votes Stiff Alcohol Abuse Battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spurred to action by a senator whose own life was once dominated by whisky, the Senate has approved the most energetic attack on alcoholism since it tried to cure the problem through Prohibition in 1919.

Despite Monday's unanimous approval of a measure cosponsored by 52 senators, the propects for action in the House appeared slight. The House is vacation bound and has scheduled no hearings on the bill.

The bill was guided through the Senate by freshman Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, who was an alcoholic before serving three terms as governor of Iowa, where he campaigned for effective treatment programs.

He carried his deep concern for "the nation's No. 1 health problem" with him to the Senate in 1969 and immediately campaigned for federal action against alcoholism. He found the government spent $1.4 billion on child health problems last year but only $39 million to combat alcoholism.

In philosophy, his bill rates alcoholism as a disease and not a crime. It provides for spending as much as $395 million during the next three years on research and on local treatment centers to which judges could send people arrested for drunkeness.

Juveniles Are Cited In Novato Vandalism

Novato police yesterday issued several juvenile citations and requested arrest warrants for two 18-year-olds after a group of youths vandalized the San Marin Recreation Club Sunday.

Police responding to a burglar alarm at 2:35 a.m. Sunday said they stopped Steven Russell Baldocchi, 15, of 225 San Felipe Way, running from the club and discovered several acts of vandalism and theft.

Vandals had broken open a door with pick-axes, sprayed a fire extinguisher around the office, sprayed paint on walls and thrown a fire extinguisher, garbage can and furniture into the swimming pool, police said. Total damage was estimated at $2,000.

Baldocchi was cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglary, malicious mischief and resisting arrest, and four other teen-agers were cited today and yesterday, police reported.

Kirk Dauerheim, 15, of 33 Manzano Court, was cited on suspicion of burglary and malicious mischief; and two Novato 17-year-olds were cited on suspicion of trespass and malicious mischief.

Arrest warrants for burglary and malicious mischief were requested on Robert Lee Young, 18, of 1870 Virginia Avenue, Novato, and Mark David Blodget, 18, of 257 Emerystone Terrace, Novato, police reported.

One-half gallon of wine, candy and hot dogs and several items of clothing, valued at $25, were stolen in the incident, police reported.

Petaluma School Gets Paint Job By Vandals

The paint also was reportedly tossed across the windshield of a car owned by Chester S. Brown, 618 Ely Boulevard South, near the school.

Cave Collapses, Kills Two Boys

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Two young boys were killed Monday when a cave on a bluff above a beach area they were exploring collapsed.

Authorities said the boys, Dan Maciejewski and Robert O'Brien, 7-year-old half brothers, were climbing a bluff when they found the cave, which was about 15 feet deep. After they entered the cave, it collapsed. One boy was buried up to his neck and the other was completely covered.

Both boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Brien, were pronounced dead on arrival at Long Beach Community Hospital despite efforts of a lifeguard and two other men who dug them out and gave them mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Plans Board Approves Mortuary

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night approved, 4 to 1, a conditional use permit for operation of a mortuary at 601 Tamalpais Drive.

Commissioner Jack Hauser and several members of the audience disagreed with the majority, claiming funeral processions would snarl traffic, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher reported.

The permit, however, was issued on the condition the town council approve an amendment to the zoning ordinance to allow operation of mortuaries in retail shopping zones. Mortuaries are now allowed only in C-4 commercial service zones.

The mortuary is sought by Nicholas P. Daphne of San Francisco.

The matter should come before the council in mid-September, Usher said.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission also:

THEATER SIGN — Denied unanimously an application from QRS Sign Co. of Millbrae for a six-foot increase in the height of the sign at Cinema 1 Theater, 41 Tamal Vista Boulevard.

CO-OP SIGN — Denied unanimously a request for sign relocation by the Co-op Market. The market requested that its Highway 101 sign be moved to a location on Tamalpais Drive.

PORCH — Denied, 4 to 1, Commissioner James W. McClintock dissenting, a request from Howard Wise of 55 Prince Royal Passage for approval of porch enclosure and small deck addition for his residence.

POWER LINE — Denied a request from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. that an extension be granted to a previously approved use permit for power lines across the W. J. Heerdt property. The commission recommended the company reapply for a new use permit.

ENGLISH PUB — Heard plans by Colin Beatty of San Rafael on conversion of a mattress shop at 305 Montecito Drive into an English pub. The council said it would favor such action if Beatty can solve potential parking and traffic flow problems.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Bolinas-Stinson Board Signs Two Teachers

Two teachers were hired for the coming school year last night by trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District, Supt. Lester M. Horning reported.

Robert Moyer, 25, will teach seventh and eighth grades, Horning said. A graduate of the University of Kentucky, he received his teaching credential from Sacramento State College and has taught in the St. Helena Unified School District in Napa County.

The second teacher, Curtis Spurlin, 23, has recently completed student teaching in San Pablo and Richmond schools, according to the superintendent. Spurlin, who holds a bachelor's degree in English and a teaching credential from the University of California at Berkeley, will teach primary grades.

Both men were chosen from 75 applicants, Horning said, adding the district teaching staff assisted in the selections.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board also:

STINSON SALE — Revised the price of the Stinson Beach School site, being offered for public sale, from $20,000 to $12,000. Horning said the change was made because original appraisals erroneously listed the .9 acre site as 1.6 acres.

BOOKKEEPER — Voted to rehire Beverly Alberigi, the district's bookkeeper, at a yearly salary of $1,800.

RESIGNATION — Accepted, with regret, the resignation of custodian Frank Vitelli, who is leaving the district after eight years to go into business for himself.

NEW CUSTODIAN — Agreed to hire Stephen D'Accardo, a College of Marin student, as a part time custodian at $2.90 an hour.

RECLASSIFICATION — Named custodian Ben Meyer to a new position — head custodian and maintenance man — and increased his salary from $596 to $623 a month.

TRANSFER — Approved an interdistrict transfer to the Mill Valley School District for Kenneth and Justin Justice, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Justice.

BIDS — Authorized the superintendent and district architect to call for informal bids for moving a portable classroom from the Stinson Beach site to Bolinas School.

Inmates Free Five Guards, Win Promise

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than 200 inmates of the city prison, denouncing conditions at the jail and demanding improvements, held five guards hostage during an eight-hour seizure of a ninth floor cell block Monday in attempts to publicize their complaints.

The guards, attacked by at least five prisoners each while the 221 inmates of the ninth floor were eating breakfast at 6:30 a.m., were released unharmed at 2:10 p.m. following a meeting with Corrections Commissioner George F. McGrath, an aide to Mayor John V. Lindsay, three newsmen, prison officials and an attorney.

McGrath was forced to promise in writing that no reprisals would be taken against the prisoners for their action.

CALLED THE TOMBS

The inmates of the 15-story building known as the Tombs, a detention house for men awaiting trial, presented a list of 10 grievances which included charges of brutality by corrections officers, racism, bad food, overcrowding and unduely long detention prior to trials.

McGrath said he condemned the violence but agreed with the prisoners' demands. "I've been saying some of those same things myself for months," he said.

The prison, connected by a walkway to the criminal courts building, was built 30 years ago and designed for 932 men but currently houses 1,992. Some inmates are forced to sleep two or three to a cell designed for one man.

KICKS OUT PANES

During the seizure, two square, thick panes of bullet proof glass were kicked out of the cell block. One narrowly missed a couple when it smashed on the street below.

Notes were tossed to the street between the pages of paperback books, promising no harm to the overpowered guards, who were secured in three small cells, "if we aren't attacked."

Police made no attempt to intervene.

One prisoner waved his arm out the tiny square window and flashed the peace signal. "We have not hurt anyone and we will not hurt anyone," another prisoner shouted below.

The guards later said they were not ill treated by the prisoners.

"They gave us coffee and cigarettes," said guard Vernon Allick. "I don't smoke, but you better believe I smoked those cigarettes."

Ridge Condominium Plan Stalemates Planning Panel

Mill Valley Planning Commission reached a stalemate last night on an oft-revised plan for mainly condominium units on Warner Ridge.

Mill Valley architect William E. Cullen, who has been appearing before the commission and city council over a period of months, settled for a two-week continuance.

Cullen presented a new plan for 64 dwelling units on a 32-acre site at the southeastern sector of the ridge, designed to meet previous objections about access.

There were petitions carrying about 160 signatures opposing the project, and commissioners were unable to reach a conclusion on the proposal.

Commissioner Ivan S. Poutiatine made a motion that the commission approve the plan on condition that acceptable access is provided. There was no second.

Later Commissioner Louis E. Bartolini made a motion that the plan be denied, but withdrew it before a vote was taken when Cullen agreed to a continuance.

Commissioner Edward Farrell announced that he wasn't going to vote on any plans in the North Ridge area until the city had a plan for the area.

"We don't have a detailed plan for conservation and development of the North Ridge," Farrell declared. The commission doesn't have the necessary "tools" to give Cullen answers or guidelines, and this "is a city shame," he said.

Last night's long discussion centered around access to the acreage. Cullen's new plan provided for access both from Upland and Elinor avenues, whereas his earlier plan had access only from Upland.

City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said Upland would have to be improved to a two-lane roadway before it would be adequate, and this brought up questions of who would pay for the improvements and how much they would cost.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon reported that Fire Chief Joseph E. Regalia said the roads in the proposed developed area weren't adequate for the large fire equipment necessary for the proposed buildings.

Cullen has proposed 54 condominium units, two stories high, and 10 single family homes, and is seeking a density of two units per acre, compared with the city's limit of 1.5 units.

Bragdon felt it was the obligation of the city to improve local streets and Bala said as assessment district could be formed.

Poutiatine contended that if there were no planned development until the city fixed the streets and Bala said an assess- piecemeal development of the hillside.

Cullen explained his new plan would require more expensive units than originally planned, with condominium units at $30,000 to $35,000 rather than $20,000 to $25,000.

Cullen said there would be public access through the area and walking trails, but there was concern about a grassy area long used by residents.

Douglas P. Ferguson of 76 Eldridge Avenue said there was a question that public use through the years has established "public domain."

Cullen contended that if he constructed 48 single family homes on the property he would cover 80 per cent of the land, but under his condominium plan he would cover only 15 per cent of the land.

One resident, who said she has walked "every inch" of the Warner Ridge area, said it was a beautiful area and the proposed condominiums would "stick out in a large clump" and weren't the answer to development on the ridge.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

Government Now Paying Medical Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Medicare and Medicaid, the two government health care programs, are paying 72 per cent of the health bill for the nation's aged.

This is a dramatic shift from only four years ago when nearly 70 per cent of health expenses for the elderly were privately paid. The Social Security Administration released the new figures today.

Put another way, last year's average medical bill for a person 65 and older was $692, and the government paid all but $162 of it. Most of the government money went for hospital and doctor bills.

"Medicare was responsible for the sizable change, assuming a significant portion of the expenditures formerly made by the private sector," social security researcher Barbara S. Cooper said in a report on U.S. health care spending from 1966 to 1969.

The federal-state Medicaid program provides medical care for the needy, including the aged. Medicare provides automatic hospital insurance for the aged and optional doctor bill coverage. Both programs are financed from taxes.

These two public programs shelled out $9.7 billion for care of the elderly last year, Mrs. Cooper said. Health care spending for the aged totalled $13.5 billion, with private sources providing the other $3.8 billion.

San Francisco Board Delays Tax Changes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Supervisors delayed action on tax change measures Monday, waiting to see what happens in Sacramento to Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax program.

Action was delayed on proposals for off street parking and utility taxes and on the doubling of a business receipts tax.

Mill Valley Planners Approve Land Swap

Mill Valley planning and parks and recreation commissioners last night recommended a land swap with a private developer to gain park area along Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

During a two-hour public hearing, the switch was viewed as a step toward achieving the start of a linear park along the creek as proposed in the city's 701 plan.

As proposed, the city would swap 13,000 square feet at the northeast end of Sycamore Park for 41,200 square feet along the creek, thereby creating a newly shaped Sycamore Park.

The developer, Trans-Marin Properties Inc., presented a revised plan taking less of the exising Sycamore Park area than an originally proposed swap, which was opposed by neighbors.

In return for the park land, the developer proposes to give the city a stretch of land along both sides of the creek, south of La Goma Street and north of Miller Avenue, which would tie in with the existing park.

Planning commissioners recommended the exchange by a 5-0 vote, with Richard J. Hiatt absent and Ivan S. Poutiatine abstaining because he is associated with the planning firm which represented Trans-Marin Properties Inc.

Parks and recreation commissioners voted 5-1 on the recommendation, Mrs. Dan Mahl dissenting. Commissioners George M. Cagwin and Dr. Thomas Knez were absent.

Trans-Marin Properties intends to construct an apartment development on the Sycamore Park land it would acquire in the swap, and planning commissioners approved a zone change from commercial to multiple family that would permit up to 85 units there.

Peter Haywood, owner of most of the land involved, claimed the land swap could be accomplished legally without calling for a referendum.

John M. Campbell of Agora Architects of San Francisco, representing Trans-Marin Properties, said the city would receive a finished park.

It would be "the key to the achievement of a continuous link through city park from La Goma Street to Camino Alto to the marina-marshlands beyond," he said.

The proposed new park would provide for a variety of uses not now possible, including a water-related children's play area and a place to walk or sit by water.

"Further, the proposed park would be a demonstration project, at no cost to Mill Valley, showing that flood control can be achieved without concrete," Campbell said.

As to complaints that a creek park would be hazardous, he said it would be less dangerous than the present untended ditch in the area, and the water depth wouldn't exceed 18 inches.

Some residents who opposed the original swap conceded the new plan was more acceptable, but there were several calls for more land along the north side of the creek.

Commissioners by resolution endorsed the plan and recommended the city start proceedings to exchange the land.

Reptile Store Loses 80 Snakes To Thief

Police estimated Wade Farrel's loss at between $2,000 and $5,000.

House Votes Non-Voting D.C. Member

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted 300 to 57 Monday to give the District of Columbia a non-voting delegate in the House and to establish a 12-member commission to seek ways to improve efficiency in the District government.

The House also passed 338 to 23 a bill that would give the District non-voting delegates in both House and Senate, but the action was considered meaningless since it had no chance of Senate acceptance.

Southern members of the House District Committee sponsored the proposal for two delegates in what other members charged was a maneuver to keep the District from gaining a non-voting House delegate.

After the southern-sponsored bill passed, the Southerners led an unsuccessful effort to amend the other bill by deleting the provision for a non-voting House delegate. The House rejected the proposed amendment by 31 to 104 votes. Both House-passed bills now go to the Senate.

The note also had some advice for the car's owner: "The tone of your radio isn't working very well."

Pilot Effort, Prayer Told By Survivor

CUZCO, Peru (UPI) — The lone survivor of a Peruvian airliner crash that killed 49 American teen-age students and 52 other persons, said the pilot fought until the last instant to try to save the plane, then said, "May God, have pity on us all!"

Authorities today raised the toll of Peru's worst air disaster to 101 when they discovered that two persons on the ground were struck and killed by the falling airliner.

Student pilot Juan Loo, the only survivor of the 100 persons aboard the four-engine Lockheed Electra propjet, was quoted by a Peruvian newspaper as saying pilot Carlos Caligari "struggled until the last minute to save the ship from the tragedy."

"He did all humanly possible," Loo said. "But the plane lost altitude because of the fire consuming one of the motors."

Loo said Calgari's last words were, "May God, have pity on us all!"

Loo was found in a treetop thrown clear of the wreckage.

Parkerson Gets Confidence Vote

A request last night that the Fairfax City Council consider removing chairman E. Ross Parkerson from the planning commission resulted in a vote of confidence for Parkerson. (See another Fairfax City Council story, page 1).

The request to remove Parkerson, a member of the county planning department staff, was made by Joseph E. Martinez, a member of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission.

In a letter to the council, Martinez charged that Parkerson was guiding passage of a proposed zoning map for Fairfax which had been drawn up by the county planning staff.

He said the map will result in approximately 30 per cent of Fairfax property owners having their property backzoned without any provision for equitable compensation to the property owners.

"I find intolerable the undue influence the Marin County Planning Commission is exerting in Fairfax," he said, "and my conscience dictates that I question the integrity of our mayor and those council members who have supported the county planning department's representative on our Fairfax Planning Commission and not questioned this blatant conflict of interest."

After Martinez's letter was read, a letter from Bruce and Gloria Duncan of 340 Olema Road was read, supporting Parkerson and saying that Martinez's letter "will apparently serve as the basis for an attempt by councilman (Robert R.) Souza" to remove Parkerson from the city commission."

When the Duncan's letter was read, Martinez shouted from the audience that "it's a lie" that others were connected with his request.

"Mr. Nelder and Souza had nothing to do with it," he said.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell turned on Martinez's charge that the integrity of some councilmen was at stake.

O'Connell said that if Martinez had information which would question the integrity of any councilman, he'd like to hear it.

"I know of meetings you've had on the sly," Martinez said to O'Connell but he did not elaborate.

O'Connell said he thought Parkerson was qualified for the commission, but that he too did not like the county-produced zoning map.

But, he pointed out, the city planning commission had been working on the map for a year and was making modifications of it.

Mayor Egger said that no one had produced facts indicating a conflict of interest and City Atty. Wallace Myers said there was "no legal reason why Mr. Parkerson can't serve" on the commission.

O'Connell moved a vote of confidence for Parkerson and Councilman Cornelis van Vliet seconded the motion. Councilman Lee Nelder said he planned to obstain because he was not on the council when Parkerson was appointed.

As the council began to vote, Elizabeth Trail of 201 Cascade Drive shouted angrily, "Why don't you let the people judge — we pay the taxes."

She asked the council, "What gives you people the right?"

Members of the audience then shouted to her, "You elected them."

"I elected Mr. Nelder," she retorted to the laughter of members of the crowd.

"Let the people decide," she repeated, "I'm going to be a Communist if you don't."

She urged Egger to "clean this town up" and a remark by her about "damn hippies" brought a cry of "Right on!" from some young members of the audience.

She also said to Egger, "I can't even leave my home without it being robbed and you allow this crap to run around town."

Fee Debate Set On Paradise Park

The possibility of charging entrance fees at Paradise Park in Tiburon will be discussed again by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission tomorrow.

The commission meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in the planning commission chambers of the Civic Center administration building.

Last month, the commission asked its staff to investigate various methods of collecting fees. Use of a ticket machine, a pass for county residents, and a user permit in the form of a county sticker were among the possibilities mentioned.

Commissioners will also discuss their role in planning of the county fairground area at the civic center.

Two Novato teen-agers were hospitalized and one was injured yesterday when a car in which they were riding struck a utility pole at 9:40 p.m. on Diablo Avenue west of Center Road, Novato police reported.

Earl Richard Titman, 15, of 1582 South Novato Boulevard, was reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital with multiple bruises, and Randy Dean McKie, 15, of 717 Del Mar Avenue, was reported in good condition with scalp cuts at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Rafael.

Albert Daniel Titman, 14, of 1582 South Novato Boulevard, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a possible broken nose.

Driver of the car, Richard Thomas Reis, 16, of 714 Del Mar Avenue, was not reported injured.

Voter Decision On Council Pay Nipped

The Fairfax City Council last night defeated a resolution which would have made official the council's decision of July 27 to let voters decide how much councilmen should be paid.

The resolution to call a special election in conjunction with the November elections was defeated, 3-2, with Mayor Frank J. Egger and Councilmen Lee Nelder and Robert R. Souza forming the majority.

The council voted July 27 to let voters decide whether councilmen's salary of $150 a month should be cut to $25 a meeting, with a maximum of $75 a month.

Egger alone voted against that motion, saying he didn't think councilmen should have salaries, and the money saved should be used to hire a full-time administrator.

In a budget session last Tuesday, Egger moved that the council voluntarily drop salaries completely. He said the move would save the city $500 needed to finance the special election. His motion was defeated 4-1.

Last night, in what was expected to be a routine action, City Atty. Wallace Myers presented the resolution calling for the speical election.

Myers pointed out that even if voters decided in November to cut council salaries, the cuts would not go into effect until a new council was elected.

When a vote on the resolution was called, Egger said he would vote against it because, as he had said before, it did not offer voters a choice on whether salaries should be paid at all, merely how much should be paid.

Souza said he would vote against it because of Meyer's statement that it would not take effect immediately.

Nelder voted against it without comment, and the city council was right back where it started several weeks ago.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

BUILDING — Received a report from Fire Chief Charles F. Thornton that the estimated cost of a new public safety building was $403,000. The council sent the report to the planning commission for further study.

TREES — Granted a request from Philip Soldavini of 117 Bothin Road to remove a tree on his property.

TRAFFIC — Appointed a committee to study a request for stop lights at Willow Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

ORDINANCE — Directed Myers to prepare an ordinance on the destruction of trees.

TRAILS — Approved an ordinance prohibiting obstruction of certain roads and prohibiting traffic on fire trails. Egger voted against the motion because the traffic prohibition includes hiking trails.

SALES — Introduced an ordinance requiring real estate reports in conjunction with the sale of residential property and directed Myers to investigate the possibility of including commercial and undeveloped property in the ordinance.

HITCHHIKING — Introduced an ordinance prohibiting hitchhiking and the picking up or dropping off of passengers in places where the actions would impede the flow of traffic. Egger voted against the motion.

MEETING — Adjourned to a budget session at 8 p.m. tomorrow. If there is time, the council will finish last night's agenda.

Sausalito Duplex Fire Loss Hits $30,000

Flames swept through the second story of a Sausalito duplex today, causing damage estimated at $30,000 to the building and its contents.

The blaze began about 3:31 a.m. in the living room of the Bruce Moorefield home, 248 Cazneau Avenue, according to firemen, then spread quickly through the apartment.

Moorefield, awakened by the fire, escaped onto a sun deck over a carport. Fifteen regular firemen and six volunteers turned out to fight the flames, which were shooting out of the apartment's windows by the time they arrived.

The first-floor apartment of Janice Chantos suffered water damage, according to firemen, who said cause of the blaze was under investigation.

Limited Development Of Creek On Agenda

Marin General Hospital Officials Defend Drug Patient Treatment

Six Marin General Hospital officials, in a letter to Rev. Norman E. Leach of San Anselmo, have claimed the hospital's treatment of a youth suffering from a drug overdose was "sound and appropriate."

The letter, dated Aug. 5, was in response to a letter from Rev. Leach charging the hospital with inadequate service rendered July 14 to an 18-year-old transient.

"The reason the patient was not seen immediately by the emergency was in fact because he was attending another emergency patient at the time of your arrival," the hospital letter states. "One of our most skilled and an experienced emergency nurses assisted the patient to determine the nature of the problem and then kept the patient under close observation until the physician had completed treatment of the first patient.

"If the situation had demanded, the physician would have been requested to leave the other patient. The patient was not at any time in a state of shock nor was he convulsing," the letter continues.

The letter, was signed by Ray K. Bolinger, hospital administrator, Dr. Bradford Simmons, chief of staff, Dr. David David Cumminhgam, emergency physician; Dr. William Clark, president of the staff; Dr. George Dach-y-Rita, consultant to the Community Mental Health Center, and Francine Vieites, emergency department head nurse.

It came after County Administrator Alan Bruce requested that Dr. Donovan O. Coole, director of county medical services, begin an investigation.

Leach said earlier the youth came to his home last month asking for help he said he was given two spoonsful of cocaine and two spoonsful of speed by three other youths, who he said later sexually assulted him.

Leach said he rushed the youth to Marin General Hospital where he had to wait for 45 minutes before a doctor arrived.

The doctor then called in a consultant for the Community Mental Health Center. "Neither he nor the psychiatrist made any effort to follow up on the rape data," Leach charged.

The hospital said in its letter it had to be careful in prescribing antiodotes to overdose victims because the "drugs people think they are taking do not always correspond to what actually is taken.

"In view of the fact that drug overdoses are treated regularly in the emergency room, and that hospital statistic show that our staff has been most successful in dealing with this problem, your statement that no one seems to know what to do for drug overdoses at emergency' seems inappropriate," the letter continued.

The letter concluded that the hospital could not confirm that a sexual assault had occurred since the youth "stated he did not know what happened after he had been administered the drugs by the three boys."

Road Crash Kills Ex-Patrolman

SANTA PAULA (UPI) — A retired highway patrolman was killed and an elderly woman seriously injured in a traffic accident on the Santa Paula Freeway west of here Monday.

Authorities said the accident occurred when a car driven by Mrs. Hazel Park, 64, San Jose, rammed a motorcycle driven by retired patrolman John F. Gilmore, 63, then veered off the freeway, struck a car stopped on the roadside, and rolled down an embankment.

Gilmore was thrown 144 feet by the impact, which sent his motorcycle 317-feet down the highway. Mrs. Park suffered a broken leg.

Elmer Brown, driver of the parked vehicle, suffered facial cuts. His wife, Lola, 75, was hospitalized with severe internal injuries.

Women named to the eight-member board are Mrs. Jane Eggleston of Castro Valley, Calif., and Mrs. Vicki DeBenedetto of Albuquerque, N.M. Both are wives of unfrocked priests.

Phone, Telegraph Firms Get FCC Rule On Hiring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission has issued new rules that would make discriminatory hiring policies a factor in the granting of licenses and permits to common carriers.

The rules, to take effect Sept. 18, will require common carriers—such as telephone and telegraph services—with 16 or more employes to file a yearly employment report with the FCC no later than April 1 of each year.

In addition, the carrier must file a report of what it is doing to guarantee equal employment opportunity and must update it yearly if there is any change in it. The licensee also will be required to state if there have been complaints against it alleging discrimination.

The rules are designed to rule out discrimination on the basis of race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Bill To Free Draftees From Combat Readied

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation to exempt draftees from combat assignments after Jan. 1, unless they volunteer for such duty, has been introduced by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District.

Clausen cited as a precedent the 1940 Draft Act, which he noted initially restricted assignment of draftees to the Western Hemisphere.

The present draft system associated with sending draftees to Vietnam, he said, "is the single greatest contributor to unrest, distress and apprehension today, not only among students and young people, but also their families, loved ones and friends, as well."

The purpose of the draft in a declared war is clear, Clausen said. In peacetime, however, "use of the draft and draftees should and must be viewed in a new and different light," he declared.

Less than 500,000 of the nation's three million military personnel are draftees, he said, and fewer than one out of four draftees are in Vietnam.

San Anselman To Aid Tunney Bid

William Taylor of San Anselmo has been named a cochairman of the Marin campaign for Rep. John V. Tunney, D-38th District, Democratic nominee for U.S. Senate.

Taylor was cochairman in the June primary election of the campaign by the man Tunney defeated, Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-29th District.

Cochairman with Taylor in the Tunney campaign are Richard M. Adams of Belvedere and Toni Harley of Ross.

Tunney is challenging Republican incumbent George Murphy.

Mother-Slayer Of 3 Tots Given 5 Years To Life

TORRANCE (UPI) — A woman convicted of second degree murder for killing her three children has been sentenced to five years to life in prison.

Superior Court Judge Allen Miller Monday rejected a defense request to commit Mrs. Archia Mea Anders, 26, to a state mental institution.

Mrs. Anders had been arrested in connection with the stabbing death of a neighbor, Mrs. Madeline Nash, 32, and was free on bail when she shot her three children.

Authorities said she had written a letter saying she did not want the children to suffer for what she had done.

Mrs. Anders was convicted of manslaughter for the death of Mrs. Nash.

Nixon Signs Increase In Unemployment Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed today a bill extending unemployment benefits to another 4.4 million nonfarm workers. He said the act will help persons who lose their jobs in the transition from a wartime to a peace-time economy.

Nixon signed the bill in the Blue Room of the White House in a brief ceremony attended by members of the House Ways and Means and the Senate Finance Committee.

String Of Conditions On Lodge's Additions

A master plan for additions to the Tiburon Lodge was tentatively approved last night by the Tiburon City Council, but not until it had imposed a string of conditions.

The plan, which calls for the addition of 32 motel rooms, two meeting rooms, the construction of a Bank of America branch and office building, and an addition to the lounge, was approved on first reading by the council on a 4-0 vote. Councilman Albert H. Sennett was absent.

Planning Director Wayne E. Moody had recommended approval, providing that several conditions were met.

They included the improvement of beach road with a traffic island, establishment of a new access road, establishment of 48 parking spaces, installation of fire hydrants and mains and filing of drainage, grading and landscaping plans.

After council discussion, Mayor Denis T. Rice added two more stipulations — that the applicant, Fred G. Zelinsky, post a bond for drainage improvements if the council deems it necessary, and that he pave, landscape and light a vacant lot behind the property at 1651 Tiburon Boulevard if the council so determines.

"I think we can live with these conditions," said William Bremer, architect for the project, noting that they would cos Zelinsky about $10,000. But he objected to the requirement to dedicate a 60-foot strip of land for extension of Beach Road.

At the suggestion of Councilman Anne E. Ellinwood, however, the council retained the condition. "We always can go back later and knock the requirement out," she said, "But let's keep it in for now."

In a separate but related action, the council approved a precise plan for the addition of a manager's quarters to the existing lodge building.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

SIGN — Approved a sign for Biagio's Pizza, 15 Main Street.

FLAGS — Approved display of signal flags on Main Street on seven dates: the opening of yachting season, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Ayala Day, Labor Day, Christmas and one open date.

REZONING — Approved on first reading rezoning of 22.7 acres on Mount Tiburon from single family residential to planned residential to permit construction of 27 clustered homes.

Youth's Foot Broken In Cycle-Car Crash

Gary Calvi, 18, of Bodega, was reported in good condition today at Palm Drive Hospital, Sebastopol, with a broken right foot suffered when his motorcycle collided with a car at Highway 116 and Stony Point Road, north of Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said his vehicle collided with a car driven by Charles Leas, 38, of 10 Mabry Lane, San Rafael, at 9:50 p.m. yesterday.

John Wayne Spurs Elite GOP Backers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Republicans, with the help of movie star John Wayne and membership in an exclusive campaign club, are seeking lobbyist funds for GOP legislative candidates.

Wayne is chairman of the select "California Golden Circle" Club which admits members "by invitation only" at fees of $1,000, $3,000 and $5,000.

Keith Coplen, finance director of the Republican State Central Committee, said the club, organized in May, now has about 50 members.

Invitations for membership in the "Golden Circle" have been issued under Wayne's name to corporation leaders, movie stars, legislators and Sacramento lobbyists, said Coplen.

LETTERS BY WAYNE

"We will continue this solicitation which only is by personal invitation and letter by Mr. Wayne until after the (November) election," Coplen said in a telephone interview.

Funds raised through the Golden Circle are used to finance the California GOP's "Cal-Plan"—a program to elect Republican candidates to the 40-member State Senate and 80-member Assembly. Republicans now hold both Houses by slim majorities.

In a memo to Republican lawmakers, the central committee reported that it has "invited the legislative advocates (lobbyists) to also participate by honoring a Republican legislator of their choice with a $1,000 membership."

Only a select group of lobbyists was invited to back the membership of a legislator, he said.

Lobbyists may either join the club themselves or sponsor a GOP legislator.

'SELECT LIST'

Prospective members form a "select list," said Coplen. "It's a very carefully screened list. We don't just get names out of a phone book."

"This naturally is a program that has the endorsement of the governor," he added.

Membership fee funds are funneled through the Republican Party to the candidates.

Fotomat Clerk Robbed Of $120

A man wearing a bag over his head held up the Fotomat at 535 Second Street, San Rafael, of $120 at 8:15 p.m. yesterday, police said.

The 18-year-old clerk twice asked the armed robber if he was kidding, but the barefoot man said, "I have a knife. Give me the money," according to police.

A witness who saw the man don the bag with eye slits cut in it told police he was a white male with a short beard and about 20 years old.

Petaluma Budget Gets Approval; Levy Hiked

The Petaluma City Council last night adopted a budget of $3,330,151, for 1970-71 that includes police pay raises.

The budget includes increases of 8.75 per cent for patrolmen and sergeants. The offcers have demanded 12.5 per cent, but called off a planned walkout last week when a restraining order was issued.

The police and their attorney, James F. Kemp, are to appear in Sonoma County Superior Court on Monday to show cause why an injunction against the strike should not be issued.

The budget also includes a 8.75 per cent boost for firemen, although they had agreed to 6.25 per cent in June. Council policy sets fire department salaries to match that of the police.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said the budget also includes provisions for another patrolman and a police clerk-dispatcher. Police Chief Larry D. Higgins had requested five more patrolmen and three clerks.

Other new personnel approved were eight firefighters to man the new fire station, and an employee each for the water department and sewage plant.

Meyer said employee salaries jumped $164,587 over last year's budget.

In adopting the budget, the council set the total tax rate at $1.87 per $100 assessed valuation, up 37 cents, largely reflecting payments on bonds approved by voters in the past year.

The Petaluma City Council also:

APPOINTMENTS — Named five persons to three city commissions: recreation, music and parks commission, Richard A. Muzio of Wells Fargo Bank; water commission, William N. Wurzberg, administrative assistant in Petaluma schools; planning commission, Lyle Hood, architect; Lester J. Popp, International Association of Machinists, and Arthur Cerini, Petaluma Cooperative Creamery.

RESURFACING — Approved plans to resurface four major streets and coat other streets at a cost of $42,000.

INSURANCE — Heard a report on federal flood and mudslide insurance and will study how it might be used in Petaluma.

Rivas Murder Trial Resumes

The trial of Ronald Rivas, 21, accused of murdering his father, Fidel I. Rivas, in their Novato home on July 17, 1969, resumed today before Superior Judge Thomas F. Keating.

The prosecution's second witness, Mrs. Fidel Rivas, returned to the stand to continue testimony about the family's life. She has told the father's repeated violence and threats against her and the frightened reaction of the family's 13 children.

The Rivas trial was recessed Friday morning after the courtroom next door was taken over by gunmen in a kidnap try that led to the death of Superior Judge Harold J. Haley.

Reagan Notes Backing For Logging Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation imposing tough controls on logging in Marin, now awaiting signature into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan, is backed by "strong public sentiment," the governor was told yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The governor's position on the bill is uncertain because it is opposed by the state division of forestry.

Bagley, in a "Dear Ron" letter to the governor, said that existing regulations under the state Forest Practices Act "are simply inadequate to protect the watershed, the terrain, the aesthetics, and neighboring residential land from logging in suburban counties."

The bill, SB 507 by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, would allow Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to regulate logging far more strictly than existing state law allows. Marin officials pushed for the bill after they were frustrated last year in attempts to control logging in west Marin.

The Division of Forestry's State Forest Practices Board, which administers state logging laws, is dominated by the logging industry, according to its critics.

Bagley's letter to Reagan noted the assemblyman is the chief architect of the governor's tax revision package.

Liver Transplant Patient Gaining

DENVER (UPI)—A 28-year-old California woman who underwent a liver transplant at the University of Colorado Medical Center was reported in satisfactory condition today.

The unidentified woman underwent the operation Sunday. Hospital spokesmen declined to reveal the identity of the person whose liver was used for the transplant.

The woman became the 42nd person to undergo the operation since 1963 at the hospital where doctors have pioneered both kidney and liver transplants.

Five of the 42 persons to undergo the liver transplant are still living.

Escapee, Assault Suspect Grabbed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police Monday captured Judson Catlin, the alleged "Fu Manchu rapist," who escaped Sunday night from Napa State Hospital.

Officers said Catlin, 23, was picked up at a downtown bank where he was formerly employed as a guard.

Catlin was indicted by the Grand Jury last month on charges of raping three San Fancisco women who told police their attacker had a drooping mustache that looked "pasted on."

Catlin was awaiting trial after being sent to Napa State Hospital for observation.

Behr Draws Challenge On 'Peace' Initiative

Michael R. Poovey, Democratic nominee for state Senate, yesterday challenged his Republican opponent, Peter H. Behr, to join him in support of the "peace" initiative on the county's November ballot.

Peevey, in a letter to Behr, said, "Although you publicly stated your opposition to the Vasconcellos bill, which would have put California on record against the Indo-China conflict, I hope you will change your mind and give whole-hearted support to the Marin Peace initiative."

The county measure urges withdrawal of all American troops from Southeast Asia by June of 1971. The state legislation by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, would have prohibited Californians from having to fight undeclared wars. The legislation was killed.

Peevey, who released a copy of his letter to the Independent-Journal, wrote Behr that they "have a unique opportunity to make 'peace' a truly bipartisan issue as we campaign through the county."

Peevey concluded by noting that he and Behr were "widely separated on most issues because of your support of Governor Reagan's policies, which are eroding California's former high standards of public education and mental health care (to name but two), but I hope you break with the governor on the overriding issue of governmental support for peace."

Firefighters Contain Blaze Near Oroville

OROVILLE (UPI). — Firefighters Monday contained a blaze which burned about 200 acres of timber and brush near the upper end of Lake Oroville about 15 miles from here.

A combined force of 378 men, including inmates from nearby conservation camps, fought the fire of undetermined origin.

Mexico To End Quickie Divorce?

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Mexican government announced today it will submit legislation to Congress outlawing the so-called "quickie divorces" for foreigners.

The new law would bar foreigners who cannot prove they are permanent residents in Mexico from obtaining divorces from Mexican courts.

For years, Americans and other foreigners have obtained certificates of residence from officials of Ciudad Juarez the same day of their arrival. A divorce in Ciudad Juarez took as little as 24 hours.

The new law would require foreigners wishing to be divorced to submit to the judge a certificate of legal residence in Mexico issued by the Interior Department.

Marriage Bliss Ends With Kiss

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The seven-year marriage of John and Michelle Phillips, former member of "the Mamas and the Papas" ended Monday with a kiss.

Superior Court Judge Joseph L. Gall did not appear to notice when Mrs. Phillips, 26, rushed into the arms of her former husband and kissed him as soon as the divorce decree was granted.

Phillips, 34, filed for divorce 15 months ago charging his wife ran off to London with their daughter, Chynna, now 2. He said she left the child in London while she traveled to North Africa with another man.

The marriage was dissolved on grounds of irreconciliable differences.

A settlement gave her $10,000 in lieu of alimony and $250 monthly child support.

Novato Panel To Air New Park Site Bid

The Novato City Council will meet at 8 p.m. today to discuss a requirement of a developer to provide low and moderate income housing, the date of a proposed $850,000 park bond election and an offer to sell the city 450 acres for a park.

The public session will be preceded by a 7:30 p.m. closed session to consider hiring a finance director.

A public hearing on standard growth properties' request for changes in the San Marin East master plan was continued from last Tuesday's meeting to resolve disagreement between the developer and planning commission on a requirement to include 10 per cent low and moderate income housing in the development.

Salt Lake City, Utah, developer Jay Garlick is to appear before the council to formalize an offer to sell the city a 450-acre portion of the Magetti Ranch northwest of the O'Hair property at Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue for a community park. The council has decided to hold a bond election for the purchase of park land, and a hearing to set the election date is on tonight's agenda.

The council will also hold hearings on an anti-litter ordinance, park regulations ordinance, zoning requests for properties on Davidson Street and at Cherry Street and Armstrong Avenue and an appeal by Johnson's Red Barn from a planning commission denial of a variance request.

Also on the agenda are a suggested bus route from Novato to San Rafael, a resolution establishing employee salaries, a suggested policy on drainage channel maintenance responsibility, vacation of a pedestrian walkway in Marin Golf and Country Club estates Unit No. 3 and a resolution setting policy on building demolition and land clearance.

Hearing Slated On Improvement

The North Marin County Water District board will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station, to explain and discuss the $238,000 Point Reyes-Inverness Park improvement plan.

The plan entails purchase of the Point Reyes Station and Inverness Park water companies and extensive improvements to existing facilities.

Construction of a 100,000-gallon enclosed reservoir, two pumping facilities and connections to several new water sources are contemplated.

Day-Care Service Plans Revealed

Extended day-care service for children of working mothers will be offered in September by the Belvedere Nursery School, according to Mrs. Richard Otter, president of the board of the school.

Children from ages three to six who are enrolled in a nursery school or kindergarten will be accepted for the program. Care will begin at 11:30 a.m., when the children are brought in from their morning classes, and end at 5:30 p.m.

The service is intended for families above the economic level of the public children's care centers operated by the county schools office, and fees are on a non-profit basis.

"A survey of social needs has indicated that the need for professional day care for the young child is not being met adequately in Marin County," Mrs. Otter said.

Host Pot Luck Dinner Rancho Riders Will

The Rancho Riders, Rohnert Park riding club, will host a pot luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Rohnert Park recreation center.

The program will include movies on riding techniques. Proceeds will be used to finance the club's recently completed arena.

'WALKS ACROSS CALIFORNIA'

Marin Ecologist Leads Tours

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Julia Frederick and her husban, Alan, lead hikes for the Sierra Club, but more interesting is the fact that she leads "Walks Across California."

This is the title of tours she conducts as the only Marin ecology docent for the new Oakland Museum of California. Fascinated with the biological sciences ever since she was a child in Cardiff, Wales, Julia spends even more time than as a docent as a member of the volunteer council for the Audubon Canyon Ranch at Bolinas, going into Bay Area schools to give illustrated slide lectures about the ranch. She also leads the children on ecology field trips to the ranch.

At her home in the hills of Mill Valley, the slender, vivacious young woman had some important things to say about the currently popular topic of ecology and the museum, as woodpeckers and other wild birds could be seen feasting on hunks of suet hung on a tree overhanging the sundeck.

"The reason we have so many birds," she said with a laugh, " is that this is an insect sanctuary because we have never sprayed the trees in the five years we have lived here."

SPEAKING OF her work as a docent she said, "Save California is the message we are supposed to give, but fighting pollution and saving species endangered from pesticides are only the negative side of ecology.

"Ecology is the whole relationship between organisms and their environment. The exhibits at the museum show the environment of California as it would be undisturbed.

"The 'Walk Across California' takes you from the sea coast up to the mountains and down to the desert. There's a topographical model of each of the areas, and the exhibits have dioramas with perspective so that you actually feel you can walk into them.

"They are very realistic because most of the plants and small animals were freeze-dried, and each leaf on the Aspen trees was hand made."

Julia explained that the entire museum is devoted to California with the lower level on ecology, the second on history, showing Westward movements of population, and third on art composed of the work of California artists.

She says the tours the docents conduct are enormously popular with everyone from school children to newly arrived immigrants.

"Ecology brings all the sciences together," she explains," and shows you your place in the environment. It's a wonderful way to supplement the civics teaching program too.

"Ask the children what they are doing about pollution. All are doing something, such as cleaning up places and writing letters to the legislature and to local organizations to try to get them interested. The children get to express themslelves and have influence on their future. They learn that companies can be influenced by pressure and that each person does have power to help put the environment right."

Becoming a docent involves considerable preparation Julia explains.

"I was invited to be interviewed for a docent," she says, " and was one of the 140 chosen out of two or three hundred interviewed. I had to take a course for a year given in the museum building under the Peralta Junior College and got three units of college credit in ecology.

"You have to agree to give a minimum of two half-days a month for a year, but I often give as much as a day a week or at least every two weeks.

"I really spend more time in the Canyon Ranch lectures in Bay Area schools and field trips to the ranch. I took a course in preparation for that too last year at the ranch."

Returning to the subject of the Oakland Museum, Julia said another important program it sponsors for school children is "The Museum on Wheels." This consists of a big van that goes to the schools, staying two days at each one. It has exhibits that are explained by docents, two in ecology, two in history and two in art.

"I have worked on this program too," she says. "I'm hoping some day it will come to Marin."

Though Julia's major interest has always been the natural sciences, she has had a varied educational background and work experience.

AFTER GRADUATING from a private school in England, in preparation for a career she thought she wanted as a hotel manager, she studied hotel management, common law and economics at the Merchant Venturers private college, now a part of Bristol University in Bristol, England.

"After graduating," said Julia in her crisp, barely noticeable British accent, "I was an assistant manager for a year at the Grand Atlantic Hotel at the resort of Weston-super-Mare in the West of England, but I found it wasn't the kind of life I wanted. It's a hard career for a woman. I felt very insecure.

"Then I went into civil service in London for a year lnd then into a law office on Jermyn Street, the old street for lawyers described by Dickens. I stayed there until I was married.

"My husband, a civil engineer, and I then decided to go to Canada to visit some of my relatives. He got a job there in his field, and though we were homesick we stayed in Canada six years. Our son Mark (now 13) was born in Toronto, and our son Glen (12) at Sarnia, on Lake Huron, where we used to MARIN'S ONLY ecology docent, Julia Frederick, explains to her son Glen the various items in the ecology kit telling the story of the egrets and herons at the Audubon Canyon Ranch which she uses in lectures she gives in Bay Area schools. She is especially concerned that the birds' eggs are already showing diastrous effects of pesticides and fears it may be too late to stop them.

Marin Women

Barriers To Women's Rising In Professions Are Studied

Since 1898 the percentage of women doctors, lawyers and college president's hasn't risen very much — and it may be that women want it that way.

A New York sociologist, Dr. Cynthia F. Epstein, says women have pressed for admission to the professions but once admitted express a clear preference for their own domain — the home.

Dr. Epstein's views were expressed in her recently published book, "Woman's Place," the outgrowth of a study at Columbia University that was partially supported by a grant from the Institute of Life Insurance.

The nation's best educated women — those in whom society has invested most heavily — continue to underperform, underachieve and underproduce, according to the book. And their entrance into the professions has remained nearly constant during this century.

In 1910, 1.0 per cent of lawyers were women. The most recent figure from the U.S. Census Bureau shows a climb to 3.5 per cent. Female nurses in 1900 comprised 94 per cent of the total and the recent figure is three per cent higher. In 1910, 6.0 per cent of doctors were women, comparable to 6.8 per cent in 1960. In 1910 over the same span, college presidents and professors who were women remained at 19 per cent.

Despite advances in the legal and social position of women in the United States and throughout the world, the book found a static situation in elite occupations. The hard-won laws guaranteeing equal opportunity have never been fully put to use nor have women taken full advantage of them.

PART OF THE ANSWER to this apparent reluctance may be in social factors which uniquely continue to repress women, Dr. Epstein observed. The notion that the woman who works in undermining the male is a Victorian holdover in modern society.

The result is that although some 28 million women now work in the United States, they settle for a fraction of job posibilities, or advance into the lowest positions on the professional ladder.

THE PROBLEM isn't a completely American one, either. Women's representation in important jobs is still small in Japan, Italy, India and West Germany. But in Sweden, Great Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Israel, the percentage has doubled in the past 20 years.

When Mrs. Epstein, who is 36 and the mother of a 7-year-old son, first began writing her book she said, "the Women's Liberation Movement did not exist."

Now the sociologist, who teaches at Queens College in New York and is married to an editor, said the movement may affect the female docility in the professions that has been apparent for such a long time.

However, Dr. Epstein observes that many of the limitations on women are self-imposed. It is enough for most to be married and live happily ever after.

Marriage Is Popular Institution

The number of marriages in the United States rose by 4.2 per cent in 1969, the 11th successive annual increase, according to statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

There were about 2,158.000 marriages last year, compared with 2,072,000 in 1968 and 1,-927,000 in 1967. The marriage rate last year was 10.6 per 1,000 population (including the Armed Forces overseas), which was the highest since 1950.

Of special significance, the upswing in marriages has continued through the early months of 1970 and is expected to persist for years to come as increasing numbers of post World War II children reach the adult ages. The outlook is that marriages in 1972 will rise above the 1946 record high of 2,291,000 and after 1975, will exceed 2,500,000 annually.

Almost all states reported more marriages. The largest increase occurred in Texas, where the number of marriages rose by 10 per cent, from almost 132,200 in 1968 to about 145,600 last year. In five other states, the rise also was well above the national average, ranging from less than 3 per cent in Missouri to about 9 per cent in Arizona. Increases of intermediate magnitude occurred in Kentucky, Massachusetts and Hawaii.

The 8.8 per cent increase in Hawaii continued the marked rise that started in 1966 as a result of the Armed Forces' rest and recreation program in the Islands. Between 1966 and 1969 Hawaii led the nation with a 69 per cent increase in marriages, more than 4 times the rise in the rest of the country.

The increase also was substantial in Kentucky after June 13, 1968, when a new law lowered the age of consent from 21 to 18. Also noteworthy was the 1969 rise in New Mexico (5.8 per cent) reversing the decline which followed the mid-1967 introduction of a waiting period for a marriage license.

The two most populous states also reported more marriages in 1969 than during the previous year, but the relative increases fell below that of the country as a whole. In California, marriages rose by 3 per cent, from nearly 162,000 in 1968 to a high of about 166,800 last year. New York experienced a rise of 3.3 per cent in 1969, with marriages increasing by 4 per cent outside New York City and by 2.6 within the metropolis.

Teens' Telephonitis May Work Out Tension

Your resident teen-ager may be driving the family crazy by talking for hours on the telephone — but it may be doing the youngster some good.

"Telephonitis" which appears to attack the American adolescent may help the youngster work out a variety of inner tensions, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

The teen-ager often engages in a parcel of contortions while using the phone, twisting and squirming around chairs and ending up even taking on the charteristics of a pretzel. This muscular behavior may be working out strong inner forces that assail the teen-ager.

The Committee on Adolescence of the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, comprised of national authorities on childhood and adolescense, recently observed that many teenage needs are being met via the closed circuit telephone. The committee felt that dialing a peer and remaining in a private communication world is a means of escaping close family involvement and can be a tentative step towards independence.

The pervading sense of loneliness that is attached to the transition from childhood to maturity appears to be lessened through telephone attachemnts.

This is perhaps why schoolmates who see each other for six hours a day are hardly in the house when they are on the phone talking again. During adolescence the person at the other end of the line is primarily a sounding board for the youngster's own feelings.

The teen-age tieup of the telephone has driven many middle-class families into becoming two and three telephone households. Some phone directories carry a separate listing for "the Jones children" after the parents' number.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

When Someone Finally Notices You It's Hard To Say 'Get Lost'

DEAR HELEN:

I'm short, fat and ugly (175 pounds, with stringy hair, etc.) But I found a boy friend, my first.

We can't get married for at least four years. He's a drop-out and will probably be drafted, and I have to finish college. We've been going together for two months, though, and he says he can't wait any longer, and if I love him . . . you know, it's the same old story, but it seems awfully new when it's finally happening to you.

Having a boy friend is wonderful and I can't bear to lose him, but I just don't want to give in.

Please send me some good defenses. — DON'T WANT TO

DEAR DWT:

Your best defense is that you don't really love this boy. If you were 50 pounds thinner and didn't see yourself as "fat and ugly," you might not even date him —for then you'd have a choice of several.

Gratitude isn't love, DWT, and "fear of losing him" is the poorest excuse for an affair. It means your self-esteem is so low that you figure you have nothing except sex to offer a boy and, believe me, when it's available, he soon figures this isn't very much.

Instead of trying to buy affection, make yourself into the kind of girl who wins it. Consult your doctor about a safe diet; enroll in a self-improvement course at the "Y" or a local charm school; experiment with new hair styles and treatments; find the right make-up. But most of all, work on a new, positive personality that says, "Hey, I'm worth knowing," not, "Go away, I'm a failure." — H.

P.S. Here are a couple more defenses from my friends:

DEAR HELEN:

I've noticed quite a few letters from teen-age girls, wondering how far they should go with their guys.

Well, when I was 15, I went all the way, just out of curiosity, and because I thought I'd be considered cool, and therefore keep my steady interested. It didn't work out that way.

Now I realize that after the first time, the second, third, fourth, etc. temptations aren't easy to turn down. I've never been promiscuous, but the second guy wouldn't have happened, if there hadn't been the first experience.

I'm lucky because these facts never got around and I still have a good reputation, but now I'm 19 and I'm finding out that when you really care for a guy, you wish he had been the first, especially if you are planning to be married to him someday. He probably feels the same.

I'm not saying sex is taboo but I think it should be handled maturely or a girl may end up with a low opinion of herself. These young girls who think they're grown up but aren't, will discover they don't feel the same about a certain subject in a few years. But then it will be too late. Love is much too powerful an emotion to experiment with too young. — NO PREACHING, WARNING

DEAR HELEN:

When I read "Too Good's" letter (about the fellow who went back to his "easy" ex-girl friend because his new girl was-"too good for him"), I didn't know whether to laugh or cry, but I sympathize. Same thing happened to me! I was 16, the guy was 17. I loved him, but I also was "too good." So he chose a girl who wasn't.

It hurt and still hurts to know he'd choose a tramp instead of me. But I did a lot of thinking and decided I'd rather be a "too good" now than a "no good" or "not good enough" later.

When fellas start looking for wife material, they remember that used merchandise is cheap. So many high school affairs break up because demands outweigh respect. The new morality sounds great, but it can sure be a trap. And as you say, Helen, the girl must pick up most of the pieces — and try to hide 'em afterwards.

This guy said he really loved me and I believed him, so I think he'll come back when he's ready to settle down. Until then, I'll just be — ANOTHER "TOO GOOD."

DEAR ATG:

You aren't alone.
— H.

"We didn't appreciate the open spaces in Canada at the time and were so homesick we went back to England, and the first things I missed were the blue skies and open spaces.

"We diceded we had made a mistake in going back. Our horizons had widened, and we didn't think the same as our contemporaries any more.

"So we decided to come to the United States. Though life is not so secure here, there is more opportunity and life is more exciting. We're not sorry we went back, though. You need to go back every once in a while and be reminded of why you left. They call it taking the cure."

In San Francisco Julia worked two years for Henry Hayes of Kentfield in the law offices of Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro and left when Mr. Hayes retired.

Since they have lived in Mill Valley, where Julia says the family, including the Siamese cat Yindee and golden labrador dog Bronwen, is completely happy, she has been able to devote all her leisure time to her interests in conservation and the natural sciences.

Just how devoted she is, is indicated by the organizations in which she is active. They include, in addition to the Sierra Club, the Marin Conservation League, Save the Redwoods League, Zero Population Growth, and Defenders of Wild Life. Somehow she also finds time to be editor of the newsletter of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel parish in Mill Valley.

"I'd like to mention," Julia said," that the museum is now interviewing for docents. They are badly needed because they never have enough. Almost every new docent they get is someone who has been impressed with a tour and the docent who conducted it.

"Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Alice Knapp at the Oakland Museum," she said.

Planners Oppose Houseboat Dock Plan

Dolan J. Arques, request for 261 docking berths for houseboats on his property in Richardson Bay is far too many, the Marin County Planning Commission declared yesterday.

On a motion by Eugene R. Trombley, the commissioners voted 4 to 1 to continue action on the request until Sept. 14 so that Arques can get together with the planning staff and agree on cutbacks in the amount of fill needed to build the berths. In the process of reducing the fill, the number of berths will probably be reduced, said commissioner Edward Hageman.

John F. West, the lone dissenter, wanted to trim the number of berths to a maximum of 133, the number of houseboats that now exist on Arques' 25-acre property at Gate 6. The entire Arques yacht harbor area covers 35 acres of which 10 acres is county underwater streets.

West, besides seeking a further reduction in the number of houseboats planned, said that residential houseboats do not belong in a resort-commercial area like Richardson Bay. He also wanted to know what Arques would trade to the county in exchange for building his piers and berths over county streets.

Hugh G. Lawrence, attorney for Arques, replied that Arques would reserve open water in exchange for use of the county streets.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty wanted the number of berths cut to between 100 and 133. He was unable to determine how many houseboats were in existence in Arques'harbor when the resort-commercial district was set up in 1966.

County Planning Director Werner von Gundell gave this overall picture of Arques' houseboat plans:

The proposed 261 berths would handle the 133 houseboats already there and other boats anchored in the bay at random. A total of 438 parking spaces are planned for automobiles, with about four acres of new fill. Most of the fill would be placed where the ferry Charles Van Damme is located and around the ferryboat San Rafael.

Don Louden of Mill Valley announced plans to lease the Van Damme (formerly Juanita's Galley) for use as a steak house and eventually for entertaining and dancing.

Von Gundell recommended a redesign of the Arques plan for berths and docks because the plan does not allow for a continuous 20-foot wide pedestrian path along the shoreline, as provided in the Richardson Bay Specific Plan. Furthermore, he said that Arques's plan calls for considerable fill, whereas the Bay Conservation and Development Commission prohibits new fill for houseboats except for walkways on pilings.

Lawrence protested any reduction in the number of berths. "Someplace along the line, the county seems to have assumed a policy that there should be no more houseboats. Such a policy does not exist," declared Lawrence.

He said the 261 berths are allowed by the county's houseboat ordinance, and all boats that tie up to the Arques piers will meet county standards.

Harrah, 58, Weds Californian, 30

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Nevada gambling entrepreneur William Harrah, 58, has taken a 30-year-old Southern California physical culturist as his fourth wife.

Harrah's third marriage ended when he and entertainer Bobby Gentry obtained a divorce last April.

The bride is Mary Burger, a native of Amarillo, Tex. The couple said they had been friends for several years.

They were wed in a quiet ceremony Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church.

Harrah owns casinos at Reno and Lake Tahoe.

Californian Chosen To Commerce Position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has nominated William R. McLellan, 47, to be assistant secretary of commerce.

McLellan would replace Kenneth N. Davis who resigned recently because of his disagreement with administration trade policies. McLellan, a native of Kearney, Neb., has worked for the FMC Corp. in Saratoga, Calif. for the last 20 years.

North Koreans Hit U.N. Buildup

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) —North Korea charged today the United Nations Command is building up military strength in South Korea while talking about U.S. troop reductions.

Maj. Gen. Han Yong-ok of North Korea said at the 304th meeting of the Korean Military Armistice Commission that the buildup could lead to all-out war in Korea.

Han said the recent meeting of South Korean and U.S. defense officials in Honolulu was designed for war preparations under the pretext of discussing a U.S. troop reduction in Korea.

The North Koreans and the United Nations Command accused each other of numerous violations of the armistice agreement since June 28.

Ruling Stalled On Company Sign Request

Coldwell Banker and Co., which plans to buy the Greenbrae Co.'s real estate office in front of Bon Air Shopping Center for its new Marin headquarters, may get a free-standing sign but could lose the present wall sign at the building in the process.

Several members of the Marin County Planning Commission declared yesterday that the wall sign on the quaint, castle-like building at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and La Cuesta Way detracts from the beauty of the structure. Greenbrae Co. has moved its offices into the Bon Air center.

Harold Valceschini, representing Coldwell Banker, asked for both a free-standing lighted sign and a wall sign to replace the words, "Greenbrae Co."

The commission — some members expressing a desire to eliminate the wall sign — postponed action until Aug. 24. Valceschini said he would have to confer with Coldwell Banker officials to see if removal of the wall sign on the structure is acceptable.

Several Greenbrae residents thought only a small wall sign.

Two Points Defeat Tentative Laird's Landing Subdivision Map

A tentative map for Laird's Landing subdivision, a 319-acre residential development within the proposed boundaries of Point Reyes National Seashore, was turned down yesterday by a unanimous 5 to 0 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission. Commissioners Walter F. Freitas and Margaret B. Azevedo were absent.

On a motion by Hugh Dougherty, the commissioners rejected the tentative map for the 63-home development because the developer failed to indicate adequate access to the property on the west side of Tomales Bay, just north of Tomales Bay State Park, and failed to provide details for water and sewage facilities.

Dougherty also declared that the tentative map did not conform to the county master plan, and that the developer did not make adequate showing that the federal government would not acquire the land for the seashore within a reasonable time.

James B. McKenney, attorney for the property owner, Robert D. Marshall Jr., protested that the two reasons given for denial are "unreasonable, arbitrary and unconstitutional."

Details on water and sewage facilities are conditions required in the final map, but not in a tentative map, argued McKenney.

William L. Desmond, director of the county division of environmental health, recommended denial of the tentative map because nothing had been presented to him to show an adequate waste disposal system. He said borings on the property showed the soil unsuitable for septic tanks.

Others who spoke against the tentative map were Howard Waite of the Inverness Improvement Association; Mrs. C.R. Thompson of Kentfield, representing the Sierra Club; Harold E. Gregg, representing the Marin Conservation League, and Sidney M. Levin of Berkeley, who said he intends to move to Kentfield.

"I'd hate to see this great block (of property) taken out of the Point Reyes Seashore," declared Gregg.

Mrs. Thompson said the Sierra Club fears effluent from the subdivision would flow into Tomales Bay, polluting waters and damaging oyster beds.

Phase Out Of Lead Gas Bill Killed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation requiring oil companies to phase out the lead in gasoline pumped at California filling stations has been defeated by the Senate Transportation Committee.

The bill by Assemblyman Peter Schabarum, R-Covina, was scrapped on a split voice vote Monday after nearly a three-hour hearing which he complained was too brief for the magnitude of the bill.

It was the key measure in a package of antismog legislation drafted by a special Assembly committee on air pollution.

Schararum said the Assembly spent 50 hours analyzing the proposal before passing it. He said he was "disappointed the Senate saw fit to spend only a couple of hours on this bill."

Asked if he thought he got a "fair shake," the lawmaker replied, "I don't think I did." However, he said it was doubtful he would seek a reconsideration vote.

"I doubt whether I'd get the votes for reconsideration," he told newsmen.

Committee Chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, was even more certain about the fate of the measure.

The proposal would gradually have ordered the elimination of air pollution-causing lead in gasoline. On July 1, 1977, only a "trace" would be permitted.

Nearlyl every major oil company—Shell, Standard, Mobil, Atlantic-Richfield—in addition to the Ethyl Corp. opposed the measuse. Smaller independent refineries also objected.

The independents said the bill would impose economic hardships on them, which would make lead reduction unfeasible to remain in business.

Paul Petrus, Mobil's manager of fuels, suggested that a third pump featuring low-lead gas be used instead of phasing out all leaded gasoline.

HIRING POLICY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation aimed at eliminating any discrimination against hiring women by the state colleges and University of California won Senate approval Monday.

The three measures by Sen. Mervyn M. Dumally, D-Los Angeles, were sent to the assembly with little opposition.

One would require college trustees to "eliminate all policies which detrimentally and unreasonably affect the employment status of females hired by the state colleges." Another requires the university to "review" hiring practices with a view toward correcting inequities.

The third measure requires that school teacher manuals and textbooks used in public schools contain "accurate portrayals of both men and women in all types of roles, including professional, vocational and executive."

WORK PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The author of an omnibus welfare reform bill has accepted "in principle" an amendment requiring the State Human Resources Department to develop a work program for unemployed fathers.

Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, said he had "no objection" to the amendment proposed by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills. The Senate Health and Welfare Committee headed by Beilenson, conducted its second hearing on the measure Monday and set another session for Wednesday.

Duffy's bill requires unemployed fathers of families receiving aid to work in public service projects.

Beilenson suggested the Human Resources Department should first be required to come up with a "plan that makes sense and provides jobs."

Heyns Returns Home

BERKELEY (UPI)—Roger W. Heyns, chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley, has returned home from the hospital after treatment for a heart attack.

A spokesman said Heyns was making good progress toward full recovery from the attack three weeks ago.

Arrow From Alcatraz To Boat Brings Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An investigation was launched Monday into who shot an arrow from Alcatraz Island into the side of a passenger-laden tour boat over the weekend.

Nobody was hurt in the incident last Saturday night as the Harbor Queen was returning from a cruise on San Francisco Bay.

Meanwhile, the federal government said Monday there would be no prior concessions to the band of Indians occupying the former prison island in the matter of the Coast Guard's reactivation of navigation signals on the 22-acre "rock."

The government cut power to the island lighthouse May 29, saying offshore buoys would replace it. The Indians have kept the light burning at night with a donated gas generator.

But the Coast Guard has been pressured by fishermen and mariners to regain control over the light and foghorns.

"When the Coast Guard is ready, the light will go on," said Thomas Hannon, the regional administrator of the General Services Administration.

The Indians want a guarantee that the government will supply them with electricity and water before they allow the power to the lighthouse and foghorn to be restored.

Hannon conceded there might be a showdown in the matter, given the Indians' stance.

"If you take what everyone says, there is a crisis in the making," Hannon said.

Hannon said he was puzzled by the Indians' attitude because "they have consistently told me they want the light on."

He said he will leave the situation as it is until the Coast Guard gets the equipment necessary to activate the light house and fog horns.

Last week, the Indians warned away a work crew sent to the island to assess what repairs and equipment would be necessary to restore the navigation service. A fire on the island damaged some of the equipment in June.

The small Indian band on the island represents tribes from across the country and seeks possession of the former federal penitentiary on grounds that it has been abandoned by the government.

Israeli Jets Hit Lebanon, Suez Quiet

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel sent warplanes against Arab targets in Lebanon today for what a Tel Aviv spokesman said was retaliation for continuing guerrilla raids on Israeli soil. But a cease-fire held on the Suez Canal and there were hopes for early peace talks under U. N. auspices.

The air raids on the slopes of Mt. Hermon in southeast Lebanon marked the second time Israeli jet fighter-bombers have struck there since the cease-fire went into effect last Friday.

"The attack which came as a result of terrorist shooting on Israeli forces began at 1:50 p. m. (7:50 a. m. EDT) and continued for about 30 minutes," an Israeli spokesman said in Tel Aviv in announcing the new Mt. Hermos strikes. Israel claims that the area is a stronghold of guerrilla bases.

Israeli reports said an Arab guerrilla was killed Monday night in a clash between a guerrilla force and an Israeli patrol in the southern Golan Heights, a part of Syria which Israel seized in the 1967 war.

In Cairo, the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said today Egypt will not repartriate four Israeli Phantom jet pilots it has captured.

Israeli officials had expressed hope that U.N. peace envoy Gunnar V. Jarring would be able to convince Egypt to agree to a prisoner exchange, the newspaper said.

The newspaper, quoting a responsible source, said Cairo considered "The current situation is no more than a tenporary cease-fire and the struggle with the enemy was still continuing."

As the 90-day cease-fire on the Suez Canal entered its fourth day, Israeli military records showed a steady decline in guerrilla attacks from Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

There were a dozen guerrilla incidents Saturday in the first 24 hours of the cease-fire, but only seven Sunday and four Monday.

Military observers attributed the failure of the guerrillas to make good their threat of stepped-up attacks to two possible factors:

—Tension between the guerrillas and the Jordanian government which may have caused the guerrillas to pull forces away from the Israeli frontier to Amman for a possible confrontation.

—Reduced cooperation of the Jordanian and Lebanese armies with the guerrillas since Amman accepted the American peace initiative and Beirut applauded it.

Greek Regime Frees 500 Alleged Reds

ATHENS (UPI)—The Greek government has announced the release of 500 alleged Communists and granting of exit visas to former politicians in a "spirit of leniency."

George Georgalas, deputy to Premier George Papadopoulos, said the 500 alleged Communists, including 22 women, will be released from detention within the next two weeks.

'Major' Pacific Quake Noted By UC Station

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California seismology station recorded what it termed a "major" earthquake early today centered in the area of the New Hebrides Islands.

A spokesman said it was recorded at 3:22 a.m. PDT (6:22 a.m. EDT) and registered a 7.6 reading on the Richter scale. Such a quake in a crowded area could cause havoc, but the spokesman said today's temblor was apparently centered in the Pacific some 5,850 miles southwest of here.

Temporary Checks On Subpoenaing Newsmen

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell has tackled "one of the most difficult problems I have faced as attorney general", setting down temporary guidelines prosecutors must follow in subpoenaing newsmen."

Mitchell spelled out the guidelines Monday in a speech to the American Bar Association (ABA) house of delegates. He announced these guidelines, which he said would be administered "with sensitivity:"

—The Justice Department recognizes that in some cases subpoenas may limit free press rights. The approach must be to weigh this factor against the public interest in the fair administration of justice.

—All reasonable attempts should be made to obtain the information from non press sources.

—Negotiations with the press should be attempted when a subpoena is contemplated.

—The attorney general must authorize each subpoena.

—A request for such authorization must show the information sought is essential and cannot be obtained from non press sources. Subpoenas normally should be limited to verification of published information. Great caution should be observed in requesting unpublished information of identification where a serious claim of confidentiality is alleged.

Although Mitchell indicated he did not wish to infringe on the rights of the news media, he said, "we will not permit an innocent man to be convicted or a guilty man to be freed because we decline to subpoena a newsman who had information vital to the case."

At a news conference following his speech, Mitchell disclosed that the Justice Department soon will file its own suit in the Supreme Court to test the constitutionality of the law giving the vote to 18 year olds. The suit also will be aimed at abolishing state literacy tests and residency requirements as the law provides, he said.

Texas and Oregon already have filed test cases against the government in the high court.

Earlier, at the ABA's opening assembly, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger told the lawyers the federal judicial system must be overhauled to reduce crime and cope with new laws generated by changing times.

He predicted a sharp reduction in the crime rate if courts were given "the manpower and tools" to try criminal cases within 60 days after indictment.

The chief justice recommended creation of a judiciary council of perhaps six members, one-third from each branch of government, to report to the President, Congress and the judicial conference on matters affecting the judicial branch. The judicial conference is the administrative arm of the federal system.

Parents' Bus Suit Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Superior Court judge on Monday dismissed a suit brought by the Concerned Parents Association which objected to a school board plan to bus Richmond District pupils in an attempt at racial integration.

Judge Edmund M. Moor, on assignment from Alpine County, declared the "petition has not stated legal grounds for the issuance of any extraordinary writ...to compel the board to abandon its Richmond complex plan."

The board, he added, had acted within its authority.

Munich-Rome Express Derails, Killing One

CHIUSA, Italy (UPI)—The Munich-Rome express train jumped the tracks in the Brenner Pass between Italy and Austria Monday, killing one person and injuring 34 others.

The electric locomotive split in two and several passenger cars derailed, one falling down an embankment. Trainmen blamed a rock in the tracks for the accident.

Priest In Draft Case Is Arrested

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Fugitive priest Daniel Berrigan S.J. who failed to surrender to federal officials to begin a prison sentence for destroying draft records, was arrested Tuesday on Block Island, about 10 miles off the Rhode Island coast.

Berrigan, 49, a Jesuit priest and noted poet, was apprehended at a "private summer residence" and taken to Pt. Judith on the mainland by a U.S. Coast Guard vessel, the FBI said. He was to appear before a federal judge in Providence for arraignment on charges of failing to surrender to serve his prison sentence.

NO DETAILS

The FBI gave no details of his arrest except to say he was picked up shortly after 11:30 a.m. EDT on the small island and taken to the mainland for arraignment.

He was wearing "civilian clothes" and did not have a beard, the FBI said.

Federal authorities would not say who owned the summer home or how they learned he was there.

The FBI said no one else was arrested in connection with Berrigan's apprehension but would not comment if other arrests were planned.

LONG SEARCH

Berrigan had been sought since April 9 when he failed to appear to begin serving a three-year prison sentence. A bench warrant had been issued for his arrest.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover announced that the 49-year-old Berrigan, a member of the "Catonsville Nine," was arrested at 11:25 a.m. at the small summer resort island.

Linda Handed Another Bloody Tate Picture

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Defense attorney Irving Kanarek pounded away today with more cross examination of key state witness Linda Kasabian despite the objection of other defense attorneys to his tactics

The lawyer for 35-year-old hippie cult leader Charles Manson handed another bloody photograph of one of the victims of the Tate-LaBianca slayings to Mrs. Kasabian on the witness stand as he sought to force her to admit that she had gone into the Tate residence also.

Mrs. Kasabian averted her eyes from the photograph.

The "united defense" put forth by Manson and the three young women codefendants was disintegrating and other defense attorneys said that Kanarek might be doing a good job for Manson but he was implicating the girls.

Kanarek showed Mrs. Kasabian a photograph of a window at the Tate home and asked her if she had not looked into the house. She replied that she had been standing by Charles "Tex" Watson and did glance through the window.

She said that all she saw was a table and a book case in the room.

Objections by the prosecution squelched many of Kanarek's questions, including one about why she had lived in communes all over the United States.

The 21-year-old witness was in her 12th day of testimony in the case. She was granted immunity Monday in the seven slayings.

Kanarek asked Mrs. Kasabian today about waiting in an automobile outside the home of grocer Leno LaBianca while Manson went into the house.

He asked her whether she had made any attempt to alert anyone that another murder was about to be committed and she replied that she had not.

"You didn't get out of the car did you?" Kanarek asked.

"No."

"Why didn't you get out?"

"Charley didn't tell me to get out."

"Were you chained to the car?"

"No."

"Did Charley tell you to smoke a cigarette?"

"No."

"Did Charley tell you to breathe?"

"No."

"When you say that you didn't get out of the car because Charley didn't tell you to, that's just an excuse isn't it?"

"No, it's not an excuse, it's the truth."

"Kanarek asked the witness when she finally got out from beneath Manson's spell.

"The day I ran away from the ranch," she said.

Defense counsels Paul Fitzgerald and Ronald Hughes both strongly objected yesterday to questioning of Mrs. Kasabian by Kanarek.

And Manson interjected himself into the controversy by calling out suddenly in the courtroom: "You're getting me locked into this guy."

The long-haired, bearded defendant was objecting to Kanarek's asking questions over and over again and showing pictures which could tie him into the case.

Fitzgerald charged that Kanarek was "acting more like a third prosecutor" in his questioning of Mrs. Kasabian. He said Kanarek was doing a good job for Manson but that he was implicating the other defendants—Susan Atkins, Leslie Van Houte and Patricia Krenwinkel.

Tiburon Asks Out Of New Waste Study

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District last night approved a resolution opposing inclusion of the district in an improvement district being formed by the Marin Municipal Water District to finance a pre-engineering study of waste disposal in southern Marin.

Secty. Robert A. Sterling reported that the board convened briefly at a special meeting and unanimously passed the resolution. It will be forewarded to the water district in time for tomorrow's board meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the district office, but action is not expected at that time.

"This is our way of telling them that we want out," Sterling said. "We're willing to go along with anyone to improve the sewage situation, but more studies won't accomplish anything."

Sterling said that three studies by "three reputable engineering firms" have been performed in past years and the proposed pre-engineering study is a "move backward."

A-C Bus District, Workers Huddle

OAKLAND (UPI)—A-C Transit District and bus drivers union representatives are meeting today to work out details on a labor contract that ended a 19-day June strike.

Amalgamated Transit Union members returned to work for an hourly wage of $4.50 for drivers and $5.26 for top mechanics.

Still to be settled are fringe benefits, including the union's demands for full paid medical and dental care.

An arbitration panel has 60 days to reach a binding decision.

Trustees At Kentfield Adopt Budget

Kentfield School District trustees last night approved a final 1970-71 budget totaling $1,525,630 up about $185,000 over last year's.

However, the tax rate will remain about the same as last year, according to Emma H. Wright, district business manager, because the board is expending reserve funds.

She added that last year's rate was $3.33 per $100 assessed valuation including a general operating rate of $1.965.

Approval of the budget followed an additional .5 per cent pay increase offer to teachers above the previously approved 6 per cent, Mrs. Wright said. The additional .5 per cent about $4,000 to the total budget and increases the teachers' payroll to $281,630.

The board also approved payment of all employee health insurance benefits, including full dental expenses incurred by employees, Mrs. Wright added.

Previously, the district paid $20 per year per employee toward hospital and health insurance.

The Kentfield School District board also:

LANDSCAPING — Rejected a $57,800 bid from landscape contractors A and J Shooter of San Rafael for landscaping, paving and general improvement at Adaline E. Kent School. The board decided to consult its architect before proceeding further with bidding.

MILK PROGRAM — Held over until its next meeting a decision on participation in a federally subsidized milk program.

ATTENDANCE — Approved four interdistrict attendance agreements and rejected one from the Mill Valley School District because no agreement exists with the Mill Valley district.

Bomb Threat Delays Willy Brandt On Flight From Bonn To Moscow

BONN (UPI) — A bomb threat today caused a two-hour delay in Chancellor Willy Brandt's flight to Moscow to sign a nonaggression treaty with the Soviet Union which he said would help make "peace in Europe more secure."

A search of the plane turned up no evidence of any bomb and it took off on the three-hour flight to the Soviet capital at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT).

Moments after the Boeing 707 jetliner carrying Brandt, his official party and 106 newsmen started taxiing for takeoff, an anonymous telephone call was received by the control tower at Wahn Airport saying a bomb had been placed on the plane.

The jetliner stopped so it could be searched. Fire trucks surrounded the plane, parked at the end of a runway, and police cleared public galleries around the administration buildings.

In a statement made at the airport just before leaving, Brandt declared the treaty renouncing the use or threat of force "preserves our national interests, should make peace in Europe more secure, and will be a good starting point for the development of our future relations to the Soviet Union, and also to other East European partners."

"This signature does not take effect upon signature," the chancellor went on. "The federal government assumes the signature also will be helpful for a satisfactory solution of the Berlin question by the Four Powers."

The United States, Britain, France and Russia have been negotiating since early summer on Western proposals for ending the recurring Berlin crises provoked by Moscow's challenge to the city's links to the west.

The talks are now in recess but will resume in September. Brandt's government has said it will not let the nonaggression treaty be ratified by Parliament or take effect until and unless the Russians do agree to improvements in Berlin's situation.

In a separate news conference, Foreign Minister Walter Scheel declared he considers Russia's actions in the Berlin matter to be "the test case" for deciding whether the West should take part in the European security conference Moscow wants.

But Scheel, who negotiated the treaty with Moscow and accompanied Brandt today for the signing ceremony, said he is confident the pact will encourage the Russians towards Berlin compromises.

"Our talks in Moscow and our treaty have an influence on the Berlin talks, and I believe all will agree it is a positive influence," Scheel said.

Brandt was the first west German Chancellor to visit Moscow since the late Konrad Adenauer went 15 years ago to take up diplomatic relations.

New Rights Chief Discussion Set

Recruitment for a new executive director of the human rights department will be discussed tomorrow night at a meeting of the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

The meeting will be held in the planning commission chambers of the Civic Center at 8 p.m.

The commission's regular meeting date is Thursday but the session was advanced to tomorrow because two commissioners could not attend on Thursday, secretary Anne Smith explained.

Since Austin J. Thompson resigned as executive director in June, Mrs. Smith has been managing the office. She said the commission hopes to hire a new director at $1,000 per month as of Oct. 1.

Novato Sanitary District Budget Left Unchanged

The Novato Sanitary District Board last night reviewed its 1970-71 preliminary operations budget of $297,000, making no changes.

District Mgr. Charles A. Joseph said he expects the budget to produce a tax rate increase of approximately two cents per $100 assessed valuation over the current rate of 31.5 cents if no changes are made.

The board also approved plans for a sewer main extension to serve Western Oaks Village Unit No. 1 subdivision south of the Scottsdale development on Highway 101, and passed a resolution aimed at annexing the San Marin East area on both sides of San Marin Drive West of Highway 101.

Bicycle Hits Car, Rider Breaks Arm

A 9-year-old San Francisco boy was reported in good condition with a broken arm today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco after his bicycle collided with a car in Inverness.

The California Highway Patrol said Joseph A. Lucas was riding his bicycle on Cameron Street near Douglas Street at 10:30 a.m. yesterday when it collided with a car driven by Joan T. Kurtz, 40, of Aberdeen Way, Inverness.

Lucas also suffered arm and face cuts and was treated at the West Marin Medical Center before being taken to the hospital.

Lapchick Funeral Set For Thursday

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI) — Services for Joe Lapchick, 70, St. John's basketball coach who died Monday, will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at St. Denis Church in Yonkers, N.Y.

Lapchick had a career coaching record of 335-118 during 19 years as head coach at St. John's, including four National Invitation Tournament victories. He later coached the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association and reached the NBA playoff finals in 1951, 1952 and 1953.

Lapchick, who was a member of the "Original Celtics" during the 1920's and 1930's along with Nat Holman, Johnny Beckman, Pete Barry and Dutch Dehnert, retired from coaching in 1965 after suffering from heart disease.

Salute To Joe Louis—Champ Down, But Not Out

By JIM MURRAY

The word, "champ," has come in for a good deal of misuse. Rotarians call each other "champ." Chamber of Commerce - types abuse it. People use it to summon bartenders. Backslappers throw it around like confetti.

To me, the word, "champ," denotes — and it always will — a tawny, lightning-reflexed young man out of Detroit in the 30s. His left was a blur. His right was an explosion. He knocked people kicking without changing expression. He looked at the world with sad, weary eyes.

They called him, in that more innocent — or more guilty, if you will — age, the "Brown Bomber," the "Dark Destroyer." Strong men turned to jelly when they fought him.

He wasn't a braggart. He went about his business with a "this is gonna hurt me more than it is you" expression. He seemed to pity his opponents.

He never made the mistake of equating a white man with the courage to climb in a 16-foot ring with him under blazing light with only a pair of shorts and a pair of gloves to protect him with a cowardly character who rode out of the night in a pack hidden by darkness and a bedsheet and armed with a rope and a gun.

He never deliberately taunted, baited or tortured an opponent. He knocked them unconscious as quickly as he could, murmured, "Another lucky night," and left the ring, unsmiling, apparently unhappy. He never hurt anybody except in a ring. Plenty of people hurt him. He never said an unkind word about any of them.

This was "The Champ." You better believe it. This was one of the most beautiful human beings who ever entered professional sports. This was a man who looked around a dressing room at a sniffling, sobbing, weeping crowd of people after a young bull from Brockton had half-killed him and knocked him consciousless and shrugged, "I knocked out lots of people."

This was Joseph Louis Barrow. Occupation: Champion.

Way back in 1916, in a cotton patch in Lexington, Ala., Monroe Barrow, a giant of a man, melancholy, defeated by life, weary of trying to keep his tar paper shack and pitiful store of clothing and bedding suitable for a family of 10, cracked and was led away to the Searcy State Hospital for the Insane where he died over a year later.

He never knew that his 2-year-old son would go on to become the most famous black man in America or the world, would become the mightiest fist-fighter the sport had ever seen, would make — and lose — several million dollars.

Today, Monroe Barrow's son is in a mental institution in Denver. Joe Louis Barrow didn't become violent, irrational, irritable or demonic. He just retreated into a cave of his own fears. Groundless fears. Joe is the same gentle giant he has always been. Joe Louis has finally found somebody to fear — Joe Louis. It is the one opponent he cannot take out in one round.

Is life that inescapable? Does this have to be? Does Monroe Barrow's son have to find the same exit from a harsh world as his daddy did?

Not if I can help it. We're all on trial here. If there's a man out there Joe Louis did an instant's harm to — aside from knocking him down at a pay rate of $200,000 a minute — you may be excused.

The rest of us should be advised that they are giving a "Salute To the Champ Joe Louis" Night in Detroit Tomorrow, at Cobe Arean. Bill Cosby will emcee, Red Foxx will make jokes, Mahalia Jackson will make great music. A lot of other groups will make noise.

If you can't be there, pass the buck. Put it in an envelope and mail it to Salute To The Champ, Joe Louis, c/o Bank of the Commonwealth, P.O. Box 3156, Detroit, Mich. 48231.

The ring has left a lot of human debris around our country. But not The Champ. The count hasn't even reached 9. And Joe has gotten off the floor before.

Let's pull for one more lucky night. As they say in the fight game, always stick with The Champ.

Leo On Way Out If Cubs Don't Make A Comeback

CHICAGO — Last time the Giants visited Chicago, the Cubs were comfortably in front in the National League East. That was in June and the Cubs were leading both Pirates and Mets by five games.

In the intervening two months, the Cubs have played seven under .500. They had been nine over .500. So their lead evaporated and now they are in third place.

The word around The Loop is that Leo Durocher goes if the Cubs don't make a comeback. But that's not exactly news. They were saying the same thing last year. Then, the one man with the authority to bounce Durocher said he would still be manager of the Cubs this year.

Phil Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, keeps a close watch on his team — but from a distance. Unlike Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, Wrigley is not at the ball park every day. After all, baseball is just a sideline with the chewing gum king.

Boss Popular With Players

However, that doesn't mean Wrigley is out of touch with what goes on in Wrigley Field. He checks the pulse of the Cubs closely. His popularity with the players always has been high but never as high as it is this year.

The feeling of loyalty Wrigley has for Cub players is reciprocated by them. Cub players trust him. They even sought his advice, not their own players association, during disputes between the association and baseball owners.

Leo Wasn't Fair To His Team

Wrigley counseled the Cubs to be loyal to their own organization since they were members of it.

All of Wrigley's comments on the Cubs have been in the welfare of the players. When Durocher took a weekend leave from the team last year without telling anybody why, Wrigley was angry "because it wasn't fair to the players."

Wrigley found no fault with the reason why Durocher left the club —to be at a Wisconsin boys camp with his stepson. But Wrigley did find fault with Durocher for not being straightforward in the matter. Durocher had said he was sick.

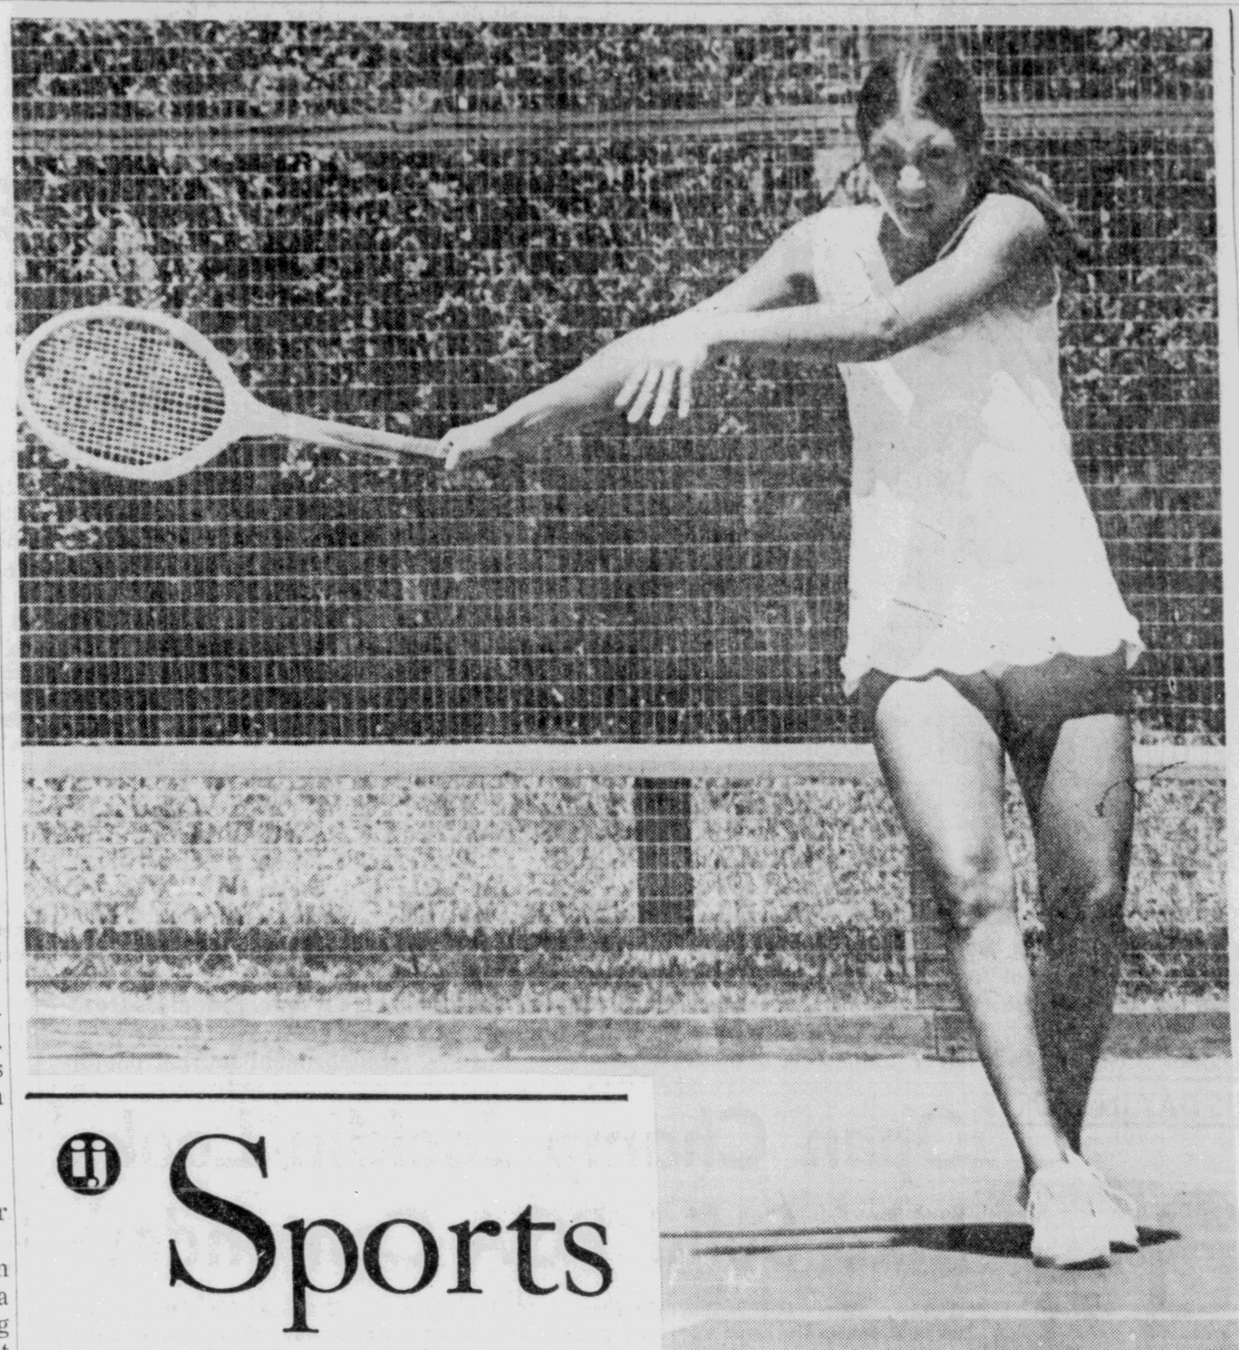
Wrigley called Durocher into his office on that occasion. It wasn't the first time Durocher left the team without an explanation. In Pittsburgh a year ago Durocher left the club and the Cubs dropped a 3-2 decision in 10 innings.

Took Day Off To Get Married

It turned out that Durocher also had a valid reason for that leave, too. He took the day off for his wedding to the former Lynn Walker Goldblatt.

"I guess we'll just have to forgive Leo this time," said Wrigley. "Any man is entitled to a day off for his wedding. But I don't like the way he went about it. It wasn't fair to the players."

Wrigley might not be as forgiving this year if the Cubs don't make a comeback, especially after their 1969 collapse during which a 9½ game lead on Aug. 13 was erased by the miracle stretch drive of the Mets.



A CHAMPION AT SWEET SIXTEEN

Lissy Manheim of Tiburon, pictured in recent Marin County tournament, won the girls' 16 age championship at the Portola Valley (San Mateo County) Junior Tennis Tournament Saturday. Other Marin champions were Diane DeMartini of Greenbrae and Cary Stansbury of San Rafael in the 12-year-old divisions.

Triumphant A's Home

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (UPI) — The resurgent Oakland A's are reeling in the slack in the American League West.

They returned home from Minnesota today after three straight victories which yanked the high-riding Twins down to six games ahead of California and seven ahead of the A's.

They returned home from Minnesota today after three straight victories which yanked the high-riding Twins down to six games ahead of California and seven ahead of the A's.

Monday's 7-3 win over the Twins followed a twinbill sweep on Sunday, but prior to that the challenging A's had only been able to throttle the Twins twice in nine tries.

Rick Monday applied the wood for Oakland's win Monday, whacking a homer, two doubles and a single, while Tommy Davis, Tony LaRussa and ex-Twin Don Mincher added three hits apiece as the A's chalked up a season high 19 hits off four Minnesota pitchers.

Monday's eighth homer of the season came with the bases vacant in the third, after Sal Bando doubled in the previous inning and scored the A's opening run on Frank Fernandez' single.

After Monday doubled in the seventh, Davis singled and took second when Monday was thrown out at the plate. He scored when Cesar Tovar bobbled Mincher's single to left.

FOUR MORE

Oakland added four more runs in the eighth with six straight hits. LaRussa doubled, Jim Grant beat out a bunt, Bert Campaneris singled, Monday doubled and Davis and Mincher added singles.

The win was Diego Segui's seventh of the season against eight defeats. Former Twin Jim Grant pitched three innings for his 20th save, after collecting his 19th against his former teammates in Sunday's nightcap.

The A's inaugurate a nine-game homestand tonight with Jim Hunter (15-9) on the mound against the Cleveland Indians' Dean Chance (7-5).

SURGERY MAY SAVE CAREER FOR CERRUDO

Golf pro Ron Cerrudo of Napa, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cerrudo of San Rafael, was to undergo surgery on a ruptured disc today at Stanford Medical Center.

The ailment, apparently stemming from an old football injury, threatens his entire golf career, but doctors believe he will be able to swing a golf club again in two months.

Cerrudo, 25, had won one tournament and nearly $30,000 this year until March when the pain began to ruin his game.

Sharon Wins Opener

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif., began defense of her U.S. girls' 18-and-under grass court tennis championship Monday with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Daryl Gralka of Houston at the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Second-seeded Janet Newberry, LaJolla, Calif., scored a 6-1, 6-0 triumph over Mary Miller, Atlanta.

Other seeded players to advance included Chris Evert, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., a 6-1, 6-3 victor over Gale Lipton, Encino, Calif.; Eliza Pande, Palo Alto, Calif., who defeated Nancy Wheelwright, Bethesda, Md., 6-0, 6-0, and Laurie Tenney, Los Angeles, who eliminated Sandy Stamp, Deersdfield, Ill., 6-1, 6-0.

Also, Marcelyn Louie, San Francisco, over Claudia Smith, Lancaster, Pa., 6-1, 8-6; Nancy Ornstein, Washington, D.C., defeating Kay Reed, Cleveland, 6-2, 6-0; Kristien Kemmer, Los Angeles, over Carol Sawyer, Wilmington, Del., 6-0, 6-0.

PRO FOOTBALL CAMPS

Ex-Glamor Stars Norton, Appleton Can't Make It

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Add Rick Norton's name to the long lists of glamor college quarterbacks who never quite made it with the pros.

For every Joe Namath who lives up this college reputation, there are several QBs like Norton who fail to display the form in the pros that they had in college.

Norton, who gained over a thousand yards passing at Kentucky for three consecutive years while tossing for 24 TDs, threw just six TD passes in four years with the Miami Dolphins and was one of eight players placed on waivers Monday when the squad was reduced to 66 players.

Norton was a first round bonus pick of the Dolphins when the club was formed in 1966. He signed a four-year $300,000 contract and was the player the Dolphins were going to build the franchise around.

BAD START

Norton got off to a bad start in his rookie year when he suffered a fractured jaw and missed the final half of the season. The next season the Dolphins drafted Bob Griese of Purdue and Griese quickly beat Norton out of a job.

Another big college name who didn't make it is Scott Appleton, the former Texas star who was cut by the New Orleans Saints. The Saints are the third pro team to get rid of him.

In other training camp action, the Washington Redskins lopped three veterans—halfback Gerry Allen, tackle Ken Kortas and quarterback Dan Talbott—off their squad. Green Bay got its squad down to 55 players by cutting 10, including three-year veteran Claudis James. Pittsburgh also tried 10 players, including Bobby Compbell, a fifth round draft choice from the Penn State.

Houston announced that Sonny Bishop, the veteran offensive guard, is quitting after eight seasons in pro ball. He has been with Houston since 1964. San Diego cut nine players, including three veterans—Don Alley, im Campbell and Leveret Carr.

STAR HOLDOUT

Lem Barney, the star cornerback who has been a holdout reported to the Detroit Lions camp even though the still hasn't signed. He could play out his option if he doesn't come to terms.

Buffalo cut eight players, including veterans Bobby Crockett and Ben Gregory.

The New York Jets announced that standout defensive end Gerry Philbin will undergo a shoulder operation and miss more than half the season. Since Al Atkinson has retired and Jim Hudson and Larry Grantham are coming back from injuries, the Jet defense could be shaky.

Meanwhile, nothing has been heard from the Jet offense—Joe Willie You-Know-Who. He's still expected to play this season, though, and might even be back within a week so he can play against the Giants on Aug. 23.

49ERS TRIM SQUAD

Place Kicker Gavric, Four Others Released

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers cut five players Monday, including soccer-style place kicker Momcilo Garvic who was the team's third leading scorer the second part of last season.

A team spokesman said Gavric became "expendable" when "dependable" Bruce Gossett was obtained from the Los Angeles Rams during the off-season.

The Yugoslavian-born place kicker had 31 points last season but made only three of 13 field goals.

The other men who were handed their releases all were rookies.

They were: wide receiver Danny Crockett, an 11th round draft choice from Toledo University; defensive tackle Willie Peake of Alcorn A&M in Mississippi, an 11th round pick in 1969; linebacker Willie King of Arkansas A&M and cornerback Tom Robinson of Colorado State, both free agents.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Al Robinson, 136, Oakland, stopped Henry Olea, 138, Phoenix, Ariz. (1). Steve Carter, 202, Oakland, outpointed Ray White, 182, Hollywood (10).

DALLAS (UPI)—Curtis Cokes, 161, Dallas, stopped Panny Perez, 157, New York (7).

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Denny Moyer, 160, Portland, Ore., stopped Mike Seyler, 154, Eugene (9). Len Kesey, 142, Eugene, stopped Jimmy Ligons, 136, Los Angeles (5).

Wilson Sparks Sohner Victory

Former professional baseball player Doug Wilson slammed a triple and single and scored two runs to lead Sohner Tree Service to a 4-2 victory over Perry's Delicatessen last night in San Rafael Class A Softball League action at Albert Field.

In another A League game last night Two Turtles nipped Brandon Tires 1-0 on Tom Jones' ninth inning squeeze bunt, his fourth hit of the game.

In 16-inch softball league, the Bombers bombed the Native Sons 11-8. Dick Bastion and Roger Hillman each had three hits for the Bombers; Tay Johnstone had a triple and double and Gary Frugoli collected five hits for the losers.

Frazier Vs. Foster Title Bout Planned

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Nev. (UPI) — Joe Frazier will meet light heavyweight king Bob Foster in Detroit on or around Oct. 22, according to the champ's manager.

Yank Durham said Monday night plans for the bout were just about set.

Durham praised Foster as a tough challenger for Frazier.

"Frazier will obviously outweigh him since Foster will probably come in at about 180. But Foster is very tall and a terrific puncher. I was really impressed with him."

Frazier has been working out and sparring in the afternoons at the Sahara Tahoe Hotel. At night, he sings as part of the current show there headlined by singer Teresa Brewer.

Durham said the high altitude and the good running facilities have helped Frazier stay in top shape. But he said the champ would go into heavy workouts about Sept. 1.

Further evidence that a Foster-Frazier fight is in the works came from reports that Lou Viscusi, Foster's manager, had discussed details for the match with the World Boxing Association WBA executive committee in Montreal.

He planned to discuss the fight more fully before the full convention today.

Some Notes And Quotes From Marin Deer Camps

By AL GIDDINGS

On the deer hunting front, the take has been fair. Here are some facts:

The Jim and George Grossi ranches at Novato took 11 bucks over the first weekend. That is the most they've ever taken on an opening weekend.

Checked a buck killed by E. Zunino in the Point Reyes Locker Plant. Hope he sent his tag in because he's running for judge, you know!

My daughter, Marylu took a friend, Ken Walker of Woodacre, hunting, guided him up to two bucks standing together, then watched him miss both. She forgot to shoot, too!

At one of the Pt. Reyes restaurants, I asked a gal there if her husband had gotten his buck yet. Her answer, "He can't get a buck with a bar stool" was interesting! She bought me a free lunch when I threatened to name and quote her in the column. She doesn't know much anyway! Lots of bucks have been killed by those using those Pt. Reyes bar stools! Some whoppers, too!

LOCAL TROUT plants for this week only at Mendocino County at the East Branch of the Russian, and the Russian River between Squaw Rock and Ash Creek. No Marin County plants scheduled.

CALIFORNIA's 1970 dove season opens statewide at one-half hour before sunrise on Tuesday, Sept. 1.

The Fish and Game Commission, at a meeting in San Diego, formally adopted a split 46-day dove seaon opening Sept. 1 and continuing through Wednesday, Sept. 30, then reopening Nov. 28-Dec. 13. The opener is the earliest date allowed by international agreements and the migratory bird hunting framework set by the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Seasons and limits are the same as last year with a dove limit of 10 per day, 20 in possession after opening day. White-winged doves may be taken only in Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The bag and possession limit applies in the aggregate of species where whitewings are allowed.

THE BAND-TAILED pigeon season will open Saturday, Oct. 3 and continue through Sunday, Nov. 1 in the counties of Butte, Del Norte, Glenn, Humboldt, Lassen, Mendocino, Modoc, Plumas, Shasta, Sierra, Siskyou, Tehama and Trinity. The balance of the state will open for band-tail shooting on Saturday, Dec. 12 and continue through Sunday, Jan. 10, 1971. The bag and possession limit is eight per day.

Shooting hours for both doves and pigeons are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

CALIFORNIA HAD 767,149 paid holders of hunting licenses and 2,294,430 licensed sportfishermen — both record figures — during the 1969-70 fiscal year.

The totals were reported by the Department of Fish and Game to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which bases apportionments to states of federal aid funds for fish and wildlife restoration on license sales.

The DFG reported sales of 410,869 deer tags, 225,110 pheasant tags and 34,158 bear tags during the fiscal year.

Angling license sales included 2,093,271 resident angling licenses, 166,120 3-day Pacific Ocean licenses, 11,372 regular nonresident angling licenses and 23,627 10-day nonresident licenses. A total of 32,192 free licenses was issued to such persons as recipients of state old age security, senior citizens whose income is not over $140 per month, disabled and hospitalized veterans.

ARRESTS FOR fish and game violations — and fines paid by violators — were higher during the first six months of 1970 than for the same period the previous year.

The DFG reported today a total of 7,895 arrests for the first six months of 1970, compared with 7,326 during the corresponding period of 1969.

Fines levied by courts were $230,497 this year, compared with $211,971 for the first half of 1969.

Bouton Retires, Plans Sequel, Movie

HOUSTON (UPI)—Jim Bouton retired from baseball one moment and announced future publishing plans and how a movie should be made from his controversial first book in the next.

As far as baseball is concerned, Bouton said he would only return to the sport if the Houston Astros recalled him. On July 1 the Astros sent Bouton to their American Association farm club in Oklahoma City. He had a 4-6 record and 5.42 ERA so far this season.

Bouton said Monday he was retiring because "I just can't get anybody out."

OTHER PLANS

But Bouton said he has plans —some he talked about and others he didn't. The projects he did not discuss at length were "the few job opportunities" he has been offered.

But he did discuss a sequel to his best selling "Ball Four," a book which has provoked some anger from fellow baseball players and resulted in a talk with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

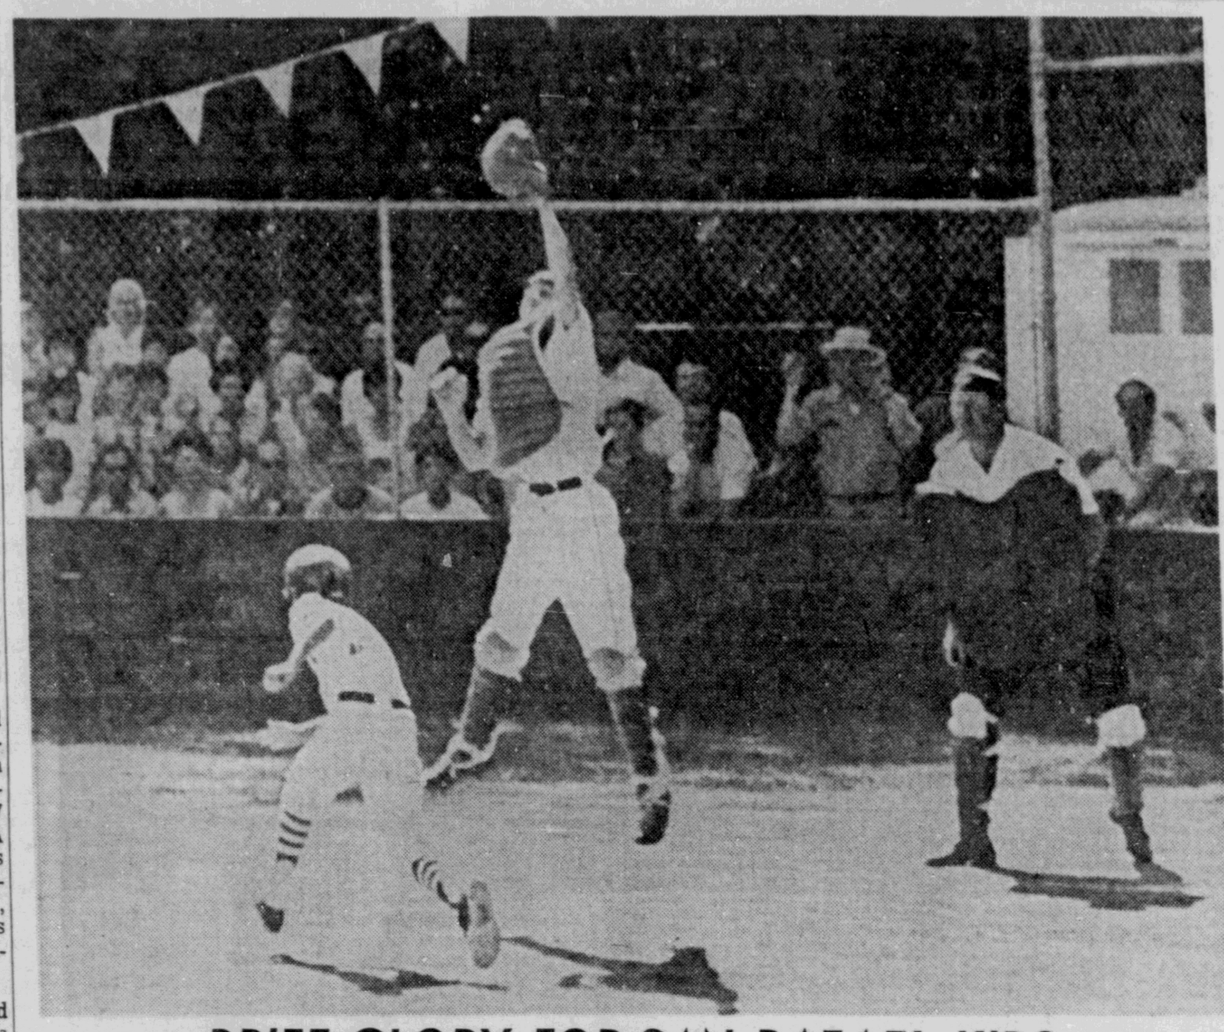
Bouton said the book ay be about the reaction to "Ball Four" and his tentative title is "I'm Glad You Didn't Take It Personal."

The one-time New York Yankee who tried to make a comeback as a knuckleball pitcher also said if a movie is made from his first book he would like it to star Elliot Gould (the star of "M-A-S-H" and "Getting Straight") and be directed by Mike Nichols (who directed "The Graduate" and "Catch-22").

BASEBALL EPICS

He specifically said he would like the movie to be out of the realm of ordinary baseball epics such as "The Babe Ruth Story" and "The Monte Stratton Story."

Bouton said he did not retire because of the reaction to the book but admitted he doubted if any other team would want his services because of "Ball Four." He said he would only return to baseball if the Astros want him back but he doubted if the team did.



BRIEF GLORY FOR SAN RAFAEL KIDS

San Rafael's Bryan Shelly, who opened the game with a hit, later scored this first inning run on a hit by Jeff Knotts during Saturday's championship game in the Little League Sectional Tournament at Novato. San Rafael jumped off to a 2-0 first inning lead, but Concord roared back to win the game, 9-2, and eliminate the Marin County champions from further competition. Concord catcher is Mark Spanka.

METS WIN

Seaver Predicts Pirate Collapse

By IRA MILLER

Just like last year, Tom Seaver thinks pitching will make the difference in the National League stretch run. But this year, he says it will b the Pittsburgh Pirates' pitching, not his New York Mets, that decides the Eastern Division pennant.

"I think their pitching is going to hurt them going down the stretch," Seaver said after pitching the Mets to a 10-2 victory over the Pirates Monday night for a split of their four-game series.

Although the split left the Mets exactly where they started the weekend—2½ games behind the Pirates — Seaver was satisfied. The Pirates, not surprisingly, were satisfied too.

"As long as we stay this way, I think in the last month, the pitching will make the difference," Seaver said. "We haven't lost anything. I figured before the weekend that if we got a split here, we'd be in good shape."

The Pirates, happy not to lose ground to their closest pursuer, figure time is on their side.

NOTHING LOST

"We didn't lose anything and we didn't gain anything," said shortstop Fred Patek of Pittsburgh. "We're still 2½ ahead now. We've got to keep winning and they've got to keep winning. The thing is, they've got to catch us."

Seaver survived a rocky three-walk one-double first inning and then blanked the Pirates on five singles the rest of the way to notch his 17th victory and tie Minnesota's Jim Perry for the major league leadership. The Mets-Pirates game was the only game in the National League Monday night.

LIGHTS OUT

At Pittsburgh, the lights at new Three Rivers Stadium went out just as the game was to begin and when it finally started 27 minutes later, there was a crowd of 47,148-second largest in Pittsburgh history. It didn't take them long to find out what Seaver was talking about.

In the first five innings, three Pirate pitchers walked 11 batters — including four in a row at one stretch — to help the Mets put the game away. The Mets scored their first nine runs on just six hits.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

It's unnatural for a bowler to move her elbows outward when preparing to make her approach. Such a move places too much pressure on the hands and can't help but cause inconsistency in the delivery later. At address, see that your elbows are close to your body. Your right arm should always stay close although the left swing outward later for balance.

Four Knockdowns In First Round Of Oakland Bout

OAKLAND (UPI) — Scoring four knockdowns in the first round, Al Robinson of Oakland needed only two minutes and 53 seconds to knock out Henry Olea of Phoenix Monday at Oakland Auditorium.

In a 10-round heavyweight co-feature 202-pound Steve Carter of Oakland was awarded a unanimous decision over 182-pound Ray White of Hollywood.

A punishing right to the ribs floored the 138-pound Olea the first time and he never recovered, going down two more times from Robinson's hooks to the midsection. A right to the chin produced the final knockdown and the referee gave the fight to the 136-pound former Olympic silver medalist.

It was Robinson's 10th victory in 11 professional bouts.

In his first start in over two years, Kim Booker of Oakland won his eighth straight middle-weight fight with a first-round knockout over Ted Lidgett of Bakersfield, Calif.

Lame Ben Hogan Quits Tourney

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Ben Hogan, after testing his ailing knee in two practice rounds over the hilly Southern Hills Country Club course, today withdrew from the 52nd PGA Championships starting Thursday.

"I can't play, I am lame," the 58-year-old two-time PGA champion said in a clubhouse interview. "My knee is too gimpy. It has stiffened up."

Open Champ Jacklin Looks Like Solid PGA Contender

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Tony Jacklin is feeling the same way he did just before he won the U.S. Open, and that could mean the $40,000 first prize in this week's PGA championship is about to be converted into pounds.

But then Jacklin feels the same way before every tournament.

"I am the worst practice player in the world," Jacklin said Monday after finishing a practice round. "I just don't concentrate too hard in practice rounds. I just don't like to practice.

"I didn't play well in practice rounds before the Open. I had no inkling that I was hitting it well enough to win."

All Jacklin did at the Open was win by seven shots over Dave Hill, becoming the first Britisher to capture that title since Ted Ray did it in 1920.

Jacklin, resplendent in pink slacks, took advantage of a temporary break in hot Oklahoma weather Monday to play with Ben Hogan, Bert Yancey and Jack Burke Jr.

PRAISES COURSE

He said it was his first serious effort at scoring over the 6,962-yard, par 35-35—70 Southern Hills Country Club course, and like everyone else who has played the plush layout thus far, he came away with praise.

"They have set this course up very well," he said. "The greens are holding, and the fairways are narrow. I think it's a good golf course.

"Even par (280) ought to win in a walk. Let's just say I would like to shoot par."

Jacklin was not too close to par Monday, coming away with a 74. And that brings up his general distaste for practice rounds again.

"It doesn't make any difference how you shoot practice. It doesn't make any difference if you shoot a 56. I really don't start getting on edge or start concentrating really hard until the tournament starts."

STRIKING SIMILARITY

Jacklin found, in his early tours of the course, one striking similarity to the Hazeltine course at Chaska, Minn., where he captured the Open two months ago.

The unique 17th hole at Hazeltine, where Jacklin kept his momentum going with two super shots on two consecutive days, looks a lot like the 17th at Southern Hills.

Both are par four holes where an iron or a four-wood is used off the tee for placement on a fairway that slopes sharply from left to right.

"They are not dissimilar," Jacklin said. 'At Hazeltine you had to worry about trees on the 67th, and here it is the rough."

In June Jacklin drove into the trees on both the second and third rounds, but played superlative and somewhat dangerous recovery shots in both cases. He returned the second round recovery shot into a birdie and saved par during the third round.

And he showed he liked the 17th at Southern Hills Monday. He birdied it.

Hairy Vallejo Star Traded To Hawaii

HONOLULU (UPI) — Henry Thomas Mark McGraw got a haircut and a Hawaii islander uniform Monday night after being suspended by the Eugene Emeralds for boycotting barbers.

The Islanders traded pitcher Dale Roberts to the Philadelphia farm club for the suspended McGraw who arrived today, settled himself into a barber's chair and ordered a "neck trim."

When he arrived on the field Monday night, the hefty Irishman from Vallejo, Calif., had his locks neatly tucked under his cap, and they were much shorter than those of some of the other Islander players.

During batting practice, McGraw sidled over to Islander manager Chuck Tanner and eyed his long sideburns. "Chuck," he said, "they'd never let you manage a ball club in Eugene with those."

Tanner ade a note of McGraw's recently - snipped locks and observed that anybody who is hitting in the .300 bracketa nd has 14 home runs to his credit couldn't possibly have hair any longer than his.

McGraw, who drew a suspension without pay July 12, for refusing to get a haircut, blamed his suspension from the Emerals on "their double standard,"

"In the major leagues," McGraw explained, "Anything goes as long as you produce. But in the minors, some clubs set up their own rules.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sears, Zayre Both Promise Good Gain

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to invest graduation money in Sears, Roebuck or Zayre Corp., since my family is in the retail trade. I'd appreciate your comments. — J.F. / Please give me information on Sears, Roebuck. — A.W.

A. Basic economics shifts usually are not reflected in public spending habits for many months after the change has been firmly established. Laggard John Q. Public, recently recognizing the year-old economic downturn, has been saving more and spending less according to the latest Department of Commerce statistics. As a result, retail sales have been sluggish. Eliminating inflationary price increases, sales in recent weeks have been flat on a year-to-year basis. Although sales for both Sears and Zayre were at record levels in the 5-week period ended July 4, 1970, the margin of gain was sharply reduced. Therefore, profits will undoubtedly suffer again in the second quarter ended July 31, 1970. Whether consumer spending will pick up in the final half is the subject of sharply polarized debate. In spite of the somewhat bearish near-term outlook for retailers, long-term the picture is bright for both Sears and Zayre. President Stanley H. Feldberg of the latter company sees fiscal 1970-71 sales gaining 17 per cent to a record $700 million, benefiting in part from the 10-15 new stores to be opened this year. Expansion, which has been aggressive, has been effected through taking over operation of formerly leased departments, acquistions and opening of new retail outlets. Sears' unbroken record of sales and earnings improvement is expected to continue again this year, with $3 per share looked for. At 21 times this figure, Sears' shares are trading at the lower end of their historical earnings multiple. Although Zayre at only 11 per cent estimated results has a greater degree of risk, upside leverage is proportinately broader. Thus Zayre would appear better suited to a young man's investment needs.

Dymo Industries To Omit Stock Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Directors of Dymo Industries Inc. has voted to omit the 3 per cent annual stock dividend usually announced at this time. The company reported higher earnings and sales for the year ended June 30.

Dymo last paid the 3 per cent dividend in October 1969. Rudolph Hurwich, Chairman, said the board will continue to review its dividend policy periodically.

Stocks Close Lower Again; Session Dull

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed lower in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Declines led advances 810 to 356 among the 1,498 issues crossing the tape. Volume of around 7.4 million shares was slightly below Monday's 7,580,000.

Fourth hour turnover of 750,000 shares was the lowest for the hour since 730,000 shares on Aug. 29, 1967.

There seemed nothing specific to account for the market's current lethargic behavior. "It's simply a case of the line of least resistance," one analyst said. "With nothing to put the market up, it's sagging of its own weight."

It is thought generally that investors are uneasy about the economy and whether a permanent peace settlement is possible in the Middle East.

Big block transactions included an 84,700-share block o RCA at 21 3-4, o 1-2; 167,000 shares of Kinney National Service preferred at 43, off 3; and 26,300 shares of Hammond Corp. at 8, off 1-2.

GAC Corp. and Ryder Systems were active issues trading lower.

Also active were Eastman Kodak, American Smelting and Refining and University Computing.

Most major groups moved in fractions.

General Motors closed off 3-8 at 67 1-4, Chrysler was off 1-4 at 19 5-8 and Ford closed unchanged at 45 5-8.

IBM lost 2 1-4 with a close of 238 1-4, Du Pont closed up 1-2 at 116 1-4 and Xerox gained 1, closing at 68 3-8.

UAL Asks CAB For Fare Hike

CHICAGO (UPI) — United Air Lines, Inc., said has applied to the civil Aeronautics board for a five per cent fare increase to be efective Oct. 15.

"Unless the CAB responds promptly to the need to increase fares the airlines industry will show little net income for 1970," the airline said in filing the application.

George E. Keck, president, said the industry hasn't been able to produce the earnings necessary to fulfill its public service obligations.

NEARBY AND ACROSS RED HILL AVENUE, Rod Silva's Arco service station (or Rod Silva's Richfield, as it was formerly called) has been sold by Rodney J. Silva, who will spend all his time at a service station he has in Petaluma.

New owners David White of Novato and David Law of Petaluma, logically call the station Dave's Arco. They also own another Dave's Arco at Second and E Street, San Rafael, but expect to see this closed by fall with the opening of a new and larger Arco station at Second and D Streets, one block away.

AND ON THE SAME SIDE of the Miracle Mile at 56 Red Hill Avenue, there is a new produce store called Smiling Tom's Proper Foods, located where Col. Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken used to be. This is operated by Thomas Hale, who has retired from a more extensive grocery operation.

MEANWHILE, a new decorating business, David Arrow Interiors, has been opened at 637 San Anselmo Avenue in downtown San Anselmo.

This is a first business venture on his own for David Arrow of Terra Linda, who has been an expediter for a large corporation while doing some decorating work part time. His field is primarily residential and he carries fabric and drapery samples at his office, which is open Mondays through Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

SHORT STOP, INC. has applied for the two inactive offsale general liquor licenses formerly used by Lee Bros. Value World markets in Marinwood and Novato and will use them in new neighborhood convenience stores to be constructed at 141 Bellam Boulevard, San Rafael and at 1410 South Novato Boulevard, Novato.

FRANK O. MYLES of San Rafael has opened his own office at his home at 16 Diego Drive to handle construction and industrial community relations. He was formerly director of public relations for the Associated General Contractors of California in San Francisco. He is also a columnist for the Daily Pacific Builder in that city.

WILLIAM H. STEWART of Lucas Valley has been promoted to director of distribution in the operations division of C and H Sugar Co., San Francisco. Associated with this firm 16 years, he has been manager of distribution planning and analysis since 1967. He previously had held supervisory positions and had been an economist in the market planning department.

J.L. BLAUL of Lucas Valley, an assistant vice president in the executive offices at Bank of America's San Francisco headquarters, has been graduated from the Graduate School of Credit and Financial Management at Dartmouth College.

Shutout Bids Have An Effect Even On Best Bridge Players

Don't let anybody tell you that shutout bids have no effect on him. They affect our best players, as you can judge for yourself by today's hand, taken from the recent world championship in Stockholm.

RICH OPENER

After East's pass, South opened the bidding with three spades. This may be a little rich for your taste, since South has only about four playing tricks, but the fact is that a player will almost never get punished for this kind of bid when the opponents are vulnerable and his side is not. The opponents will almost invariably plunge into the bidding, fearful that they will not collect enough if they double for penalties.

In this case West had a very normal takeout double. He had reason to hope for a vulnerable game even if his partner had a very poor hand. There might even be a slam if his partner had a few minor values. And, in

INTO THE ACT

It was North's turn to get into had a lay-down slam, North bid promised about seven spades headed by the queen-jack-ten, with probably no outside defensive values. What trick could North expect to win on defense?

Fearing that his opponents had a laydown slam, North leaped to five spades. Now it was almost impossible for the opponents to find their best contract.

HOPED FOR BEST

East doubled, hoping to show his values, but West didn't want to take a stab at the best contract at the six-level. He passed and hoped for the best.

The defenders took one trump, one heart, three diamonds and one club, collecting a penalty of 700 points. They expected to lose because at the other table surely East-West would bid and make a slam in hearts or clubs, scoring about 1,400 points.

This may be a story without a moral. In the other room, the East-West pair stopped at five hearts and scored only 680 points.

The best laid plans of mice and bridge players gang oft agley!

DAILY QUESTION

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

The hand is not quite strong enough for an opening bid of two hearts (forcing to game).

$900 In Property Stolen From Auto

Thieves took women's clothing and other personal possessions valued at $900 between 4:30 p.m. Friday and 4:30 a.m. yesterday from a car parked at Denny's Restaurant, Corte Madera police reported.

The car, owned by Sandra Jean McDonald of San Francisco, was entered by unlocking the door with a wire pushed through a wing window, police reported.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 11th, the 223rd day of 1970 with 142 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1909 the first radio SOS was received when the liner Araphoe messaged for help off Cape Hateras, N.C.

In 1954 a formal peace announcement in Indochina ended the seven-and-one-half-year war between the victorious Vietminh forces and the government of France.

In 1962 a Soviet cosmonaut was launched into space on a four-day trip.

In 1965 Negroes began rioting in the Watts section of Los Angeles. During the six days of violence 34 persons were killed and 856 injured.

A thought for the day: Victor Hugo said, "A compliment is something like a kiss through a veil."

Train Cars Jump Rail Near Marin

Nine cars of a 99-car Northwest Pacific freight train were derailed Saturday at 3:48 p.m. five miles south of Petaluma near the Marin County Line.

George Phelps of the Northwest Pacific Railroad said the southbound train was traveling at 35 miles per hour when the last nine cars carrying lumber jumped the track.

He said that 175 feet of track was torn up, but that the line was restored to service early last night. The cause of the mishap had not been determined. There were no injuries.

* If you haven't yet met Shakespeare it's time to meet the bard at Forest Meadows. He has been practicing magic for 350 years. Your chance, now, to see how.

Enjoy one of the finest Shakespearean festivals in the U.S... in the beautiful setting of Forest Meadows Theatre

The time is now to buy tickets to this spectacle under the stars . . . Marin County's own production of magic, color, action and great words.

It's enough that Shakespeare wrote these plays. But to see and hear them in the green of Forest Meadows Theatre (where even a stream flows past the stage) is a play itself on your imagination.

There will be 37 performances during the summer, plus six of the delightful, musical, BRIGADOON. This is rich fare and the dates will fit your plans if you simply plan to attend.

But be careful. DON'T let the days go by. Don't keep Shakespeare waiting - after 350 years! Decide that you must see him. Line up the family, your friends, even a theatre party. Then call the Festival Box Office, 456-1490 - certainly a magic number in entertainment.

If you do nothing else, meet Shakespeare in Marin this summer.

Action At McNear's Beach Calls More County Action

"Now that the County has finally acquired McNear's Beach and begun restoration there, it is a safe bet that it will soon draw more people than it can comfortably accommodate."

"We predict that it will not be long until the place is overcrowded, especially on warm summer afternoons."

Those are statements made in this space two months ago today, shortly before McNear's Beach was reopened as a public recreation area.

As we said, we didn't think it would be long. But we didn't think the crowds would materialize this soon.

BEFORE THE MONTH of July was over, this headline had appeared in the I-J: "Crowds Cause Woes at McNear's Beach."

The new county park, said the I-J report, was "drawing four times the number of people it was designed to handle."

As it stands, the park contains only 13.6 acres of dry land. An approximately equal area owned by the county is submerged.

Of the dry land, a portion is thickly grown steep hillside. The amount which is usable is tiny. There are tennis courts, a swimming pool, some restrooms and utility structures. When 800 people crowd into the park, which has happened already, it looks like a corner of Coney Island beach.

The present park embraces approximately 1800 feet of bay front, but practically none of this is yet usable for the park visitors.

THE REMNANTS of a ruined boat harbor remain to be removed, including rip-rap boulders as well as old pilings, before the beach can once again be usable for park goers.

An adjoining 34 acres is under condemnation, but only eight acres is dry land, adding little to the land surface of the park. About 1,400 feet of usable beach front would be added, however.

Funds are available for this acquistion.

With the crowding what it is, the acquisition can be completed none too soon.

Correction of sewer problems, swimming pool difficulties and other troubles can come none too soon, either.

ANOTHER 600 FEET of potentially usable bay frontage also adjoins the park. It is still owned by McNear interests. It embraces a small, flat-bottomed canyon readily adaptable to picnicking sites.

If McNear's Beach county park is to serve the people who wish to use it, this piece, too, must be added.

The demonstrated need for this park, as evidenced by the unexpected high usage starting immediately after its opening is plain. The County must find funds to develop and expand it.

"FOR MORE THAN two decades the I-J has editorially advocated public acquisition of Marin bayshore lands for recreational purposes. It is good to see that officialdom is moving at last.

"But the moves are too little and almost too late."

We also said that two weeks ago in this space and it still goes.

In the not-too-distant future the County must once again give its attention to preserving China Camp, adjoining McNear's Beach, for continued public use and enjoyment.

"My Fellow Arabs! ... Unaccustomed as I Am ..."

Spices From Our Gardens

Marin's gardens grow many good things. Some of them are delicate seasonings.

Bay trees, a native on the Pacific Coast, provide the bay leaves which lend their flavor to meat dishes.

A neighbor uses the herb, rosemary, as a ground cover. He probably has enough of the stuff to season all the stews in Marin on any given day.

Mint, ginger, chives are just a few of the multitude of seasonings we grow here.

Marin's gardens are not only pretty. They're tasty, too.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Alioto's Ferryboat Enthusiasm Needed On Bridge Bus System

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto is an expert on many things, but like a lot of bigwigs can mistake his enthusiasm for expertise.

Take ferryboats. The mayor knows they are a good thing, so he's all for them. Their memory, after all, is revered by almost everyone except most 1970 commuters.

Peterzell

Alioto got a chance to grandstand his expertise on ferries last week when Golden Gate Bridge District directors got the $14 million ferryboat plan done by naval architect Philip F. Spaulding of Seattle.

Spaulding did not think much of hydrofoils, but Alioto did.

WITH TELEVISION cameras doting on him, Alioto unwound in detail his recollection of a trip aboard a hydrofoil between Denmark and Sweden.

About a dozen others in the crowded room also have been on the vessel, but Alioto managed to give it a personal flavor that made it seem only he had seen the vision of a fleet of the bugs scooting about the bay.

No matter that his details were sort of loused up. He repeatedly said the 35-minute trip covered 25 miles, which would be pretty impressive. Unfortunately, the trip is only 16 miles.

HE ALSO KEPT insisting that hydrofoils on the Scandinavian run cost only $700,000, implying the price tag could be matched on San Francisco Bay. He clearly preferred the $700,000 cost to the $2.1 million cost Spaulding estimated for a sleek displacement hull of his own design.

Spaulding gently noted that the Swiss-designed hydrofoil Alioto was pushing needed 18 feet of water, while channels to the Marin terminals would be only 12 feet deep to avoid even more massive dredging costs. Also, even the largest version of the Swiss design would carry only 250 passengers, compared to the more than 600 on Spaulding's design.

MOST IMPORTANT, the naval architect noted, the Jones Act bars use of foreign vessels in domestic service.

Alioto was unimpressed with this catalogue of problems. "American technology" would come up with an even better design, he insisted.

Perhaps so, Spaulding said, adding neatly that the Swiss design, if built in an American shipyard with American labor costs and to Coast Guard standards, would cost $2.5 million. This would be some $400,000 more than the vessel he had designed for the bay service.

The $700,000 cost was for building the hydrofoil in an Italian shipyard, a point that at least temporarily silenced Alioto.

SPAULDING, despite Alioto's contribution, has given the bridge district what appears to be a highly workable blueprint for getting into the ferryboat business on a full scale. Well, not exactly given. He was paid $55,000. But many observers guessed he spent twice that doing the report.

Now what we need is some mayoral enthusiasm for the bridge district's long-delayed bus system.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editor Of UC Paper Airs Problems, Goals

The heading of your July 22 editorial about the UC News, "University is Many Things Besides Place to Teach," defines precisely the difficulty in putting together a weekly newssheet about the myriad activities of nine university campuses, plus more than a hundred research facilities, our statewide agricultural extension services and university extension which last year attracted more than 290,000 registrations.

While we give space to university research advances in UC News, we don't neglect student opinion and activities, recognizing that we must finally be judged on the accomplishments of 106,000 students currently enrolled, together with thousands of distinguished UC alumni.

The issue mentioned in your editorial is not typical in this respect. The following week's issue (July 24) contained eleven articles, four of which were about students.

Do UC News readers want to know more about University of California course curricula and how classes are structured? Or would they rather learn about some UC discovery which is pertinent to their everyday lives, or which will affect their futures? We reach media across the country and hope to engage the interest of writers and editors with stories of universal appeal. Administrative policies, faculty statements, university governance, etc. are much more fully covered in our internal statewide organ, the University Bulletin.

I agree that UC News should publish more articles about what goes on in the classroom, although it isn't easy for a writer to describe the impact of a brilliant teacher/researcher upon his students. But we'll keep trying to communicate that excitement. Understanding higher education is more important today than ever before and we all have a vital stake in ensuring that understanding.

Thank you for your thoughtful comments. We hope you find UC News interesting. As questions about our clipsheet have arisen during its 45-year history, we have surveyed editors to determine whether they wish to continue receiving the publication. As recently as 18 months ago, your colleagues indicated overwhelmingly their desire to keep the News coming.

What About Dog Leash Law?

This letter to you is to ask why can't something be done about enforcing the dog leash law? I know that is a long standing question among many, many residents of Novato. I suppose the answer, at least one answer, is that people do not want to complain about their friends and neighbors, but what happened to us this past week has really got my dander up.

We've put up with dogs running through our yard, ruining plants, scraping gravel all over the place and leaving numerous calling cards, but up till now we've kept our mouths shut or complained in a nice way. But now I'm just plain mad.

One of our sons had a motorcycle accident this last week, and it was solely due to a dog who was out running without the owner in sight. Thank God he was only traveling 20 miles an hour when the dog ran out in front of him. He was not hurt and only by the grace of God was not killed or crippled for life. Needless to say, his beautiful graduation present that he took such pride in is in a crumpled heap but can be repaired for a price that he will have to pay for out of his hard-earned money when it should be paid for by the owner of that dog. It's not only the money, but it was his only means of transportation to and from his job.

This isn't the only accident we have heard or read about happening because of this serious problem of running dogs. Do these things happen because people don't care, because they're thoughtless, or is it because they are just plain stupid and think the laws apply to everyone but them?

There are so many tragedies in this world that we have no control over as individuals that surely we can do our share to try and control the one we can do something about. Who knows, maybe the next time something like this happens, it could be you or one of your family.

So please, neighbors and friends, keep those dogs fenced in where they can do no harm to themselves or to anyone else, especially to our sons and daughters.

MRS. BETTY GILDAY
Novato.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Nixon Friends, Aiding Gov. Reagan, Want To See Him In White House

LOS ANGELES — On a sentimental pilgrimage just before he flew back to Washington President Nixon visited each place where the course of his life had been charted in his native state. From Yorba Linda, his birthplace, he went to Whittier where he grew up working in his father's store and gas station, then to the house in the Turesdale Estates in the Beverly Hills area where the Nixons lived from 1961 to 1963 and then to the restaurant in Hollywood that had represented for him the big time, big names.

IT WAS THE native son seeing his past unfold from the exalted position of the presidency, the most powerful office in the world. The Nixon story is a Cinderella story, the triumph over adversity and those who spurned him when he ran for governor in 1962.

California is the appropriate setting. On the Pacific slope a way of life has come into being that exerts a powerful attraction. Part of it is a climate, the sunshine, the Golden West.

BUT IT IS MORE than climate. Almost from America's origins this luxuriant, semi-tropical paradise has been a magnet for the earthbound the toilers under dreary, gray skies. The theme runs through much of American literature.

Every Iowa farmer dreamed of fleeing from the sub-zero cold and the blizzards to retire in the Golden West.

While the census figures for 1970 are not yet in final form, there is no question that California is leading. The total for the state approaches 20 million, which is an increase of nearly five million over the 1930 count. Thus, nearly one-tenth of the entire population of the country is concentrated on the slope between the Sierras and the sea.

EVEN MORE significant is the fact that the migration from across the country coninues. From 1965 to 1968 the net gain from migration was 400,000.

In the 25 years since the end of the war enormous fortunes have been made here. In land speculation alone — the rise in land values — it probably exceeds anything in the rest of the nation.

THE MEN OF the new fortunes are the Nixon friends. Their wealth, or a part of it, has gone into the creation of Ronald Reagan as a political figure. And they will give unstintingly to help insure a second term for Governor Reagan with a majority so impressively large, they hope, to put him in the presidential picture.

Alongside this wealth there has been great poverty. After many months of struggle and a nationwide boycott of California table grapes, Cesar Chavez won a union contract for the grape pickers. It will be a long time, however, before they move out of poverty.

THIS POVERTY has been more or less taken for granted. What is currently happening is far more disturbing. With the sharp downturn in the aero-space and the aircraft industries, California's unemployment is perhaps 6 per cent, a point above the national average. It has hit many of the technicians and engineers who migrated here to get in on the bonanza.

The worm in the golden apple is deeply disquieting. While the rest of the nation may see the heralded Nixon upturn in the second half of 1970, it is doubtful that this will happen in California.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Galbraith Writes Book, But Also Leads Referendum '70

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith is doing more than just writing magazine articles and books advocating the defeat of Democrats.

The oracular Harvard economist, anti-Vietnam zealot, Kennedy-McCarthyite, former head of the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action and author of a recently published pamphlet, "Who Needs the Democratic Party?", is fronting for an organization with the avowed aim of providing campaign funds and "technical assistance to New Left, pacifist and activist candidates.

Calling itself "Referendum '70," the Galbraith-inspired organization lists him as nominal chairman and Robert Clampitt, a 1968 McCarthy leader, as executive director.

"REFERENDUM '70" is actively supporting some 75 Senate and House Candidates in 27 states, plus two gubernatorial aspirants — Jesse Unruh, die-hard Kennedyite in California, and former Rep. John Gilligan in Ohio.

Highly significant of the real motivation behind "Referendum '70" is that a number of its choices are opposing incumbent regular Democrats.

In other words, "Referendum '70," in effect, is a "spoiler" operation.

It is far more bent on knocking off incumbent Democrats it disapproves of than defeating Republicans.

OUTSTANDING among the prominent Democrats "Referendum '70" is gunning for are —former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic Farmer-Labor candidate for the Senate in Minnesota; Sen. Henry Jackson, Wash., chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee and senior member of the Armed Services Committee, running for a fourth term; and Sen. Gale McGee, Wyo., chairman of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and member of the powerful Appropriations and Foreign Affairs Committees, seeking a third term.

Against these prestigious party and congressional leaders, "Referendum '70" is supporting:

EARL CRAIG, 31, former Afro-American lecturer at Minnesota University, who has never run for public office before. At the DFL state convention, to the astonishment and indignation of the Humphrey camp, the black activist got around 240 of the 1,000 delegate votes. Backing him is a coalition of dissident elements — McCarthyites, Kennedyites, New Left, Students for a Democratic Society, Communists and black militants.

CARL MAXEY, Spokane Negro lawyer, who is drawing from the same elements supporting Craig.

O.P. SVILAR, little-known lawyer, also the standard bearer of such forces in Wyoming. Svilar, like Craig and Maxey, is extremely unlikely to win. Bu their clangorous primary campaigns are forcing Humphrey, Jackson and McGee to dip into hard-to-get electioneering funds and thus considerably reduce their resources for the fall battles against powerful and well-heeled Republican opponents.

As McGee ruefully remarked, "They seem to be a lot more eager to soften me up for my Republican opponent than reelecting a proven liberal Democrat to the Senate."

HUMPHREY, Jackson and McGee, while consistent, steadfast liberals, have supported the Vietnam policy. Recently Humphrey switched and is now siding with the doves.

Craig, Maxey and Svilar, all all-out Vietnam foes favor immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces. They also advocate equally militant domestic and racial policies.

"Referendum '70," in addition to Galbraith and executive director Robert Clampitt, is run, according to its literature, by a seven-member steering committee that, in turn, is part of a 35-member national advisory committee.

Both groups consist almost entirely of Kennedyites and McCarthyites.

Petaluma Police Seeking Respect More Than Just A Raise In Pay

Strikes and walkouts for higher pay are splashed across newspaper pages daily, but in the case of the Petaluma police, wages seemed to be only the surface cause. It boils down to dignity.

Discontent has developed slowly, but strongly, within the department in the past months. To hear some of the officers talk, it's a matter of self-respect and the desire to be respected by others.

Police across the country have certainly experienced the same feeling simply because they wear a uniform and represent the establishment. In Petaluma it goes deeper than that. It appears they are seeking respect for the department as a whole.

IN THE PAST month four officers have resigned. They maintained that money was not the main reason in any of the cases.

Two of the four left the law enforcement field completely, while the other two joined other departments. Since October of 1968, 10 men have moved on.

One of those looking forward to his resignation, who could perhaps look at the situation more objectively than the others, spoke up at a meeting of the police officers association and said that more than a pay increase would be necessary to pull the department together again.

Some of the departing officers have gone so far to say that they couldn't think of a man on the force who was truly worthy of a large salary increase.

THIS DIVISION among the troops also runs deep. None has been heard to openly criticize Police Chief Larry D. Higgins, but they feel it is he who must take responsibility for the discord by virtue of his office.

Higgins has always been known in the community as a gentleman. He has publicly supported his policemen whenever possible and defends his men when riled citizens storm his office.

The community, as a whole, is apathetic about the condition of the police force. Those who did speak out seemed largely in favor of a substantial raise, but the reasons varied.

SOME FELT the officers to be so harassed and underpaid, that only the very best would be good enough. Others supported a raise on the basis that it would attract better qualified men and gradually upgrade the department.

Petaluma police, like their counterparts everywhere, want to be proud of their department. They want to attend county and regional police meetings and feel equal to any man there.

Juvenile Panel Meet

The Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission will meet at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Room 245 of the Hall of Justice to elect officers and appoint a member to the advisory committee for the police-community relations program and a representative to the youth commission.

Nader: Collusion To Avoid Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says a federal investigation is needed to disclose collusion between business and government officials which enables private industry to avoid taxes at the expense of the citizen.

"Nothing short of a federal investigation can begin to disclose the abuses which have woven a fine web of mutually implicating relationships between businessmen and government officials," Nader said in a letter Sunday.

The consumer advocate wrote the letter to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie to urge him to call the investigation of property tax systems under which he said state and local governments are forcing citizens to pay billions in extra taxes private industry should be paying.

Hayakawa Next Harvard Head?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) —Former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner and S.I. Hayakawa, of Mill Valley, president of San Francisco State College, head a list of about 600 men most often suggested as Harvard University's new president, it was learned yesterday.

The suggestions have come in response to an estimated 200,000 requests sent by the Harvard Corporation to students, faculty and employes asking advice on who should replace Nathan M. Pusey when he retires next June after 17 years as president.

Hayakawa could not be reached for comment today. He is vacationing in Japan until September.

South Pacific Hit By Another Explosion As Tourists Invade

TAHITI — There have been two explosions in the South Pacific recently. One is the French atomic bomb and the other is the tourist invasion of Polynesia. It is predicted that while the fallout from the former will blow away, the fallout from the tourist explosion will be around for centuries to come.

Tahiti and the other islands in the South Pacific are caught between cultures. The airplane has made it possible to fly to Tahiti in a matter of hours. The only ones who aren't awed by this are the Tahitians. They don't know who designed the 707 jet but they'd just as soon he'd drown in the nearest atoll.

For hundreds and hundreds of years Tahitians have set their own pace, which is somewhat slower than that of Americans and Europeans.

To cite an example, as of this writing, Tahiti is still celebrating Bastille Day, which took place on the 14th of July.

No one is exactly sure when the 14th of July will be over out here, though some hotel owners, whose help has not come back yet, are hopeful everyone will be at work by Christmas.

In order to enjoy the islands you must understand the thinking of the Tahitians.

The American says "Please, I must have breakfast immediately because I have to catch a plane for Pago Pago."

"Yes, sir," the Tahitian says. But he thinks "I have already had breakfast and besides I do not have a plane to catch, so why is he bothering me with his problem?"

Ten minutes later the American says "Waiter, I must have breakfest now!"

"Yes, sir," the Tahitian says. But he thinks to himself "If I do not give him his breakfast, perhaps the French manager will fire me and then I can go fishing in the lagoon."

Fifteen minutes later a fuming American says "See here, I have been waiting for breakfast for 25 minutes. I haven't even had coffee. I have five countries to see in six days. When I get back to the United States I will tell all my friends not to come to Tahiti."

"Yest, sir," the Tahitian sys, wiping the counter. But the thinks "If he would only keep his promise, then this hotel would close, and I could sleep with my papaya all day long."

The tourist says sternly "Your economy depends on tourism, and you will never prosper and become rich if you don't learn that tourists like to be served fast."

"I know," the Tahitian nods sadly. But he thinks to himself "Who wants to become rich if it makes you so nervous?"

"Don't get me wrong," the tourist says. "I admire your life style. But one must get with the 20th century. You can't just dilly dally all day long. You have to go, go, go."

"Thank you," the Tahitian says. But he thinks, "I wouldn't have to put up with all this garbage if I had gone canoeing with Fredo this morning."

A half hour later the American is now steaming and shouting for the French manager, who is also steaming and yelling.

The Tahitian smiles at both of them and thinks to himself sadly, "I would hate to be a tourist in Tahiti because it's almost impossible to get anything to eat."

Car Crash Hurts 2 In Tam Valley

A Tamalpais Valley woman and an Ohio man reportedly were injured Saturday when their car ran off the road on Marin Drive in Tamalpais Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

Pamela P. Stahl, 20, of 873 Marin Drive, and David R. Siff, 23, of Englewood, Onio, received minor injuries and were taken to Marin General Hospital, the patrol said, but a hospital spokesman had no record of the two being treated.

Officers said the accident occurred at 7 a.m. when Miss Stahl's car, which was backing out of the driveway, hit an embankment and ran off the road.

5,000 Acres Go To Caverns Site

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The addition of more than 5,000 acres to the Mitchell Caverns state reserve in San Bernardino County was announced by the Department of Parks and Recreation.

Director William Penn Mott, Jr., said the $13,940 purchase from the U.S. Bureau of Land Management will eventually be developed for family camping and interpretive trails.

The Public Works oBard has approved the purchase of 640 acres of school lands from the State Lands Commission, Mott said, and leave only one small holding that the Department hopes to acquire eventually.

Bridge Contract Let

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel announced an $8,990,749 contract had been awarded to the Willamette-Western Corp. today for construction of the Auburn-Foresthill bridge superstructure in California.

2 On Motorcycle Hurt In Crackup

Two Marinwood youths suffered minor injuries Saturday when their motorcycle swerved off Shoreline Highway near Stinson Beach School and into a six-foot ditch.

California Highway Patrol officers reported the cycle driven by William Charles Kelly, 22 of 394 Johnstone Drive, traveling north, went off the roadway on a curve at 12:55 p.m.

Kelly who suffered a cut knee and his passenger Steve Wallace, 21, of 248 Blackstone Drive, who suffered a cut left foot and scrapes, were treated at Marin General Hospital.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Skin Cancer Is Easy To Detect Bur Why Take Any Chances?

A reader writes: "I'm a young fair-skinned housewife trying to avoid too much sun. Outdoors I wear big floppy hats and remain in the shade as much as possible. I tan after gradual exposure but try not to overdo it. Does ordinary window glass screen out the harmful ultraviolet rays? I enjoy sitting in the window watching the world go by."

Ordinary window glass, but not all glass, usually absorbs the ultraviolet rays in sunshine. We neglected to mention that this young woman has a family history of skin cancer and she wants to avoid the condition if possible. Fortunately, this form of cancer is easy to detect and cure, but why take a chance.

IN A RECENT issue of Family Health, Edward Edelson mentions the paradoxical behavior of sunlight. Water is a good conductor of ultraviolet rays and a person could burn or get a tan while swimming. Contrary to popular belief, water does not reflect these rays. This is why they pass through thick layers of clouds and could produce a sunburn on an overcast day.

Sand and snow relfect the rays. The same can be said of the cement or tile around the swimming pool. Many suntan creams and ointments contain chemicals that have light-absorbing properties. The thicker these are applied, the more protection they offer. Zinc oxide and titanium ovide provide maximum protection but many people object to the pasty white texture of the salves. Red petrolatum also is effective.

A TAN IS nature's way of protecting against sunburn. There is very little damage to the skin when the bronzed look is acquired slowly. Dark-skinned persons seldom are bothered because they have an inherited tan with enough pigment to form a natural barrier against ultraviolet.

'INSTANT' INFORMATION

L. S. B. writes: Three days ago I sent in a letter and very carefully typed my name, address, and zip code on the enclosed envelope. You probably received the letter on Monday and here it is Thursday, and no reply. Please let me know what happened. P.S. — I also told you in the letter than an immediate reply was needed.

REPLY

All letters accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope are answered. If the mail volume is heavy, this may take a week to 10 days. Some readers enclose an envelope but fail to put on a stamp. Please write again and be sure the return envelope has a stamp on it.

WOBBLY BEFORE BREAKFAST

C. T. writes: I'm weak and wobbly in the morning before breakfast. Is this typical of old age? I'm 74.

REPLY

No, but the condition may occur if the circulation to the brain is a bit sluggish or your blood sugar is low. Sometimes it takes a little while to get the "old machine a-goin."

MUSCLES AND LABOR

L. E. writes: Is it true that muscular women have more trouble giving birth than those with normal muscular development?

REPLY

Only when the pelvic muscles are enlarged to such an extent that they crowd the birth canal.

CONCEPTION IS POSSIBLE

R. C. writes: Can a woman conceive if she has all her pelvic organs except a fraction of one ovary?

REPLY

Yes, provided she is the right age.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Landowner Did Not Act Wisely

Scott owned a small country home on a beautifully wooded hill overlooking a small creek. When Scott built a carport next to his house, he had to fill in the creek and pave a driveway over it. He put a two-foot pipe under the driveway for the creek to run through.

But when the first heavy rain came the creek filled up. The pipe could not carry all the water. It backed up and gathered debris which clogged the pipe and caused a flood. The water spilled over and damaged nearby homes.

When the country fire department tried to dig a new ditch to relieve the clogging, a large soil mass on Scott's land tore loose and slid into his neighbor's swimming pool.

As a rule, the law favors a person who improves his land but Scott had not acted wisely.

If you block or divert the natural flow of a watercourse, you are legally liable for the resulting damage to someone else's property. If you do divert the course, you must provide a proper way to handle the waters to prevent damage.

Another principle also applies to flood waters: The "common enemy" doctrine. These are waters which escape from a stream and overflow on the land. Flood waters, like fire, are the "common enemy" against which anyone may protect his property even if this injures his neighbors'. But this rule applies only to flood water in highly abnormal times.

A rule of strict liaiblity applies to the landowner who creates an abnormal, dangerous condition on his land.

Suppose a landowner creates an artificial lake or stores a large amount of water in his abandoned mine. Through no fault of his, let's say, the water escapes. The law nevertheless holds him strictly liable for any damages the escaped water causes — that is, his neighbor does not have to prove he was negligent before he can collect damages.

HEW Aide Takes Post As Editor

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Creed C. Black, an assistant secretary in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and former executive editor of the Chicago Daily News, has been named editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Black, 45, whose resignation from the HEW is effective Sept. 1, will assume his new post Sept. 14.

The editor's position has been vacant since Knight Newspapers, Inc., assumed control of the Inquirer Jan. 1 from Walter H. Annenberg's Triangle Publications, Inc.

Black left the Chicago Daily News 18 months ago to join the HEW as assistant secretary for legislation.

Actress Offers Rioters Bail

LONDON (UPI) — Actress Vanessa Redgrave went to court Monday to help provide bail for those arrested during Sunday's clash between police and Black Power demonstrators but her help was not needed.

She waited with her brother, Colin, while 18 persons appeared at Marylebone Court on charges that included assaulting policemen, obstruction, possessing offensive weapons and using threatening behavior.

The suspects were bailed on a total of nearly $7,200 until Oct. 28. No one took advantage of Miss Redgrave's offer of assistance.

Police battled with the demonstrators for half an hour before bringing the situation under control. The marchers were protesting what they said was police harassment of blacks.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

'Fresh New Approach To Programming' CBS Credo

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—You could almost hear the gasp of millions of viewers in front of their television sets. Within minutes the switchboard of the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) glowed red with incoming calls. On the screen in what had been advertised as a comedy series a character was actually referring to ethnic minorities in terms rarely used these sensitive days.

The BBC was quite happy about the fuss. Yes, they said, the man on the screen, Alf Garnett by name, was a bigot. He was supposed to embody all the prejudices of his kind. The idea was to bring these into the open and expose them to the healthy ridicule of the nation's laughter. Once this was made clear the series, "Till Death Us Do Part," became one of Britain's funniest shows and the BBC's proudest boasts.

Where else, they hinted, could you produce such a series?

That was before Robert D. Wood became president of the CBS Television Network in Feb. 1969. A man who could fire the Smothers Brothers at the peak of their popularity, and drop the Jackie Gleason, Red Skelton and Petticoat Junction shows when the ratings were still high because they no longer fitted his image of the network, needs no other credentials for programming courage.

Among the 2,100 ideas that passed through his office on the 34th floor of CBS headquarters during the first year of his regime was a program, as yet untitled, inspired by the Bitish series but adapted to fit American situations. He approved it, against the misgivings of some others in the network, in words that echoed what he said about his decision to drop Gleason and Skelton:

"A lot of people think I was wrong and maybe I'll be proven wrong but I'd rather try something and fail than wonder what would have happened if I'd done what I didn't have the courage to do."

Wood doesn't so much sit for an interview as poise in flight. He took over one of the top entertainment and education jobs in the country at a time when networks are facing one of the most challenging years in their history. Next January they lose $200 million worth of tobacco advertising and if the competitive race has a little harsher edge right now it may be because of the feeling that the network that does best in the autumn season will attract the most new commercials after New Year' Day.

What Wood, 45, wants for CBS, he said, is a will to "try the untried . . . a young fresh, new approach to programming."

"I don't want orthodoxy to prevail," he said, earnestly in a concise statement of his credo. "I don't want to get locked in. If there is a new idea I want CBS to have it."

Topless Ruling Ignored In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—New Alcoholic Beverage Control regulations on the apparel and deportment of saloon waitresses and entertainers went into effect Monday, but were not apparent in San Francisco.

A San Francisco Chronicle reporter, after a survey, reported seeing waitresses without pasties, bottomless entertainers and dirty motion pictures.

Drew McKillips, the reporter, said a place that advertised "completely nude go-go girls" was telling the truth.

King Friend Asks Hoover's Suspension

CHICAGO (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover should be suspended for trying to "white mail" the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Rev. Jesse L. Jackson says.

Jackson, head of Operation Breadbasket of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, held a news conference Monday about an article published in Time Magazine. The article says King, late head of the SCLC, met with Hoover in 1964 and was confronted with wiretap transcriptions revealing alleged extramarital activities by King.

CALLS FOR OUSTER

Jackson called on President Nixon to suspend Hoover as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and demanded that Hoover's "fitness for holding office" be reviewed by: The attorney general and the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division; a panel of black jurists and lawmakers; eminent civil rights leaders; and a group of black and white psychiatrists.

"We contend that Mr. Hoover has stooped to the lowest rungs of viciousness and maliciousness in his underhanded dissemination of information regardign a deceased man, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who commited his life and finally gave the last full measure of devotion to the cause of social justice and advancement of racially and economically disinherited."

Jackson said he did not know about a meeting between King and Hoover and "even if it was true it's irrelevant because Dr. King's contribution to his people was not one of sexual prowess but one of commitment to liberation."

CHARGES PLOT

Jackson charged Hoover was guilty of "complicity in a plot designed in essence to 'whitemail,' as formerly in 'blackmail,' and to intimidate Dr. King so as to prevent him from carrying out his civil rights activities.

"Mr. Hoover's belated dissemination of information regarding a dead man who can no longer defend himself constitutes an incredible sordidness and unfairness with reference to Dr. King.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Post Office says it will hold off planned increases in fourth class postage rates until Nov. 14 in order to encourage people to mail their Christmas packages early.

Mary Arditto (right) accepts good wishes from a great niece, Mrs. Jack Heard of Mill Valley, on her 103rd birthday. Ballistics Experts To Check Evidence

Support For Trials At Prison

Marin County supervisors, shocked by last Friday's shoot-out at the Hall of Justice, said today they will ask Marin judges to have trials of San Quentin inmates held within the prison.

Board chairman John F. McInnis and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney reported judges were already studying the possibility.

"Moving trials to San Quentin Prison is being given very serious consideration," said Maloney. However, there are legal and other complications that must be ironed out, he explained. "It is difficult to suggest anything specific at this point."

The board's action came on the heels of a move by the presiding judge in San Francisco to try the case of the so-called Soledad Brothers within San Quentin.

INSIDE PRISON

Judge Carl H. Allen, who presides in San Francisco Superior Court, said yesterday he would do everything he can to move the trial, scheduled to begin next month in San Francisco, inside the prison.

However, objections were expressed by both Marin's presiding judge and Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, although James W.L. Park, associate warden of San Quentin, approved.

"I don't see any possibility of our superior court's accepting the transfer," said Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Bales asserted: "We have enough trouble with prison inmates right now without bringing that problem into Marin County."

HAS FACILITIES

Park said, however, that San Quentin has facilities for a trial and new metal-detecting devices that would make an attempted break a "little harder to pull off."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss insisted today that the board express itself strongly on the need to transfer trials to the prison.

"The worst people in the state are brought to the Civic Center and are exposing our people to hazards," declared Supervisor Michael Wornum. "We should ask the judges that it is the feeling of this board that all San Quentin cases be tried in San Quentin."

Other supervisors agreed and instructed Maloney to draft such a letter to the judges.

The board also approved a policy statement, suggested by McInnis, calling for a full investigation in order to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy.

The statement also asks Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and Bales to keep the supervisors informed of the investigation into

NEWTON SAYS HE'LL PRESIDE OVER FUNERAL

Black Panther party leader Huey Newton reportedly will preside over "revolutionary" funeral services in Oakland Friday for two of the three slain abductors of Marin Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley.

Newton made the statement in a radio interview to be broadcast tonight.

The services for William Christmas and Jonathan P. Jackson will be at 9 a.m. at St. Augustine's Church.

The Panther's ministry of information in Oakland today had no knowledge of plans for the "revolutionary" services.

The Oakland mortuary handling funeral arrangements said the Black Panthers were providing lodging in Oakland for the family of Jackson, 17, of Pasadena.

Bailiffs May Need Arms, Reagan Says

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan today suggested that court bailiffs may have to be armed in light of the slayings last Friday of Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and his three abductors.

The governor, commenting on the tragedy at his weekly news conference, said that the practice of having unarmed bailiffs "may have to be reviewed."

Such a step, however, would have to await the recommendations of top court officials studying the problem of courtroom security, Reagan said.

He also said that the Mulford Act, which bars the carrying of loaded firearms in public buildings, may have to be tightened. Reagan suggested that the act may have to be extended to prohibit the carrying of any firearm in a public building, except by law enforcement officers.

Reagan said that his office was working with Chief Justice Roger J. Traynor and the presiding judges of all counties throughout the state "to make sure this can't happen again. We're looking at this from every angle."

Reagan declined to comment on the possibility that the unsuccessful escape attempt was part of a plot to free the three Soledad convicts facing murder trials for slayings at the prison.

All Arms, Bullets To State

State ballistics experts have been handed part of the task of untangling the sequence of events Friday in which Marin Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were shot to death and Assistant Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas and a convict, Ruchell Magee, were seriously wounded.

District Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today that all weapons and bullets recovered in the shootout have been turned over to state criminal identification and investigation bureau experts in Sacramento. Bales said he expects their report late this week.

Investigators still do not know whose shot wounded Thomas, who is paralyzed from the waist down and was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Magee's condition was listed as satisfactory at the San Quentin Prison hospital.

IN THE FIELD

Sheriff's Inspector Ron Retana, in charge of the overall investigation of Friday's violence, was in the field this morning on the case and could not be reached for late developments.

Who fired the shot that triggered the bloodbath still was not known for certain, but Bales said it was his impression that a convict within the getaway van fired first on a San Quentin guard standing by at the Civic Center roadblock; another convict blasted Judge Haley with a shotgun, and then Thomas grabbed a convict's gun and felled three of the four gunmen.

END FAST

At San Quentin prison, 18 inmates this morning ended a three-day sympathy fast for the two inmates killed Friday.

The hunger strike occurred in the adjustment center where slain convicts James D. McClain and William A. Christmas were housed, Park reported.

He said the prisoners indicated another three-day fast may follow.

Park said it was difficult to determine overall prisoner reaction to the Friday killings. "One prisoner said the men in his unit were not talking about it," Park said, adding that "the thinking prisoners are keenly aware that Friday's action reflects on them."

REMAINS UNFILLED

Judge Haley's superior court seat has yet to be filled, even on a temporary basis.

Presiding Judge Joseph G. Wilson could appoint a pro tem judge, court attaches said, but all jury trials in Marin Superior Court have been canceled this week. Only lesser matters and nonjury trials will be heard by the remaining judges.

Judge Wilson has canceled his planned vacation, but it was not known if he would be on the bench this afternoon.

Other than the trial of McClain, who was accused of stabbing a San Quentin guard, Judge Haley had no major matters on the calendar.

'A CRUEL GAME'

O'Connell Hits Fairfax Hiring

By C. P. McCARTHY

Fairfax City Councilman Francis J. O'Connell stunned a city council meeting last night with a blistering attack on alleged under-the-table maneuvering, vindictive scheming and a "cruel game of Fairfax dominoes" surrounding hiring of a permanent city administrator. (See other Fairfax City Council stories, page 7.)

The meeting began with O'Connell, even before approval of previous meetings' minutes, moving that the council rescind its decision last Thursday night to hire a full-time administrator.

After a 10-minute discussion of whether the motion was in order, it was seconded by Councilman Cornelis van Vliet.

Without discussion, the council voted and lined up the same way it voted Thursday: O'Connell and van Vliet to rescind; Mayor Frank J. Egger and Councilmen Robert R. Souza and Lee Nelder against.

O'Connel lthen read a four-page prepared statement aimed he said, at bringing "into the open that which is being done under the table."

He said that Souza and Nelder had both opposed the idea of a full-time administrator and had praised the efficiency of Francis Lestanguet, city clerk and administrator, during the April election campaign. Both voted for the full-time position last week.

O'Connell charged that "the only thing Fran Lestanguet did to start down that political bobsled last Thursday was to put Souza's telephone credit card in the council budget page."

Souza had a telephone credit card, which the city paid for, for several years. This year Mrs. Lestanguet took the expense out of the telephone allocation for general government and listed the credit card as a separate item in the proposed council budget.

At a budget session last month, Souza said he used the card for making calls from his San Francisco office to Fairfax city offices.

When a move was made to eliminate the card from the budget, Souza accused other councilmen of trying to censor him.

O'Connell last night went on to say that the move to hire a full-time administrator was not a spontaneous action, as had been reported in the press. "I claim it was vindictively schemed and maneuvered," he said.

He said that during a break in last week's meeting, "Souza approached a lady in the audience to ask her to set the stage" for Egger to make the motion.

"When this lady refused to become part of the plot — another woman was chosen to read the script," O'Connell said. "It is also a coincidence that the woman who goaded Mayor Egger into his motion happened to be Nelder's co-chairman during his campaign," he continued.

"Nelder's other co-chairman of his campaign is scheduled on

REAGAN NOTES SMOG DECLINES IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said today that Los Angeles residents might find it "hard to believe" but California's smog level is back to what it was 10 years ago.

"While wiping their eyes, they might find it hard to believe but there has been a decline" in smog because of restrictions placed on autos and more new cars on the road, the governor told his weekly news conference.

Reagan said there were "signs of progress" and "we are back to about the 1960 level of smog despite the increase of autos."

The governor said California was outstripping most states in the smog war, and he pointed to a recent federal poll which did not have a California city listed on the top 10 polluted cities.

Reagan Still Holds No Budget Compromise

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan announced today he would not compromise his $1 billion tax program in order to free it from a state Senate stranglehold.

"I don't see the need for any amendments or compromise," Reagan said. "I think it is a good bill . . . It is a good bill that should be passed."

Reagan also for the first time publicly criticized Sen. Clark Bradley, R-San Jose, for refusing to vote for the deadlocked tax shift legislation. He accused Bradley of "distorting" the program's contents.

Reagan's tax program has been stalled on the Senate floor for two weeks with no indication when the deadlock will be broken. Bradley and 12 Democrats have refused to vote for it.

Weekend efforts to resolve the impasse made no apparent progress. Reagan was asked at a news conference whether he would offer any compromise amendments to get the program passed.

"No," he said.

He said he was "bothered" by refusal of delegates at a board of governor's meeting of the conservative United Republicans of California to support his position over Bradley's.

The meeting occurred during the weekend in Oakland. The delegates based their endorsement of Bradley's stand on a five-page position paper he issued.

Bradley is especially opposed to a feature of the Reagan tax shift program which increases the state sales tax from five cents on-the-dollar to a record six cents. The additional revenue would finance homeowner property tax relief.

Bradley has argued that sales taxpayers would be required to finance someone else's property tax relief.

But Reagan said that Bradley failed to note that homeowners also pay the sales tax and "it is unfair for one segment of the public to go on paying an unjust burden."

The governor said that Bradley's case "was not founded on fact and was not a fair presentation."

Previously, Reagan has carefully avoided criticizing Bradley, a Republican up for reelection.

Reagan repeated his insistence that he has not abandoned hope that the tax shift legislation will be approved. He said he had not ruled out putting it on call at a special session of the legislature concurrent with the lawmakers' veto session later in the fall.

Police Seal Off Montevideo In Search For Kidnapers

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Police and thousands of army troops sealed off this capital from the rest of Uruguay today and searched door-to-door for a captive American and a Brazilian diplomat threatened with execution by Tupamaros guerrillas.

Authorities raided a suspected Tupamaros camp on the outskirts of the city, making four arrests and confiscating revolvers, hand grenades, machine guns and explosives.

But they found no trace of the two men despite telephone calls to newspapers early in the day claiming the Brazilian had been killed as was another American hostage on Monday.

The left-wing group killed Dan Mitrione, 51, of Richmond, Ind., Monday and warned that hostages Claude Fly, 65, of Fort Collins, Colo., and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Dias Gomide, 41, were next unless the Uruguayan government freed 150 political prisoners. The government has refused to deal with the kidnapers.

The streets were almost deserted in the early-morning darkness as military jeeps and police cars made surprise raids in different areas. There were a number of arrests of suspected terrorists and police announced today they had picked up Andres Cultelli Chiribao, 48, a suspected high Tupamaro officer, as he left a church Monday.

Authorities said there were blood-stained pieces of paper in the stolen car in which Chiribao was captured and the blood would be compared with Mitrione's.

Chiribao's son, Alfredo Emelio, was killed in a gunbattle with authorities when the Tupamaros took over the town of Pando last Oct. 8.

What amounted to martial law was put into effect by President Jorge Pacheco Areco when he was granted near-dictatorial powers by congress on Monday. He called out nearly 10,000 army troops to put pressure on the guerrillas.

In Brasilia, the Brazilian government confirmed that it has put Brazilian troops "on alert" along the Uruguayan-Brazilian border to watch for Tupamaros trying to flee north into Brazil.

But the Brazillian officials had no comment on a report by the Jornal do Brazil in Rio de Janeiro that eight planeloads of paratroopers had been flown to the city of Santana do

Cholera Epidemic

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet public health official today denied that a cholera epidemic has closed the Soviet Black Sea coast and said the disease had sealed off only two cities, Astrakhan and Odessa, a U.S. embassy spokesman said.

Meanwhile, the embassy spokesman said, a representative of the official Intourist travel agency denied Intourist had been canceling tours to Black Sea resorts because of cholera. The Intourist spokesman said reports to this effect were based on misunderstandings.

$3 Million Missing

EATONTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—A federal grand jury met in Newark today to consider evidence of an alleged $3 million embezzlement of the Eatontown National Bank.

U.S. Attorney Frederick B. Lacey, the top federal prosecutor in the state, toured the closed-down bank Monday with Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Goldstein. Lacey said he was making "a presentation of evidence in connection with the alleged embezzlement."

The bank closed Friday after audits showed $3 million missing. Federal officials have not said whether anyone had been charged.

Miami Trial Delayed

MIAMI (UPI) — Jim Morrison, the so-called "King of Orgasmic Roc," will go on trial in Criminal Court Wednesday on felony charges of lewd and lascivious behavior.

The 26-year-old lead singer of The Doors also was charged with misdemeanors of drunkenness, profanity and indecent exposure following an uproarious performance here March 1, 1969.

His trial was to have started Monday, but Judge Murray Goodman hadn't finished another trial and delayed the start of Morrison's trial until Wednesday afternoon.

RCA-Union Accord

WASHINGTON (UPI) — RCA Corp. and the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE) reached a tentative agreement Monday which could end a 10-week strike by 12,000 employees in seven states.

The IUE-RCA conference board recommended the settlement terms to members at 14 plants in the 12 affected cities. Terms were withheld pending a membership vote expected to be completed by next Monday.

An IUE spokesman said the negotiating committee has the authority to conclude an agreement with RCA without submitting it to union members, but the committee will await the vote before deciding whether to accept the contract.

N.Y. Greets Mobutu

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Joseph Mobutu of the Congo was guest of honor at a reception given Monday night by Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Mobutu and his wife arrived here Sunday night from San Francisco and will stay until Saturday when they return to the Congo.

Mobutu is trying to promote U.S. business investments in his nation. This is his first official visit to the United States since he became president of the Congo five years ago.

Stone Premier's Car

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Demonstrators demanding a harder line toward Roman Catholics in this violence-beset corner of Ireland jostled Premier James Chichester-Clark and hurled stones at his car in Londonderry today.

Chichester-Clark, fighting for political survival, was assailed as he left a noisy, five-hour meeting of his constituents in south Londonderry that lasted into the early hours of the morning.

Some members of the governing Unionist party are demanding Chichester-Clark's resignation.

The premier crouched in the back seat of the car as members of the crowd pushed past a police corlon, threw stones and thumped and kicked the vehicle. It finally made its way through the demonstrators and drove away.

End Delivery Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—Employes of United Parcel Service (UPS) returned to work today after a two-week strike that won them the right to wear American flag buttons on their uniforms.

A backlog of an estimated 2,000 packages piled up during the walkout.

HONG KONG (UPI) — Many beggars in Hong Kong are refusing government aid because they can get more from panhandling than from the social welfare department.

Reds Surround Base Near Laos

SAIGON (UPI) — An Allied commander said today some 2,000 North Vietnamese had surrounded a South Vietnamese artillery base near the Laotian border. South Vietnamese troops sent in reinforcements and U. S. planes flew air strikes in an effort to break up the siege.

Col. Nguyen Van Diem, a regimental commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division said the 2,000 troops were part of five North Vietnamese battalions around Fire Support Base O' Reilly, 26 miles west of Hue and 12 miles east of Laos.

Diem estimated that 250 North Vietnamese had been killed in fighting around the base since Saturday. Air strikes flown by Allied planes including U.S. B52s were credited with killing most of the Communist troops.

Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese casualties were one killed and 24 wounded.

Diem said the apparent intention of the North Vietnamese was to take Allied artillery bases in the region one-by-one with the goal of opening an infiltration route to the east.

The base is four miles north of the U. S. 101st Airborne Division's abandoned artillery base Ripcord. Ripcord was evacuated July 23 under heavy Communist pessue after a 23-day siege that killed 61 Americans and wounded 345.

The North Vietnamese were estimated tohave more than 100 mortars in the attack against O'Reilly.

Field reports said three troopers of the 25th Infantry Division were killed and six wounded in a four-hour battle with Communist troops Monday 40 miles northwest of Saigon. It was the biggest action of the day in Vietnam.

Two other Americans were killed and two wounded when their truck hit a mine in Binh Duong Province northwest of Saigon Monday.

The U. S. command announced today that two U. S. Marine Air Wing units totaling 615 men, Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron No. 17 and Wing Equipment Repair Squadron No. 17, will leave for Iwakuni, Japan, Aug. 18 as part of the Nixon administration's 50,000-man withdrawal to be completed by Oct. 16.

Meanwhile, a Cambodian infantry commander said today a division of 5,000 North Vietnamese troops is setting up a estimated to have more than 100 Phnom Penh as a launching pad for attacks on the capital.

Maj. Prak Neng, deputy commander of the Cambodian army's Infantry Battalion base area 30 miles southeast of based at Saang 18 miles south of Phnom Penh, said the immediate target of the Communist division was Saang.

Saang, on the west bank of the Bassac River, is the center of a major food producing region and transportation hub with roads leading to Phnom Penh and southeast to the South Vietnamese border.

End Of An Era: Women At McSorley's

NEW YORK (UPI) — For 116 years they've been gathering at McSorley's Old Ale House, sipping their ale and saying how there'd be trouble if they let a woman in the place.

Monday they gathered at McSorley's, sipped their ale and some of them said how right they had been.

Women were leaning on the bar and getting sawdust in their shoes at McSorley's for the first time. It all happened as Mayor John V. Lindsay signed into law a bill prohibiting discrimination against women in places of public accommodation and the women headed for New York's oldest drinking establishment.

One of the first female customers was Lucy Komisar, a vice president of the National Organization for Women. She did not have a good time, but said when she left politics was sometimes that way.

As she entered the swinging doors, a waiter asked for a birth certificate and would not accept a driver's license as proof she was 18. There was a brief scuffle as she tried to shove past him. Then Daniel Kirwan, who with his mother owns the bar, let her in.

Miss Komisar also got into an argument with some men wearing undershirts. One of them dumped a stein of ale over her. He was shown out and she was allowed to stay as McSorley's enforced its rule against rowdyism, even if it couldn't enforce its ban on women.

Kirwan had wanted his mother to be the first woman served in the bar. Mrs. Dorothy O'Connell Kirwan is part owner, but she has never been inside. She turned down her son's invitation. Two women who work in the neighborhood were the first, but they stayed only briefly.

Equal Rights Amendment Clears House By 350-15

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., the 82-year-old chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said in his view men and women were as different as "a horse chestnut and a chestnut horse," and no law could change that.

"Vive la difference," he added.

But Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., said that was not the issue. "Any kind of discrimination is degrading to the individual and harmful to society as a whole," she said, and went on to tell how women, in her view, are degraded in the United States.

That was the prelude to a historic moment Monday as the House voted 350 to 15 for a proposed constitutional amendment which states: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The proposal is called the Equal Rights Amendment and its effect on legal relationships between men and women could be profound if it eventually passes the Senate and is ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Both sides agreed it could make women subject to the draft and compel such institutions as the U.S. military academy at West Point to accept women.

They said it could overturn hundreds of state laws intended to protect women workers. Sponsors said these laws in reality give no protection but bar women from many responsible, high-paying jobs.

The House vote was a personal victory for Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., the chief sponsor, and Miss Alice Paul, the 85-year-old former suffragette who was one of the original group of militant feminists who drafted it 47 years ago.

The amendment had been stuck in Celler's judiciary committee since it was introduced in 1923. Last month, Mrs. Griffiths got the required majority of 218 signatures on a petition to extricate it and she brought up her petition for a vote Monday.

The House voted 332 to 22 to remove the proposal from committee for immediate consideration.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, the ranking Republican on the judiciary committee, tried later to get it returned to the committee but that motion was beaten, 344 to 26.

Senate passage of the proposal seems certain, with 83 of the 100 senators sponsoring it, but there is no indication yet when the vote will be taken.

San Anselmo City Salary Package Set

The San Anselmo City Council last night wrapped up the city salary package by voting increases of 6 to 8 per cent for some department heads and leaving the pay of one unchanged.

The salary of head librarian Lucy Palo was left at $950 per month.

City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel, who said of his salary, "I'll just leave it up to you guys," was raised from $1,525 per month to $1,612. City Atty. John G. Buresh expressed no dissatisfaction with his $723 per month, plus an added $9 per month for office expenses.

However, Charles R. Leitzell, public works director, who sought a 10 per cent hike, and the police and fire chiefs, who sought 15 per cent each, were disappointed.

PARITY DISPUTE

Leitzell was hiked from $1,475 per month to $1,581, or about 7 per cent.

Police Chief Raymond Buchignani, who argued thathissubornani, who argued that his subordinates sometimes outearn him, was raised from $1,243 to $1,336, but Fire Chief Frank Sousa — who started at the same level — was granted a raise to only $1,322.

After breaking city tradition of pay parity between police and firemen in salary negotiations and refusing earlier in the evening to put the parity issue on the November ballot without a referendum, the council felt an equal raise to Sousa would undermine the stand.

Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Lewis W. Stewart opposed the fire chief salary and Capurro also opposed the police chief raise, arguing the two chiefs should be paid the same salary as Leitzell.

OFF THE BALLOT

Firemen asked the council to put the pay parity question to the public, but the council decided, Capurro and Stewart dissenting, that if the council placed it on the ballot, it would imply tacit acceptance.

Noting that the mechanical deadline for placing an item on the ballot is tomorrow, Buresh said the salary contract for fiscal 1970-71 calls for further talks on the subject and parity could not be achieved this year, without voiding the contract. He called for future negotiations on the issue.

Stewart contended that the item should be placed on the ballot as a matter of courtesy and Capurro said disparity was causing low morale in the fire department.

Hub Budget Had To Give Somewhere

The San Anselmo City Council last night sat on its fiscal suitcase and found it just wouldn't close.

Faced with a general fund tax rate of $1.70 per $100 assessed valuation — 18 cents over the legal limit — the council took out $23,000 budgeted for a fire engine and another $35,300 that was to renovate 5.3 miles of city streets.

Convinced, however, that the items were necessary, the council authorized a proposition for the Nov. 2 ballot calling for a 9-cent special tax for two years to finance the engine.

Another proposal tabled until another council session tonight would create a special tax of an unspecified amount for a number of years for street work.

City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel had asked the council to ax $42,700 in contracted street work on Jordan, San Rafael and San Anselmo avenues and Brookside Drive, plus the engine, lower the general fund rate to $1.47 and the total tax rate to $2.30 per $100 assessed valuation.

The total rate last year was $2.25.

The council, however, decided to squeeze in the Jordan and San Rafael avenues projects for $10,400. Kaeppel did not indicate what the adjusted rate would be.

Asst. Fire Chief Richard McLaren and Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro urged retention of the fire engine.

"If this fire engine is not purchased this year, I feel sorry for the city," McLaren said, noting that the city has 31- and 23-year-old engines in service now.

Capurro, who originally voted against including the fire engine in the budget, said it was the most important item in the budget and was the lone dissenter when the cuts were approved.

The council majority gambled that voters would see the obvious need for the engine. "I cannot believe that the voters of San Anselmo will vote against a fire engine. If it (the ballot measure) fails, bailing out is going to be very serious for us," Mayor James F. Reed said.

Although councilmen were less sure voters would approve an added tax for street work at least one councilman felt it was a good idea to put it to a public vote.

"This could be the best thing that ever happened to San Anselmo," Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson said. "If the people of San Anselmo really want their streets fixed, this is the time to present it to them."

Hub Council Raises Business License Tax

The San Anselmo business license tax rate was increased last night from 30 cents to 50 cents per $1,000 gross receipts by the city council.

Although it rejected a proposal of 40 cents before settling on 30 cents in 1969, the council gave in to budget pressures last night.

City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel predicted about $3,200 would be added to the 1969-70 total of $25,005 by the increase. That would mean an average increase of about $10 per business, Kaeppel said.

The increase passed over the objections of Councilmen Lewis W. Stewart and Woodrow V. Capurro and two businessmen, A.O.L. Casper and Abe Froman.

Casper said, "I think we are a bunch of captives. We can't run away because our investment is here."

He joined Froman in cautioning that federal, state and county governments are also increasing their bites and Froman said the tax increase would threaten small businesses.

Stewart felt the money might better be spent improving the appearance of stores to increase sales tax revenues and Capurro said the generated revenue would not save the city from its financial woes.

However, Mayor James F. Reed pointed out, "We've increased almost everything we can find to get us through these inflationary times."

The minimum tax stands at $15 and the maximum is $350 per year.

Help Called To Halt Looting

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh police called in reinforcements Monday after two nights of rock-throwing and looting which they blamed on 90-degree temperatures.

Aid came from Concord, Antioch, Walnut Creek, the California Highway Patrol and the Contra Costa county sheriff's office under the Bay Area Mutual Aid Pact.

There were three arrests during the Saturday and Sunday night looting.

Juvenile Theft Suspects Booked

A San Jose boy and a San Francisco girl were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall by sheriff's deputies yesterday on suspicion of auto theft, possession of stolen credit cards and other charges.

Deputies were called to Jack's 66 service station on Highway 101 north of Novato, where they said they found Michael C. Santander, 17, attempting to pay for tire repairs with a stolen credit card. The car driven by Santander and containing Terryl Annette Hendershott, 17, was found to have been stolen in San Francisco, and deputies said both the boy and girl possessed stolen wallets and credit cards from San Francisco.

The couple told deputies they had been vacationing on the Russian River.

Burglary At School

Two projectors and a record player, value unknown, were stolen over the weekend from Hidden Valley School in Sleepy Hollow, custodian Gordon C. Sims reported to sheriff's deputies. There was no sign of forced entry, deputies said.

AMA Article Says Darvon Not Superior

CHICAGO (UPI) — Darvon, the most dispensed drug in the United States, is not superior to codeine or aspirin as a pain killer, according to an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Darvon, known technically as Propoxyphene Hydrochloride, was evaluated on the basis of 243 articles in a study by pharmacist Russell R. Miller, Dr. Alfred Feingold and James Paxinos.

They concluded propoxyphene "is no more effective than aspirin or codeine and may even be inferior to these analgesics. . .

"Our review prompts us to recommend aspirin as the mild analgesic of choice. When aspirin does not provide adequate analgesia, it is unlikely that propoxyphene will do so."

The review concluded that propoxyphene, unlike some narcotics used in analgesia, has a "low potential for physical dependence" or addiction.

However, the authors said, the low addiction potential of the drug has not prevented its abuse.

They cite the cases of two narcotics addicts who substituted propoxyphene when opiates were not available and a third patient who consumed 14 Darvon capsules daily for five months before being hospitalized with confusion and grand mal seizures.

The authors suggested physicians "keep several things in mind" when prescribing analgesics.

First, they said, mild pain may respond to any treatment, including no action at all. Second, "the fact that a drug is sold only by prescription in no way proves its efficacy and potency. And third, "advertising . . . can never present complete information about a drug."

Senate Decision Near On Expanding ABM

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said today it was "wrong and unfair" for the Defense Department to minimize American nuclear power while stressing Soviet strength in the Senate battle over expanding the Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system.

Cooper is co-sponsor, along with Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., of an amendment that would limit Safeguard to two presently-authorized sites at Grand Fork, N.D., and Malstrom AFB, Mont.

The administration wants authority to place Safeguard at Whiteman AFB, Mo., and Warren AFB, Wyo.

Cooper made his charge against the Defense Department in a floor speech prepared for the final full day of debate on the antiexpansion amendment.

The Senate has scheduled a vote on the amendment for 3:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

The probable outcome of the vote was still too close to predict, with both sides claiming headway. Some Senators in GOP Leader Hugh Scott's camp were talking about rounding up 50 votes against the amendment, enough for a clear victory for the administration.

The amendment would cut $322.2 million out of the $19.2 billion bill for military hardware for the business year ending next June 30. Left intact would be about $1 billion for continued work on the two original ABM sites.

Cooper said he and Hart did not minimize present Soviet nuclear strength or the threat that would be posed to the United States if the Russians continued to deploy their SS9 missiles.

"But I believe, and I think it wrong and unfair to our people, that the representatives of the Department of Defense have minimized the awesome power of our present nuclear deterrent, and the more powerful nuclear weapons the U.S. is capable of producing, and in fact, is producing.

"While speaking continually of the development of Soviet offensive weapons, little notice is given to the programs in which the U.S. is engaged, not alone defensive, to protect our deterrent, but programs to strengthen our offensive nuclear weapons," Cooper said.

FAIRFAX

tonight's agenda in an attack of the elected chairman of our planning commission whose only mistake was to campaign for Adelaide Wilson (former councilman) against Souza and Nelder."

O'Connell, who said "I do not wrap Nelder in the same bag with Souza on most of my statements," listed voting records of the present council.

In 20 split votes, he said, Nelder and Souza have voted together 19 out of 20 times.

O'Connell charged that "Souza and his voting partner" have tried to cut the salary of City Atty. Wallace Myers because of Myers's interpretation of the law regarding election recounts.

In the April election, Souza trailed Albert E. Gately by three votes. Souza called for a recount, which subsequently proved him a winner, but Myers had ruled that until a recount showed otherwise, Gately had been elected and was entitled to Souza's council seat.

O'Connell said the attempts to hire a full-time Administrator and to cut Myers's salary "were designed and calculated to insult these dedicated officials so that in their hurt they would resign."

He also said that "on at least two occasions, Souza's voting partner has chided the police chief (James R. Orr) as though to test the length of his temper fuse — possibly into saying, 'I quit.' "

O'Connell concluded what he called his "prepared tirade" by saying Fairfax taxpayers were being shortchanged by the inaction of the council. He urged residents to pressure the council.

"Either we work together for the city and its taxpayers or replace any or all of us," he said.

When cheers, whistles and applause from the audience which jammed the Fairfax Women's Club died down, Souza told the audience and the council, "I assure you I could easily rebut every one of the statements."

Souza called it another unfortunate step in the history of Fairfax "where personalities are more important than issues," but said he was not going to respond to O'Connell's statement because "I respect him too much."

Nelder observed that "I could say he was being a bum loser" because he didn't get his way on the administrator vote.

"He wouldn't have read that speech if we had reconsidered the (full-time administrator) vote — evaluate that," Nelder said, adding that his vote was his own and "I can vote as I see fit."

Livramento, which is separated from the Uruguayan city of Rivera by only one street.

Anonymous telephone calls to Montevideo newspapers early today said the body of Dias Gomide could be found in the suburb of Malvin. Police checked out the address given and said the reports were groundless.

Mitrione, Fly and Dias Gomide were kidnaped over the past 10 days.

Pacheco Areco gave the searchers a free hand to make arrests and raid suspected hideouts without filing charges or obtaining search warrants.

Congress voted 79-30 Monday to give the president permission to suspend most constitutional rights in the struggle against the Tupamaros guerrillas because of "the extraordinary case of treason or conspiracy against the fatherland."

It gave Pacheco Areco's government the power to search homes without warrants, seize property of prisoners, ignore habeas corpus appeals, use secret instead of public accusations, open mail, limit freedom to enter and leave the country, prohibit meetings and curtail freedom of speech and press.

The congressional vote limited the special presidential powers to a duration of 20 days.

Hayakawa Challenges Motives Of Radicals

TOKYO (UPI)—Educator S.I. Hayakawa says student radicals escalate their demands beacuse they find too many people agreeing with them and they want to remain an elite minority.

Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, was answering a question Monday raised by a Japanese educator following Hayakawa's address to the Japan-America Society.

Nerve Gas Trains On Run To Sea

By U.P. International

Two military trains carrying deadly nerve gas rockets cleared their last large city today and started their run toward the sea, where the gas will be dumped in the ocean depths.

A 24-car train from the Richmond, Ky., arsenal rolled down through the Appalacia cool country during the night and made its way through Spartanburg, S.C. — the largest city along its route — about 9 a.m.

At the same hour a 46-car train from the Anniston, Ala., Army Depot left Athens, Ga., after a two-hour stop to take on added fuel and water.

The two trains pick up the same track at Clinton, S.C. and head almost eastward in their run for the Sunny Point military terminal near Wilmington, N.C., where the gas will be loaded aboard an old ship hull for disposal in the Atlantic.

The Anniston train looped far to the south to avoid passing through Atlanta, and the Richmond train also detoured around the big population centers of Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and Charlotte, N.C. Charlotte is the largest city in the Carolinas.

Crowds turned out all along the routes of the two trains, apparently satisfied by the Army's assurances that the chances of an accident are "nil."

Witness Tells Of Being 'High'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—State star witness George Sams Jr. testified today at the Black Panther trial of Lonnie McLucas that he was high on marijuana when he gave the order to kill alleged police informer Alex Rackley.

"I was high when I gave the order to kill him," Sams, 24, told the Superior Court jury of nine whites and three blacks in the trial of the first of eight Panthers accused in the slaying last year.

Sams said that during an interrogation of Rackley, a New York City Panther who allegedly informed on the New York Panther 21, "I guess I smoked a joint every four to five hours or so." This preceded the killing.

'Minister' Loses Court Appeal

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—U.S. District Judge Philip C. Wilkins Monday rejected an appeal by Kirby J. Hensley, 57, the mail-order minister.

Wilkins refused to dissolve a restraining order issued in San Joaquin County to keep Hensley from giving honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees in exchange for a $20 offering.

Peter Stromer, attorney for the self-proclaimed minister, said Hensley would begin a one-year jail term in Santa Clara County Wednesday unless the U.S. Supreme Court grants a stay of execution.

In San Jose, Hensley was convicted of violating a state law prohibiting issuance of unaccredited degrees.

Pot Suspicions Book Two Teens

Sheriff's deputies and drug abuse bureau agents booked two Southern Marin teen-agers into county jail yesterday on suspicion of possession of marijuana, transporting marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A car containing Mitchell Sheridan Jadot, 18, of 204 Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley, and Fred Stanton Dupuis, 18, of 17 West Shore Road, Belvedere, was stopped by sheriff's patrol cars after aid was asked by drug abuse agents in following the auto on Highway 101.

The two teen-agers were booked and released on their own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Cal-Vet Bonds Worth $100 Million Sold

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest today sold $100 million in bonds to finance Cal-Vet farm and home loans and to pay for new junior college and state building construction.

It was the second sale of state bonds since voters in June approved a seven per cent interest ceiling and signaled a break in the backlog of Cal-Vet loan applications seeking approval.

Governors Postpone Tax-Sharing Decision

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (UPI)—The nation's governors today delayed action on a plan to pressure Congress and the Nixon administration to share federal income taxes with the states.

The National Governors Conference voted to refer to a committee their plan for more federal revenue sharing. The committee was instructed to bring the issue back to Wednesday's final business session.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois asked the conference to adopt a plan calling for state legislatures to approve a constitutional amendment requiring that states share in federal income taxes.

Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi offered a substitute plan asking the governors' executive committee to try to persuade Congress to act on revenue sharing. He said a constitutional amendment should be sought only as a last resort.

The governors then voted to delay action.

Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington said Nixon and Congress should give the program "a higher priority."

However, many governors attending the conference thought the idea of a program where the federal government would share its income tax funds with the states with no strings attached was fruitless because of a trade negotiated between a governors' committee and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, met with the committee in February and gave it a choice of whether it wanted action on revenue sharing or the Nixon welfare package. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said the welfare proposals should have a higher priority.

Security Force Voted For BART

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate today gave final legislative approval to a bill creating a security force for the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit system.

The measure by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan on a 22-1 vote concurring in amendments written by the Assembly.

The security officers would have statewide jurisdiction to investigate crimes allegedly committed in the BART district composed of San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

New Idea For The Old Mint

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Federal judges in San Francisco want to turn the Old Mint into another courthouse.

Albert C. Wollenberg, acting chief district judge, made the request Thursday to the General Services Administration, citing a shortage of courtroom space in the Federal Building.

The Old Mint at Fifth and Mission streets has been abandoned.

Nixon has endorsed a revenue sharing plan and has submitted a formula for such a program to Congress. Mills' committee, which approved the welfare package, has never acted on the revenue sharing plan.

Ellington said public and congressional pressure was building for action on revenue sharing, and he prodded the administration to do more.

"I am firmly convinced that the battle over revenue sharing will be an historic crossroads in whether or not a balance of government is to be maintained in our federal system," Ellington said. "And I must add I think the national administration must prove they are serious about getting revenue sharing and give it a higher priority."

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois wanted to amend Ellington's report to call for a constitutional amendment, initiated by the state legislatuers, to require revenue sharing. All amendments added to the constitution have been initiated by Congress, not the state legislatures.

the deaths of Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three of his abductors.

The supervisors asked for police, investigative and autopsy reports concerning the shooting to be furnished to Maloney and County Administrator Alan Bruce for a report on the chronology of events.

The "Soledad Brothers" trial concerns three Negro convicts who are charged with killing a white guard at racially troubled Soledad Prison. They are George L. Jackson, 28, brother of the youth slain in the Marin escape attempt; Fleeta Drumgo, 25, and John Chutchette, 27. The victim was John V. Mills, 26.

Venue was changed to San Francisco by Monterey County's Judge Anthony Brazil after defense attorneys argued they could not get a fair trial there.

As they took Judge Haley and six others hostage, the abductors demanded the release of the "Soledad Brothers," Although Park later doubted their assertions that they were revolutionaries, as they claimed.

Park said they were vicious instead.

Judge Allen said in San Francisco that if he was not successful in getting the trial moved, he would make sure that there was strict security during the courtroom action. He said he would consult the California Judicial Council and the state Supreme Court's presiding jurist.

Senate Votes Stiff Alcohol Abuse Battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spurred to action by a senator whose own life was once dominated by whisky, the Senate has approved the most energetic attack on alcoholism since it tried to cure the problem through Prohibition in 1919.

Despite Monday's unanimous approval of a measure cosponsored by 52 senators, the propects for action in the House appeared slight. The House is vacation bound and has scheduled no hearings on the bill.

The bill was guided through the Senate by freshman Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, who was an alcoholic before serving three terms as governor of Iowa, where he campaigned for effective treatment programs.

He carried his deep concern for "the nation's No. 1 health problem" with him to the Senate in 1969 and immediately campaigned for federal action against alcoholism. He found the government spent $1.4 billion on child health problems last year but only $39 million to combat alcoholism.

In philosophy, his bill rates alcoholism as a disease and not a crime. It provides for spending as much as $395 million during the next three years on research and on local treatment centers to which judges could send people arrested for drunkeness.

Juveniles Are Cited In Novato Vandalism

Novato police yesterday issued several juvenile citations and requested arrest warrants for two 18-year-olds after a group of youths vandalized the San Marin Recreation Club Sunday.

Police responding to a burglar alarm at 2:35 a.m. Sunday said they stopped Steven Russell Baldocchi, 15, of 225 San Felipe Way, running from the club and discovered several acts of vandalism and theft.

Vandals had broken open a door with pick-axes, sprayed a fire extinguisher around the office, sprayed paint on walls and thrown a fire extinguisher, garbage can and furniture into the swimming pool, police said. Total damage was estimated at $2,000.

Baldocchi was cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglary, malicious mischief and resisting arrest, and four other teen-agers were cited today and yesterday, police reported.

Kirk Dauerheim, 15, of 33 Manzano Court, was cited on suspicion of burglary and malicious mischief; and two Novato 17-year-olds were cited on suspicion of trespass and malicious mischief.

Arrest warrants for burglary and malicious mischief were requested on Robert Lee Young, 18, of 1870 Virginia Avenue, Novato, and Mark David Blodget, 18, of 257 Emerystone Terrace, Novato, police reported.

One-half gallon of wine, candy and hot dogs and several items of clothing, valued at $25, were stolen in the incident, police reported.

Petaluma School Gets Paint Job By Vandals

Vandals tossed red paint yesterday on La Tercera School, Petaluma, causing damage estimated at $400, police reported.

The paint also was reportedly tossed across the windshield of a car owned by Chester S. Brown, 618 Ely Boulevard South, near the school.

Cave Collapses, Kills Two Boys

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Two young boys were killed Monday when a cave on a bluff above a beach area they were exploring collapsed.

Authorities said the boys, Dan Maciejewski and Robert O'Brien, 7-year-old half brothers, were climbing a bluff when they found the cave, which was about 15 feet deep. After they entered the cave, it collapsed. One boy was buried up to his neck and the other was completely covered.

Both boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Brien, were pronounced dead on arrival at Long Beach Community Hospital despite efforts of a lifeguard and two other men who dug them out and gave them mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Merrill Thomas, 7, of 109 Rocca Drive, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with knee and shoulder cuts suffered yesterday at 5 p.m. when his bicycle collided with a car in front of 179 Payran Street. Police had no details on the accident.

Plans Board Approves Mortuary

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night approved, 4 to 1, a conditional use permit for operation of a mortuary at 601 Tamalpais Drive.

Commissioner Jack Hauser and several members of the audience disagreed with the majority, claiming funeral processions would snarl traffic, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher reported.

The permit, however, was issued on the condition the town council approve an amendment to the zoning ordinance to allow operation of mortuaries in retail shopping zones. Mortuaries are now allowed only in C-4 commercial service zones.

The mortuary is sought by Nicholas P. Daphne of San Francisco.

The matter should come before the council in mid-September, Usher said.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission also:

THEATER SIGN — Denied unanimously an application from QRS Sign Co. of Millbrae for a six-foot increase in the height of the sign at Cinema 1 Theater, 41 Tamal Vista Boulevard.

CO-OP SIGN — Denied unanimously a request for sign relocation by the Co-op Market. The market requested that its Highway 101 sign be moved to a location on Tamalpais Drive.

PORCH — Denied, 4 to 1, Commissioner James W. McClintock dissenting, a request from Howard Wise of 55 Prince Royal Passage for approval of porch enclosure and small deck addition for his residence.

POWER LINE — Denied a request from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. that an extension be granted to a previously approved use permit for power lines across the W. J. Heerdt property. The commission recommended the company reapply for a new use permit.

ENGLISH PUB — Heard plans by Colin Beatty of San Rafael on conversion of a mattress shop at 305 Montecito Drive into an English pub. The council said it would favor such action if Beatty can solve potential parking and traffic flow problems.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Bolinas-Stinson Board Signs Two Teachers

Two teachers were hired for the coming school year last night by trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District, Supt. Lester M. Horning reported.

Robert Moyer, 25, will teach seventh and eighth grades, Horning said. A graduate of the University of Kentucky, he received his teaching credential from Sacramento State College and has taught in the St. Helena Unified School District in Napa County.

The second teacher, Curtis Spurlin, 23, has recently completed student teaching in San Pablo and Richmond schools, according to the superintendent. Spurlin, who holds a bachelor's degree in English and a teaching credential from the University of California at Berkeley, will teach primary grades.

Both men were chosen from 75 applicants, Horning said, adding the district teaching staff assisted in the selections.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board also:

STINSON SALE — Revised the price of the Stinson Beach School site, being offered for public sale, from $20,000 to $12,000. Horning said the change was made because original appraisals erroneously listed the .9 acre site as 1.6 acres.

BOOKKEEPER — Voted to rehire Beverly Alberigi, the district's bookkeeper, at a yearly salary of $1,800.

RESIGNATION — Accepted, with regret, the resignation of custodian Frank Vitelli, who is leaving the district after eight years to go into business for himself.

NEW CUSTODIAN — Agreed to hire Stephen D'Accardo, a College of Marin student, as a part time custodian at $2.90 an hour.

RECLASSIFICATION — Named custodian Ben Meyer to a new position — head custodian and maintenance man — and increased his salary from $596 to $623 a month.

TRANSFER — Approved an interdistrict transfer to the Mill Valley School District for Kenneth and Justin Justice, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Justice.

BIDS — Authorized the superintendent and district architect to call for informal bids for moving a portable classroom from the Stinson Beach site to Bolinas School.

Booked into Marin County Jail and held on $1,200 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today was George Wightman Peavey, of 17 Walden Court.

Officers said he could show no proof of ownership of the truck and gave evasive answers when questioned about it. He also was held on a $15 traffic warrant.

Last Sextuplet Dies In Rome

ROME (UPI)—The last of the sextuplets born to a Rome housewife died today almost one week after her birth.

Doctors said the cause of the 28-ounce baby's death was failure of the cardiocirculatory system.

The sextuplets were born to Mrs. Antonio Petrone, 35, who had been childless for nearly 11 years of marriage before taking a fertility drug.

It was the first recorded sextuplet birth in Italian medical history.

Four of the babies died within 10 hours of birth.

Inmates Free Five Guards, Win Promise

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than 200 inmates of the city prison, denouncing conditions at the jail and demanding improvements, held five guards hostage during an eight-hour seizure of a ninth floor cell block Monday in attempts to publicize their complaints.

The guards, attacked by at least five prisoners each while the 221 inmates of the ninth floor were eating breakfast at 6:30 a.m., were released unharmed at 2:10 p.m. following a meeting with Corrections Commissioner George F. McGrath, an aide to Mayor John V. Lindsay, three newsmen, prison officials and an attorney.

McGrath was forced to promise in writing that no reprisals would be taken against the prisoners for their action.

CALLED THE TOMBS

The inmates of the 15-story building known as the Tombs, a detention house for men awaiting trial, presented a list of 10 grievances which included charges of brutality by corrections officers, racism, bad food, overcrowding and unduely long detention prior to trials.

McGrath said he condemned the violence but agreed with the prisoners' demands. "I've been saying some of those same things myself for months," he said.

The prison, connected by a walkway to the criminal courts building, was built 30 years ago and designed for 932 men but currently houses 1,992. Some inmates are forced to sleep two or three to a cell designed for one man.

KICKS OUT PANES

During the seizure, two square, thick panes of bullet proof glass were kicked out of the cell block. One narrowly missed a couple when it smashed on the street below.

Notes were tossed to the street between the pages of paperback books, promising no harm to the overpowered guards, who were secured in three small cells, "if we aren't attacked."

Police made no attempt to intervene.

One prisoner waved his arm out the tiny square window and flashed the peace signal. "We have not hurt anyone and we will not hurt anyone," another prisoner shouted below.

The guards later said they were not ill treated by the prisoners.

"They gave us coffee and cigarettes," said guard Vernon Allick. "I don't smoke, but you better believe I smoked those cigarettes."

Ridge Condominium Plan Stalemates Planning Panel

Mill Valley Planning Commission reached a stalemate last night on an oft-revised plan for mainly condominium units on Warner Ridge.

Mill Valley architect William E. Cullen, who has been appearing before the commission and city council over a period of months, settled for a two-week continuance.

Cullen presented a new plan for 64 dwelling units on a 32-acre site at the southeastern sector of the ridge, designed to meet previous objections about access.

There were petitions carrying about 160 signatures opposing the project, and commissioners were unable to reach a conclusion on the proposal.

Commissioner Ivan S. Poutiatine made a motion that the commission approve the plan on condition that acceptable access is provided. There was no second.

Later Commissioner Louis E. Bartolini made a motion that the plan be denied, but withdrew it before a vote was taken when Cullen agreed to a continuance.

Commissioner Edward Farrell announced that he wasn't going to vote on any plans in the North Ridge area until the city had a plan for the area.

"We don't have a detailed plan for conservation and development of the North Ridge," Farrell declared. The commission doesn't have the necessary "tools" to give Cullen answers or guidelines, and this "is a city shame," he said.

Last night's long discussion centered around access to the acreage. Cullen's new plan provided for access both from Upland and Elinor avenues, whereas his earlier plan had access only from Upland.

City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said Upland would have to be improved to a two-lane roadway before it would be adequate, and this brought up questions of who would pay for the improvements and how much they would cost.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon reported that Fire Chief Joseph E. Regalia said the roads in the proposed developed area weren't adequate for the large fire equipment necessary for the proposed buildings.

Cullen has proposed 54 condominium units, two stories high, and 10 single family homes, and is seeking a density of two units per acre, compared with the city's limit of 1.5 units.

Bragdon felt it was the obligation of the city to improve local streets and Bala said as assessment district could be formed.

Poutiatine contended that if there were no planned development until the city fixed the streets and Bala said an assess- piecemeal development of the hillside.

Cullen explained his new plan would require more expensive units than originally planned, with condominium units at $30,000 to $35,000 rather than $20,000 to $25,000.

Cullen said there would be public access through the area and walking trails, but there was concern about a grassy area long used by residents.

Douglas P. Ferguson of 76 Eldridge Avenue said there was a question that public use through the years has established "public domain."

Cullen contended that if he constructed 48 single family homes on the property he would cover 80 per cent of the land, but under his condominium plan he would cover only 15 per cent of the land.

One resident, who said she has walked "every inch" of the Warner Ridge area, said it was a beautiful area and the proposed condominiums would "stick out in a large clump" and weren't the answer to development on the ridge.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

HARBOR REPORT — Agreed to a joint session with the parks and recreation commission at 8 p.m. Aug. 24 on the city's feasibility report on development of a small craft harbor, and took steps to increase public distribution of the document.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Aug. 24 at city hall.

Commissioner Richard J. Hiatt was absent.

Government Now Paying Medical Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Medicare and Medicaid, the two government health care programs, are paying 72 per cent of the health bill for the nation's aged.

This is a dramatic shift from only four years ago when nearly 70 per cent of health expenses for the elderly were privately paid. The Social Security Administration released the new figures today.

Put another way, last year's average medical bill for a person 65 and older was $692, and the government paid all but $162 of it. Most of the government money went for hospital and doctor bills.

"Medicare was responsible for the sizable change, assuming a significant portion of the expenditures formerly made by the private sector," social security researcher Barbara S. Cooper said in a report on U.S. health care spending from 1966 to 1969.

The federal-state Medicaid program provides medical care for the needy, including the aged. Medicare provides automatic hospital insurance for the aged and optional doctor bill coverage. Both programs are financed from taxes.

These two public programs shelled out $9.7 billion for care of the elderly last year, Mrs. Cooper said. Health care spending for the aged totalled $13.5 billion, with private sources providing the other $3.8 billion.

San Francisco Board Delays Tax Changes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Supervisors delayed action on tax change measures Monday, waiting to see what happens in Sacramento to Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax program.

Action was delayed on proposals for off street parking and utility taxes and on the doubling of a business receipts tax.

Mill Valley Planners Approve Land Swap

Mill Valley planning and parks and recreation commissioners last night recommended a land swap with a private developer to gain park area along Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

During a two-hour public hearing, the switch was viewed as a step toward achieving the start of a linear park along the creek as proposed in the city's 701 plan.

As proposed, the city would swap 13,000 square feet at the northeast end of Sycamore Park for 41,200 square feet along the creek, thereby creating a newly shaped Sycamore Park.

The developer, Trans-Marin Properties Inc., presented a revised plan taking less of the exising Sycamore Park area than an originally proposed swap, which was opposed by neighbors.

In return for the park land, the developer proposes to give the city a stretch of land along both sides of the creek, south of La Goma Street and north of Miller Avenue, which would tie in with the existing park.

Planning commissioners recommended the exchange by a 5-0 vote, with Richard J. Hiatt absent and Ivan S. Poutiatine abstaining because he is associated with the planning firm which represented Trans-Marin Properties Inc.

Parks and recreation commissioners voted 5-1 on the recommendation, Mrs. Dan Mahl dissenting. Commissioners George M. Cagwin and Dr. Thomas Knez were absent.

Trans-Marin Properties intends to construct an apartment development on the Sycamore Park land it would acquire in the swap, and planning commissioners approved a zone change from commercial to multiple family that would permit up to 85 units there.

Peter Haywood, owner of most of the land involved, claimed the land swap could be accomplished legally without calling for a referendum.

John M. Campbell of Agora Architects of San Francisco, representing Trans-Marin Properties, said the city would receive a finished park.

It would be "the key to the achievement of a continuous link through city park from La Goma Street to Camino Alto to the marina-marshlands beyond," he said.

The proposed new park would provide for a variety of uses not now possible, including a water-related children's play area and a place to walk or sit by water.

"Further, the proposed park would be a demonstration project, at no cost to Mill Valley, showing that flood control can be achieved without concrete," Campbell said.

As to complaints that a creek park would be hazardous, he said it would be less dangerous than the present untended ditch in the area, and the water depth wouldn't exceed 18 inches.

Some residents who opposed the original swap conceded the new plan was more acceptable, but there were several calls for more land along the north side of the creek.

Commissioners by resolution endorsed the plan and recommended the city start proceedings to exchange the land.

Reptile Store Loses 80 Snakes To Thief

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A reptile store owner reported Monday that a thief had stolen 80 snakes, including a two-headed gopher snake.

Police estimated Wade Farrel's loss at between $2,000 and $5,000.

House Votes Non-Voting D.C. Member

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted 300 to 57 Monday to give the District of Columbia a non-voting delegate in the House and to establish a 12-member commission to seek ways to improve efficiency in the District government.

The House also passed 338 to 23 a bill that would give the District non-voting delegates in both House and Senate, but the action was considered meaningless since it had no chance of Senate acceptance.

Southern members of the House District Committee sponsored the proposal for two delegates in what other members charged was a maneuver to keep the District from gaining a non-voting House delegate.

After the southern-sponsored bill passed, the Southerners led an unsuccessful effort to amend the other bill by deleting the provision for a non-voting House delegate. The House rejected the proposed amendment by 31 to 104 votes. Both House-passed bills now go to the Senate.

Tone Of Car's Radio Irks Apologetic Thief

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — A car thief left an apologetic note when he abandoned an auto on a residential street here. "To whom it may concern: I would like to apologize for causing you so much trouble . . ."

The note also had some advice for the car's owner: "The tone of your radio isn't working very well."

Pilot Effort, Prayer Told By Survivor

CUZCO, Peru (UPI) — The lone survivor of a Peruvian airliner crash that killed 49 American teen-age students and 52 other persons, said the pilot fought until the last instant to try to save the plane, then said, "May God, have pity on us all!"

Authorities today raised the toll of Peru's worst air disaster to 101 when they discovered that two persons on the ground were struck and killed by the falling airliner.

Student pilot Juan Loo, the only survivor of the 100 persons aboard the four-engine Lockheed Electra propjet, was quoted by a Peruvian newspaper as saying pilot Carlos Caligari "struggled until the last minute to save the ship from the tragedy."

"He did all humanly possible," Loo said. "But the plane lost altitude because of the fire consuming one of the motors."

Loo said Calgari's last words were, "May God, have pity on us all!"

Loo was found in a treetop thrown clear of the wreckage.

Parkerson Gets Confidence Vote

A request last night that the Fairfax City Council consider removing chairman E. Ross Parkerson from the planning commission resulted in a vote of confidence for Parkerson. (See another Fairfax City Council story, page 1).

The request to remove Parkerson, a member of the county planning department staff, was made by Joseph E. Martinez, a member of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission.

In a letter to the council, Martinez charged that Parkerson was guiding passage of a proposed zoning map for Fairfax which had been drawn up by the county planning staff.

He said the map will result in approximately 30 per cent of Fairfax property owners having their property backzoned without any provision for equitable compensation to the property owners.

"I find intolerable the undue influence the Marin County Planning Commission is exerting in Fairfax," he said, "and my conscience dictates that I question the integrity of our mayor and those council members who have supported the county planning department's representative on our Fairfax Planning Commission and not questioned this blatant conflict of interest."

After Martinez's letter was read, a letter from Bruce and Gloria Duncan of 340 Olema Road was read, supporting Parkerson and saying that Martinez's letter "will apparently serve as the basis for an attempt by councilman (Robert R.) Souza" to remove Parkerson from the city commission."

When the Duncan's letter was read, Martinez shouted from the audience that "it's a lie" that others were connected with his request.

"Mr. Nelder and Souza had nothing to do with it," he said.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell turned on Martinez's charge that the integrity of some councilmen was at stake.

O'Connell said that if Martinez had information which would question the integrity of any councilman, he'd like to hear it.

"I know of meetings you've had on the sly," Martinez said to O'Connell but he did not elaborate.

O'Connell said he thought Parkerson was qualified for the commission, but that he too did not like the county-produced zoning map.

But, he pointed out, the city planning commission had been working on the map for a year and was making modifications of it.

Mayor Egger said that no one had produced facts indicating a conflict of interest and City Atty. Wallace Myers said there was "no legal reason why Mr. Parkerson can't serve" on the commission.

O'Connell moved a vote of confidence for Parkerson and Councilman Cornelis van Vliet seconded the motion. Councilman Lee Nelder said he planned to obstain because he was not on the council when Parkerson was appointed.

As the council began to vote, Elizabeth Trail of 201 Cascade Drive shouted angrily, "Why don't you let the people judge — we pay the taxes."

She asked the council, "What gives you people the right?"

Members of the audience then shouted to her, "You elected them."

"I elected Mr. Nelder," she retorted to the laughter of members of the crowd.

"Let the people decide," she repeated, "I'm going to be a Communist if you don't."

She urged Egger to "clean this town up" and a remark by her about "damn hippies" brought a cry of "Right on!" from some young members of the audience.

She also said to Egger, "I can't even leave my home without it being robbed and you allow this crap to run around town."

Fee Debate Set On Paradise Park

The possibility of charging entrance fees at Paradise Park in Tiburon will be discussed again by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission tomorrow.

The commission meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in the planning commission chambers of the Civic Center administration building.

Last month, the commission asked its staff to investigate various methods of collecting fees. Use of a ticket machine, a pass for county residents, and a user permit in the form of a county sticker were among the possibilities mentioned.

Commissioners will also discuss their role in planning of the county fairground area at the civic center.

Auto Hits Pole, Two Teens Hurt

Two Novato teen-agers were hospitalized and one was injured yesterday when a car in which they were riding struck a utility pole at 9:40 p.m. on Diablo Avenue west of Center Road, Novato police reported.

Earl Richard Titman, 15, of 1582 South Novato Boulevard, was reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital with multiple bruises, and Randy Dean McKie, 15, of 717 Del Mar Avenue, was reported in good condition with scalp cuts at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Rafael.

Albert Daniel Titman, 14, of 1582 South Novato Boulevard, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a possible broken nose.

Driver of the car, Richard Thomas Reis, 16, of 714 Del Mar Avenue, was not reported injured.

Voter Decision On Council Pay Nipped

The Fairfax City Council last night defeated a resolution which would have made official the council's decision of July 27 to let voters decide how much councilmen should be paid.

The resolution to call a special election in conjunction with the November elections was defeated, 3-2, with Mayor Frank J. Egger and Councilmen Lee Nelder and Robert R. Souza forming the majority.

The council voted July 27 to let voters decide whether councilmen's salary of $150 a month should be cut to $25 a meeting, with a maximum of $75 a month.

Egger alone voted against that motion, saying he didn't think councilmen should have salaries, and the money saved should be used to hire a full-time administrator.

In a budget session last Tuesday, Egger moved that the council voluntarily drop salaries completely. He said the move would save the city $500 needed to finance the special election. His motion was defeated 4-1.

Last night, in what was expected to be a routine action, City Atty. Wallace Myers presented the resolution calling for the speical election.

Myers pointed out that even if voters decided in November to cut council salaries, the cuts would not go into effect until a new council was elected.

When a vote on the resolution was called, Egger said he would vote against it because, as he had said before, it did not offer voters a choice on whether salaries should be paid at all, merely how much should be paid.

Souza said he would vote against it because of Meyer's statement that it would not take effect immediately.

Nelder voted against it without comment, and the city council was right back where it started several weeks ago.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

BUILDING — Received a report from Fire Chief Charles F. Thornton that the estimated cost of a new public safety building was $403,000. The council sent the report to the planning commission for further study.

TREES — Granted a request from Philip Soldavini of 117 Bothin Road to remove a tree on his property.

TRAFFIC — Appointed a committee to study a request for stop lights at Willow Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

ORDINANCE — Directed Myers to prepare an ordinance on the destruction of trees.

TRAILS — Approved an ordinance prohibiting obstruction of certain roads and prohibiting traffic on fire trails. Egger voted against the motion because the traffic prohibition includes hiking trails.

SALES — Introduced an ordinance requiring real estate reports in conjunction with the sale of residential property and directed Myers to investigate the possibility of including commercial and undeveloped property in the ordinance.

HITCHHIKING — Introduced an ordinance prohibiting hitchhiking and the picking up or dropping off of passengers in places where the actions would impede the flow of traffic. Egger voted against the motion.

MEETING — Adjourned to a budget session at 8 p.m. tomorrow. If there is time, the council will finish last night's agenda.

Sausalito Duplex Fire Loss Hits $30,000

Flames swept through the second story of a Sausalito duplex today, causing damage estimated at $30,000 to the building and its contents.

The blaze began about 3:31 a.m. in the living room of the Bruce Moorefield home, 248 Cazneau Avenue, according to firemen, then spread quickly through the apartment.

Moorefield, awakened by the fire, escaped onto a sun deck over a carport. Fifteen regular firemen and six volunteers turned out to fight the flames, which were shooting out of the apartment's windows by the time they arrived.

The first-floor apartment of Janice Chantos suffered water damage, according to firemen, who said cause of the blaze was under investigation.

Marin General Hospital Officials Defend Drug Patient Treatment

Six Marin General Hospital officials, in a letter to Rev. Norman E. Leach of San Anselmo, have claimed the hospital's treatment of a youth suffering from a drug overdose was "sound and appropriate."

The letter, dated Aug. 5, was in response to a letter from Rev. Leach charging the hospital with inadequate service rendered July 14 to an 18-year-old transient.

"The reason the patient was not seen immediately by the emergency was in fact because he was attending another emergency patient at the time of your arrival," the hospital letter states. "One of our most skilled and an experienced emergency nurses assisted the patient to determine the nature of the problem and then kept the patient under close observation until the physician had completed treatment of the first patient.

"If the situation had demanded, the physician would have been requested to leave the other patient. The patient was not at any time in a state of shock nor was he convulsing," the letter continues.

The letter, was signed by Ray K. Bolinger, hospital administrator, Dr. Bradford Simmons, chief of staff, Dr. David David Cumminhgam, emergency physician; Dr. William Clark, president of the staff; Dr. George Dach-y-Rita, consultant to the Community Mental Health Center, and Francine Vieites, emergency department head nurse.

It came after County Administrator Alan Bruce requested that Dr. Donovan O. Coole, director of county medical services, begin an investigation.

Leach said earlier the youth came to his home last month asking for help he said he was given two spoonsful of cocaine and two spoonsful of speed by three other youths, who he said later sexually assulted him.

Leach said he rushed the youth to Marin General Hospital where he had to wait for 45 minutes before a doctor arrived.

The doctor then called in a consultant for the Community Mental Health Center. "Neither he nor the psychiatrist made any effort to follow up on the rape data," Leach charged.

The hospital said in its letter it had to be careful in prescribing antiodotes to overdose victims because the "drugs people think they are taking do not always correspond to what actually is taken.

"In view of the fact that drug overdoses are treated regularly in the emergency room, and that hospital statistic show that our staff has been most successful in dealing with this problem, your statement that no one seems to know what to do for drug overdoses at emergency' seems inapproriate," the letter continued.

The letter concluded that the hospital could not confirm that a sexual assault had occurred since the youth "stated he did not know what happened after he had been administered the drugs by the three boys."

Road Crash Kills Ex-Patrolman

SANTA PAULA (UPI) — A retired highway patrolman was killed and an elderly woman seriously injured in a traffic accident on the Santa Paula Freeway west of here Monday.

Authorities said the accident occurred when a car driven by Mrs. Hazel Park, 64, San Jose, rammed a motorcycle driven by retired patrolman John F. Gilmore, 63, then veered off the freeway, struck a car stopped on the roadside, and rolled down an embankment.

Gilmore was thrown 144 feet by the impact, which sent his motorcycle 317-feet down the highway. Mrs. Park suffered a broken leg.

Elmer Brown, driver of the parked vehicle, suffered facial cuts. His wife, Lola, 75, was hospitalized with severe internal injuries.

The Society for a Free Ministry also announced Monday it had elected two women to its executive board, re-elected president Eugene Bianchi of Atlanta and decided to move its headquarters from Oakland to New York City.

Women named to the eight-member board are Mrs. Jane Eggleston of Castro Valley, Calif., and Mrs. Vicki DeBenedetto of Albuquerque, N.M. Both are wives of unfrocked priests.

Phone, Telegraph Firms Get FCC Rule On Hiring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission has issued new rules that would make discriminatory hiring policies a factor in the granting of licenses and permits to common carriers.

The rules, to take effect Sept. 18, will require common carriers—such as telephone and telegraph services—with 16 or more employes to file a yearly employment report with the FCC no later than April 1 of each year.

In addition, the carrier must file a report of what it is doing to guarantee equal employment opportunity and must update it yearly if there is any change in it. The licensee also will be required to state if there have been complaints against it alleging discrimination.

The rules are designed to rule out discrimination on the basis of race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Bill To Free Draftees From Combat Readied

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation to exempt draftees from combat assignments after Jan. 1, unless they volunteer for such duty, has been introduced by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District.

Clausen cited as a precedent the 1940 Draft Act, which he noted initially restricted assignment of draftees to the Western Hemisphere.

The present draft system associated with sending draftees to Vietnam, he said, "is the single greatest contributor to unrest, distress and apprehension today, not only among students and young people, but also their families, loved ones and friends, as well."

The purpose of the draft in a declared war is clear, Clausen said. In peacetime, however, "use of the draft and draftees should and must be viewed in a new and different light," he declared.

Less than 500,000 of the nation's three million military personnel are draftees, he said, and fewer than one out of four draftees are in Vietnam.

San Anselman To Aid Tunney Bid

William Taylor of San Anselmo has been named a cochairman of the Marin campaign for Rep. John V. Tunney, D-38th District, Democratic nominee for U.S. Senate.

Taylor was cochairman in the June primary election of the campaign by the man Tunney defeated, Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-29th District.

Cochairman with Taylor in the Tunney campaign are Richard M. Adams of Belvedere and Toni Harley of Ross.

Tunney is challenging Republican incumbent George Murphy.

Mother-Slayer Of 3 Tots Given 5 Years To Life

TORRANCE (UPI) — A woman convicted of second degree murder for killing her three children has been sentenced to five years to life in prison.

Superior Court Judge Allen Miller Monday rejected a defense request to commit Mrs. Archia Mea Anders, 26, to a state mental institution.

Mrs. Anders had been arrested in connection with the stabbing death of a neighbor, Mrs. Madeline Nash, 32, and was free on bail when she shot her three children.

Authorities said she had written a letter saying she did not want the children to suffer for what she had done.

Mrs. Anders was convicted of manslaughter for the death of Mrs. Nash.

German Measles Vaccine Expanded

Vaccinations against German measles conducted by the Marin County health officials has been expanded to include children from 1 through 11 years, accourding to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Vaccinations will be given at the department's clinic at the Civic Center, Room 417, on Mondays from 1:30 to 4 p.m., Dr. Albrecht reported.

She said the expansion is due to the increased availability of vaccine.

Nixon Signs Increase In Unemployment Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed today a bill extending unemployment benefits to another 4.4 million nonfarm workers. He said the act will help persons who lose their jobs in the transition from a wartime to a peace-time economy.

Nixon signed the bill in the Blue Room of the White House in a brief ceremony attended by members of the House Ways and Means and the Senate Finance Committee.

String Of Conditions On Lodge's Additions

A master plan for additions to the Tiburon Lodge was tentatively approved last night by the Tiburon City Council, but not until it had imposed a string of conditions.

The plan, which calls for the addition of 32 motel rooms, two meeting rooms, the construction of a Bank of America branch and office building, and an addition to the lounge, was approved on first reading by the council on a 4-0 vote. Councilman Albert H. Sennett was absent.

Planning Director Wayne E. Moody had recommended approval, providing that several conditions were met.

They included the improvement of beach road with a traffic island, establishment of a new access road, establishment of 48 parking spaces, installation of fire hydrants and mains and filing of drainage, grading and landscaping plans.

After council discussion, Mayor Denis T. Rice added two more stipulations — that the applicant, Fred G. Zelinsky, post a bond for drainage improvements if the council deems it necessary, and that he pave, landscape and light a vacant lot behind the property at 1651 Tiburon Boulevard if the council so determines.

"I think we can live with these conditions," said William Bremer, architect for the project, noting that they would cos Zelinsky about $10,000. But he objected to the requirement to dedicate a 60-foot strip of land for extension of Beach Road.

At the suggestion of Councilman Anne E. Ellinwood, however, the council retained the condition. "We always can go back later and knock the requirement out," she said, "But let's keep it in for now."

In a separate but related action, the council approved a precise plan for the addition of a manager's quarters to the existing lodge building.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

SIGN — Approved a sign for Biagio's Pizza, 15 Main Street.

FLAGS — Approved display of signal flags on Main Street on seven dates: the opening of yachting season, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Ayala Day, Labor Day, Christmas and one open date.

REZONING — Approved on first reading rezoning of 22.7 acres on Mount Tiburon from single family residential to planned residential to permit construction of 27 clustered homes.

PARKING — Referred to its lands and development committee proposed amendments to the parking and loading ordinance.

RAILROAD — Approved rezoning of the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way to park zone to permit construction of a bicycle and pedestrian pathway.

BID — Accepted a $21,927 bid from Brown-Ely Co. for street maintenance and the overlay of Centro East, Centro West and Esperanza and Vistazo West streets.

SUSPENSE — Referred to its staff preparation of a calendar showing the status of certain matters being considered by various city bodies.

DEPOSITS — Continued to Sept. 14 an ordinance eliminating collection of deposits by Clearview Cable Service.

MARINERO — Continued to Sept. 14 consideration of a master plan for construction of 38 homes on Marinero Circle.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall to continue discussion of policy statements and to begin deliverations on the $647,953 budget for 1970-71. Rice also told the council to hold open Aug. 19 for a second budget session.

Youth's Foot Broken In Cycle-Car Crash

Gary Calvi, 18, of Bodega, was reported in good condition today at Palm Drive Hospital, Sebastopol, with a broken right foot suffered when his motorcycle collided with a car at Highway 116 and Stony Point Road, north of Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said his vehicle collided with a car driven by Charles Leas, 38, of 10 Mabry Lane, San Rafael, at 9:50 p.m. yesterday.

John Wayne Spurs Elite GOP Backers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Republicans, with the help of movie star John Wayne and membership in an exclusive campaign club, are seeking lobbyist funds for GOP legislative candidates.

Wayne is chairman of the select "California Golden Circle" Club which admits members "by invitation only" at fees of $1,000, $3,000 and $5,000.

Keith Coplen, finance director of the Republican State Central Committee, said the club, organized in May, now has about 50 members.

Invitations for membership in the "Golden Circle" have been issued under Wayne's name to corporation leaders, movie stars, legislators and Sacramento lobbyists, said Coplen.

LETTERS BY WAYNE

"We will continue this solicitation which only is by personal invitation and letter by Mr. Wayne until after the (November) election," Coplen said in a telephone interview.

Funds raised through the Golden Circle are used to finance the California GOP's "Cal-Plan"—a program to elect Republican candidates to the 40-member State Senate and 80-member Assembly. Republicans now hold both Houses by slim majorities.

In a memo to Republican lawmakers, the central committee reported that it has "invited the legislative advocates (lobbyists) to also participate by honoring a Republican legislator of their choice with a $1,000 membership."

Only a select group of lobbyists was invited to back the membership of a legislator, he said.

Lobbyists may either join the club themselves or sponsor a GOP legislator.

'SELECT LIST'

Prospective members form a "select list," said Coplen. "It's a very carefully screened list. We don't just get names out of a phone book."

"This naturally is a program that has the endorsement of the governor," he added.

Membership fee funds are funneled through the Republican Party to the candidates.

Fotomat Clerk Robbed Of $120

A man wearing a bag over his head held up the Fotomat at 535 Second Street, San Rafael, of $120 at 8:15 p.m. yesterday, police said.

The 18-year-old clerk twice asked the armed robber if he was kidding, but the barefoot man said, "I have a knife. Give me the money," according to police.

A witness who saw the man don the bag with eye slits cut in it told police he was a white male with a short beard and about 20 years old.

Petaluma Budget Gets Approval; Levy Hiked

The Petaluma City Council last night adopted a budget of $3,330,151, for 1970-71 that includes police pay raises.

The budget includes increases of 8.75 per cent for patrolmen and sergeants. The offcers have demanded 12.5 per cent, but called off a planned walkout last week when a restraining order was issued.

The police and their attorney, James F. Kemp, are to appear in Sonoma County Superior Court on Monday to show cause why an injunction against the strike should not be issued.

The budget also includes a 8.75 per cent boost for firemen, although they had agreed to 6.25 per cent in June. Council policy sets fire department salaries to match that of the police.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said the budget also includes provisions for another patrolman and a police clerk-dispatcher. Police Chief Larry D. Higgins had requested five more patrolmen and three clerks.

Other new personnel approved were eight firefighters to man the new fire station, and an employee each for the water department and sewage plant.

Meyer said employee salaries jumped $164,587 over last year's budget.

In adopting the budget, the council set the total tax rate at $1.87 per $100 assessed valuation, up 37 cents, largely reflecting payments on bonds approved by voters in the past year.

The Petaluma City Council also:

APPOINTMENTS — Named five persons to three city commissions: recreation, music and parks commission, Richard A. Muzio of Wells Fargo Bank; water commission, William N. Wurzberg, administrative assistant in Petaluma schools; planning commission, Lyle Hood, architect; Lester J. Popp, International Association of Machinists, and Arthur Cerini, Petaluma Cooperative Creamery.

RESURFACING — Approved plans to resurface four major streets and coat other streets at a cost of $42,000.

INSURANCE — Heard a report on federal flood and mudslide insurance and will study how it might be used in Petaluma.

Rivas Murder Trial Resumes

The trial of Ronald Rivas, 21, accused of murdering his father, Fidel I. Rivas, in their Novato home on July 17, 1969, resumed today before Superior Judge Thomas F. Keating.

The prosecution's second witness, Mrs. Fidel Rivas, returned to the stand to continue testimony about the family's life. She has told the father's repeated violence and threats against her and the frightened reaction of the family's 13 children.

The Rivas trial was recessed Friday morning after the courtroom next door was taken over by gunmen in a kidnap try that led to the death of Superior Judge Harold J. Haley.

Reagan Notes Backing For Logging Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation imposing tough controls on logging in Marin, now awaiting signature into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan, is backed by "strong public sentiment," the governor was told yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The governor's position on the bill is uncertain because it is opposed by the state division of forestry.

Bagley, in a "Dear Ron" letter to the governor, said that existing regulations under the state Forest Practices Act "are simply inadequate to protect the watershed, the terrain, the aesthetics, and neighboring residential land from logging in suburban counties."

The bill, SB 507 by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, would allow Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to regulate logging far more strictly than existing state law allows. Marin officials pushed for the bill after they were frustrated last year in attempts to control logging in west Marin.

The Division of Forestry's State Forest Practices Board, which administers state logging laws, is dominated by the logging industry, according to its critics.

Bagley's letter to Reagan noted the assemblyman is the chief architect of the governor's tax revision package.

Liver Transplant Patient Gaining

DENVER (UPI)—A 28-year-old California woman who underwent a liver transplant at the University of Colorado Medical Center was reported in satisfactory condition today.

The unidentified woman underwent the operation Sunday. Hospital spokesmen declined to reveal the identity of the person whose liver was used for the transplant.

The woman became the 42nd person to undergo the operation since 1963 at the hospital where doctors have pioneered both kidney and liver transplants.

Five of the 42 persons to undergo the liver transplant are still living.

Escapee, Assault Suspect Grabbed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police Monday captured Judson Catlin, the alleged "Fu Manchu rapist," who escaped Sunday night from Napa State Hospital.

Officers said Catlin, 23, was picked up at a downtown bank where he was formerly employed as a guard.

Catlin was indicted by the Grand Jury last month on charges of raping three San Fancisco women who told police their attacker had a drooping mustache that looked "pasted on."

Catlin was awaiting trial after being sent to Napa State Hospital for observation.

Behr Draws Challenge On 'Peace' Initiative

Michael R. Peevey, Democratic nominee for state Senate, yesterday challenged his Republican opponent, Peter H. Behr, to join him in support of the stated "peace" initiative on the county's November ballot.

Peevey, in a letter to Behr, said, "Although you publicly support the opposition to the Vasconcellos bill, which would have put California on record against the Indo-China conflict, I hope you will change your mind and give whole-hearted support to the Marin Peace initiative."

The county measure urges withdrawal of all American troops from Southeast Asia by June of 1971. The state legislation by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos bill, which would have prohibited Californians from having to fight undeclared wars. The legislation was killed.

Peevey, who released a copy of his letter to the Independent-Journal, wrote Behr that they "have a unique opportunity to make 'peace' a truly bipartisan issue as we campaign through the county."

Peevey concluded by noting that he and Behr were "widely separated on most issues because of your support of Governor Reagan's policies, which are eroding California's former high standards of public education and mental health care (to name but two), but I hope you break with the governor on the overriding issue of governmental support for peace."

Mexico To End Quickie Divorce?

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Mexican government announced today it will submit legislation to Congress outlawing the so-called "quickie divorces" for foreigners.

The new law would bar foreigners who cannot prove they are permanent residents in Mexico from obtaining divorces from Mexican courts.

For years, Americans and other foreigners have obtained certificates of residence from officials of Ciudad Juarez the same day of their arrival. A divorce in Ciudad Juarez took as little as 24 hours.

The new law would require foreigners wishing to be divorced to submit to the judge a certificate of legal residence in Mexico issued by the Interior Department.

Marriage Bliss Ends With Kiss

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The seven-year marriage of John and Michelle Phillips, former member of "the Mamas and the Papas" ended Monday with a kiss.

Superior Court Judge Joseph L. Gall did not appear to notice when Mrs. Phillips, 26, rushed into the arms of her former husband and kissed him as soon as the divorce decree was granted.

Phillips, 34, filed for divorce 15 months ago charging his wife ran off to London with their daughter, Chynna, now 2. He said she left the child in London while she traveled to North Africa with another man.

The marriage was dissolved on grounds of irreconcilable differences.

A settlement gave her $10,000 in lieu of alimony and $250 monthly child support.

Novato Panel To Air New Park Site Bid

The Novato City Council will meet at 8 p.m. today to discuss a requirement of a developer to provide low and moderate income housing, the date of a proposed $850,000 park bond election and an offer to sell the city 450 acres for a park.

The public session will be preceded by a 7:30 p.m. closed session to consider hiring a finance director.

A public hearing on standard growth properties' request for changes in the San Marin East master plan was continued from last Tuesday's meeting to resolve disagreement between the developer and planning commission on a requirement to include 10 per cent low and moderate income housing in the development.

Salt Lake City, Utah, developer Jay Garlick is to appear before the council to formalize an offer to sell the city a 450-acre portion of the Magetti Ranch northwest of the O'Hair property at Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue for a community park. The council has decided to hold a bond election for the purchase of park land, and a hearing to set the election date is on tonight's agenda.

The council will also hold hearings on an anti-litter ordinance, park regulations ordinance, zoning requests for properties on Davidson Street and at Cherry Street and Armstrong Avenue and an appeal by Johnson's Red Barn from a planning commission denial of a variance request.

Also on the agenda are a suggested bus route from Novato to San Rafael, a resolution establishing employee salaries, a suggested policy on drainage channel maintenance responsibility, vacation of a pedestrian walkway in Marin Golf and Country Club estates Unit No. 3 and a resolution setting policy on building demolition and land clearance.

Hearing Slated On Improvement

The North Marin County Water District board will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station, to explain and discuss the $238,000 Point Reyes-Inverness Park improvement plan.

The plan entails purchase of the Point Reyes Station and Inverness Park water companies and extensive improvements to existing facilities.

Construction of a 100,000-gallon enclosed reservoir, two pumping facilities and connections to several new water sources are contemplated.

Day-Care Service Plans Revealed

Extended day-care service for children of working mothers will be offered in September by the Belvedere Nursery School, according to Mrs. Richard Otter, president of the board of the school.

Children from ages three to six who are enrolled in a nursery school or kindergarten will be accepted for the program. Care will begin at 11:30 a.m., when the children are brought in from their morning classes, and end at 5:30 p.m.

The service is intended for families above the economic level of the public children's care centers operated by the county schools office, and fees are on a non-profit basis.

"A survey of social needs has indicated that the need for professional day care for the young child is not being met adequately in Marin County," Mrs. Otter said.

'WALKS ACROSS CALIFORNIA'

Marin Ecologist Leads Tours

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Julia Frederick and her husban, Alan, lead hikes for the Sierra Club, but more interesting is the fact that she leads "Walks Across California."

This is the title of tours she conducts as the only Marin ecology docent for the new Oakland Museum of California. Fascinated with the biological sciences ever since she was a child in Cardiff, Wales, Julia spends even more time than as a docent as a member of the volunteer council for the Audubon Canyon Ranch at Bolinas, going into Bay Area schools to give illustrated slide lectures about the ranch. She also leads the children on ecology field trips to the ranch.

At her home in the hills of Mill Valley, the slender, vivacious young woman had some important things to say about the currently popular topic of ecology and the museum, as woodpeckers and other wild birds could be seen feasting on hunks of suet hung on a tree overhanging the sundeck.

"The reason we have so many birds," she said with a laugh, " is that this is an insect sanctuary because we have never sprayed the trees in the five years we have lived here."

SPEAKING OF her work as a docent she said, "Save California is the message we are supposed to give, but fighting pollution and saving species endangered from pesticides are only the negative side of ecology.

"Ecology is the whole relationship between organisms and their environment. The exhibits at the museum show the environment of California as it would be undisturbed.

"The 'Walk Across California' takes you from the sea coast up to the mountains and down to the desert. There's a topographical model of each of the areas, and the exhibits have dioramas with perspective so that you actually feel you can walk into them.

"They are very realistic because most of the plants and small animals were freeze-dried, and each leaf on the Aspen trees was hand made."

Julia explained that the entire museum is devoted to California with the lower level on ecology, the second on history, showing Westward movements of population, and third on art composed of the work of California artists.

She says the tours the docents conduct are enormously popular with everyone from school children to newly arrived immigrants.

"Ecology brings all the sciences together," she explains," and shows you your place in the environment. It's a wonderful way to supplement the civics teaching program too.

"Ask the children what they are doing about pollution. All are doing something, such as cleaning up places and writing letters to the legislature and to local organizations to try to get them interested. The children get to express themslelves and have influence on their future. They learn that companies can be influenced by pressure and that each person does have power to help put the environment right."

Becoming a docent involves considerable preparation Julia explains.

"I was invited to be interviewed for a docent," she says, " and was one of the 140 chosen out of two or three hundred interviewed. I had to take a course for a year given in the museum building under the Peralta Junior College and got three units of college credit in ecology.

"You have to agree to give a minimum of two half-days a month for a year, but I often give as much as a day a week or at least every two weeks.

"I really spend more time in the Canyon Ranch lectures in Bay Area schools and field trips to the ranch. I took a course in preparation for that too last year at the ranch."

Returning to the subject of the Oakland Museum, Julia said another important program it sponsors for school children is "The Museum on Wheels." This consists of a big van that goes to the schools, staying two days at each one. It has exhibits that are explained by docents, two in ecology, two in history and two in art.

"I have worked on this program too," she says. "I'm hoping some day it will come to Marin."

Though Julia's major interest has always been the natural sciences, she has had a varied educational background and work experience.

AFTER GRADUATING from a private school in England, in preparation for a career she thought she wanted as a hotel manager, she studied hotel management, common law and economics at the Merchant Venturers private college, now a part of Bristol University in Bristol, England.

"After graduating," said Julia in her crisp, barely noticeable British accent, "I was an assistant manager for a year at the Grand Atlantic Hotel at the resort of Weston-super-Mare in the West of England, but I found it wasn't the kind of life I wanted. It's a hard career for a woman. I felt very insecure.

"Then I went into civil service in London for a year lnd then into a law office on Jermyn Street, the old street for lawyers described by Dickens. I stayed there until I was married.

"My husband, a civil engineer, and I then decided to go to Canada to visit some of my relatives. He got a job there in his field, and though we were homesick we stayed in Canada six years. Our son Mark (now 13) was born in Toronto, and our son Glen (12) at Sarnia, on Lake Huron, where we used to MARIN'S ONLY ecology docent, Julia Frederick, explains to her son Glen the various items in the ecology kit telling the story of the egrets and herons at the Audubon Canyon Ranch which she uses in lectures she gives in Bay Area schools. She is especially concerned that the birds' eggs are already showing diastrous effects of pesticides and fears it may be too late to stop them.

Marin Women

Barriers To Women's Rising In Professions Are Studied

Since 1898 the percentage of women doctors, lawyers and college president's hasn't risen very much — and it may be that women want it that way.

A New York sociologist, Dr. Cynthia F. Epstein, says women have pressed for admission to the professions but once admitted express a clear preference for their own domain — the home.

Dr. Epstein's views were expressed in her recently published book, "Woman's Place," the outgrowth of a study at Columbia University that was partially supported by a grant from the Institute of Life Insurance.

The nation's best educated women — those in whom society has invested most heavily — continue to underperform, underachieve and underproduce, according to the book. And their entrance into the professions has remained nearly constant during this century.

In 1910, 1.0 per cent of lawyers were women. The most recent figure from the U.S. Census Bureau shows a climb to 3.5 per cent. Female nurses in 1900 comprised 94 per cent of the total and the recent figure is three per cent higher. In 1910, 6.0 per cent of doctors were women, comparable to 6.8 per cent in 1960. In 1910 over the same span, college presidents and professors who were women remained at 19 per cent.

Despite advances in the legal and social position of women in the United States and throughout the world, the book found a static situation in elite occupations. The hard-won laws guaranteeing equal opportunity have never been fully put to use nor have women taken full advantage of them.

PART OF THE ANSWER to this apparent reluctance may be in social factors which uniquely continue to repress women, Dr. Epstein observed. The notion that the woman who works in undermining the male is a Victorian holdover in modern society.

The result is that although some 28 million women now work in the United States, they settle for a fraction of job posibilities, or advance into the lowest positions on the professional ladder.

THE PROBLEM isn't a completely American one, either. Women's representation in important jobs is still small in Japan, Italy, India and West Germany. But in Sweden, Great Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Israel, the percentage has doubled in the past 20 years.

When Mrs. Epstein, who is 36 and the mother of a 7-year-old son, first began writing her book she said, "the Women's Liberation Movement did not exist."

Now the sociologist, who teaches at Queens College in New York and is married to an editor, said the movement may affect the female docility in the professions that has been apparent for such a long time.

However, Dr. Epstein observes that many of the limitations on women are self-imposed. It is enough for most to be married and live happily ever after.

Marriage Is Popular Institution

The number of marriages in the United States rose by 4.2 per cent in 1969, the 11th successive annual increase, according to statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

There were about 2,158,000 marriages last year, compared with 2,072,000 in 1968 and 1,927,000 in 1967. The marriage rate last year was 10.6 per 1,000 population (including the Armed Forces overseas), which was the highest since 1950.

Of special significance, the upswing in marriages has continued through the early months of 1970 and is expected to persist for years to come as increasing numbers of post World War II children reach the adult ages. The outlook is that marriages in 1972 will rise above the 1946 record high of 2,291,000 and after 1975, will exceed 2,500,000 annually.

Almost all states reported more marriages. The largest increase occurred in Texas, where the number of marriages rose by 10 per cent, from almost 132,200 in 1968 to about 145,600 last year. In five other states, the rise also was well above the national average, ranging from less than 3 per cent in Missouri to about 9 per cent in Arizona. Increases of intermediate magnitude occurred in Kentucky, Massachusetts and Hawaii.

The 8.8 per cent increase in Hawaii continued the marked rise that started in 1966 as a result of the Armed Forces' rest and recreation program in the Islands. Between 1966 and 1969 Hawaii led the nation with a 69 per cent increase in marriages, more than 4 times the rise in the rest of the country.

The increase also was substantial in Kentucky after June 13, 1968, when a new law lowered the age of consent from 21 to 18. Also noteworthy was the 1969 rise in New Mexico (5.8 per cent) reversing the decline which followed the mid-1967 introduction of a waiting period for a marriage license.

The two most populous states also reported more marriages in 1969 than during the previous year, but the relative increases fell below that of the country as a whole. In California, marriages rose by 3 per cent, from nearly 162,000 in 1968 to a high of about 166,800 last year. New York experienced a rise of 3.3 per cent in 1969, with marriages increasing by 4 per cent outside New York City and by 2.6 within the metropolis.

Teens' Telephonitis May Work Out Tension

Your resident teen-ager may be driving the family crazy by talking for hours on the telephone — but it may be doing the youngster some good.

"Telephonitis" which appears to attack the American adolescent may help the youngster work out a variety of inner tensions, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

The teen-ager often engages in a parcel of contortions while using the phone, twisting and squirming around chairs and ending up even taking on the charteristics of a pretzel. This muscular behavior may be working out strong inner forces that assail the teen-ager.

The Committee on Adolescence of the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, comprised of national authorities on childhood and adolescense, recently observed that many teenage needs are being met via the closed circuit telephone. The committee felt that dialing a peer and remaining in a private communication world is a means of escaping close family involvement and can be a tentative step towards independence.

The pervading sense of loneliness that is attached to the transition from childhood to maturity appears to be lessened through telephone attachemnts.

This is perhaps why schoolmates who see each other for six hours a day are hardly in the house when they are on the phone talking again. During adolescence the person at the other end of the line is primarily a sounding board for the youngster's own feelings.

The teen-age tieup of the telephone has driven many middle-class families into becoming two and three telephone households. Some phone directories carry a separate listing for "the Jones children" after the parents' number.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

When Someone Finally Notices You It's Hard To Say 'Get Lost'

DEAR HELEN:

I'm short, fat and ugly (175 pounds, with stringy hair, etc.) But I found a boy friend, my first.

We can't get married for at least four years. He's a drop-out and will probably be drafted, and I have to finish college. We've been going together for two months, though, and he says he can't wait any longer, and if I love him . . . you know, it's the same old story, but it seems awfully new when it's finally happening to you.

Having a boy friend is wonderful and I can't bear to lose him, but I just don't want to give in.

Please send me some good defenses. — DON'T WANT TO

DEAR DWT:

Your best defense is that you don't really love this boy. If you were 50 pounds thinner and didn't see yourself as "fat and ugly," you might not even date him —for then you'd have a choice of several.

Gratitude isn't love, DWT, and "fear of losing him" is the poorest excuse for an affair. It means your self-esteem is so low that you figure you have nothing except sex to offer a boy and, believe me, when it's available, he soon figures this isn't very much.

Instead of trying to buy affection, make yourself into the kind of girl who wins it. Consult your doctor about a safe diet; enroll in a self-improvement course at the "Y" or a local charm school; experiment with new hair styles and treatments; find the right make-up. But most of all, work on a new, positive personality that says, "Hey, I'm worth knowing," not, "Go away, I'm a failure." — H.

P.S. Here are a couple more defenses from my friends:

DEAR HELEN:

I've noticed quite a few letters from teen-age girls, wondering how far they should go with their guys.

Well, when I was 15, I went all the way, just out of curiosity, and because I thought I'd be considered cool, and therefore keep my steady interested. It didn't work out that way.

Now I realize that after the first time, the second, third, fourth, etc. temptations aren't easy to turn down. I've never been promiscuous, but the second guy wouldn't have happened, if there hadn't been the first experience.

I'm lucky because these facts never got around and I still have a good reputation, but now I'm 19 and I'm finding out that when you really care for a guy, you wish he had been the first, especially if you are planning to be married to him someday. He probably feels the same.

I'm not saying sex is taboo but I think it should be handled maturely or a girl may end up with a low opinion of herself. These young girls who think they're grown up but aren't, will discover they don't feel the same about a certain subject in a few years. But then it will be too late. Love is much too powerful an emotion to experiment with too young. — NO PREACHING, WARNING

DEAR HELEN:

When I read "Too Good's" letter (about the fellow who went back to his "easy" ex-girl friend because his new girl was "too good for him"), I didn't know whether to laugh or cry, but I sympathize. Same thing happened to me! I was 16, the guy was 17. I loved him, but I also was "too good." So he chose a girl who wasn't.

It hurt and still hurts to know he'd choose a tramp instead of me. But I did a lot of thinking and decided I'd rather be a "too good" now than a "no good" or "not good enough" later.

When fellas start looking for wife material, they remember that used merchandise is cheap. So many high school affairs break up because demands outweigh respect. The new morality sounds great, but it can sure be a trap. And as you say, Helen, the girl must pick up most of the pieces — and try to hide 'em afterwards.

This guy said he really loved me and I believed him, so I think he'll come back when he's ready to settle down. Until then, I'll just be — ANOTHER "TOO GOOD."

DEAR ATG:

You aren't alone.

— H.

"We didn't appreciate the open spaces in Canada at the time and were so homesick we went back to England, and the first things I missed were the blue skies and open spaces.

"We diceded we had made a mistake in going back. Our horizons had widened, and we didn't think the same as our contemporaries any more.

"So we decided to come to the United States. Though life is not so secure here, there is more opportunity and life is more exciting. We're not sorry we went back, though. You need to go back every once in a while and be reminded of why you left. They call it taking the cure."

In San Francisco Julia worked two years for Henry Hayes of Kentfield in the law offices of Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro and left when Mr. Hayes retired.

Since they have lived in Mill Valley, where Julia says the family, including the Siamese cat Yindee and golden labrador dog Bronwen, is completely happy, she has been able to devote all her leisure time to her interests in conservation and the natural sciences.

Just how devoted she is, is indicated by the organizations in which she is active. They include, in addition to the Sierra Club, the Marin Conservation League, Save the Redwoods League, Zero Population Growth, and Defenders of Wild Life. Somehow she also finds time to be editor of the newsletter of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel parish in Mill Valley.

"I'd like to mention," Julia said," that the museum is now interviewing for docents. They are badly needed because they never have enough. Almost every new docent they get is someone who has been impressed with a tour and the docent who conducted it.

"Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Alice Knapp at the Oakland Museum," she said.

Planners Oppose Houseboat Dock Plan

Dolan J. Arques, request for 261 docking berths for houseboats on his property in Richardson Bay is far too many, the Marin County Planning Commission declared yesterday.

On a motion by Eugene R. Trombley, the commissioners voted 4 to 1 to continue action on the request until Sept. 14 so that Arques can get together with the planning staff and agree on cutbacks in the amount of fill needed to build the berths. In the process of reducing the fill, the number of berths will probably be reduced, said commissioner Edward Hageman.

John F. West, the lone dissenter, wanted to trim the number of berths to a maximum of 133, the number of houseboats that now exist on Arques' 25-acre property at Gate 6. The entire Arques yacht harbor area covers 35 acres of which 10 acres is county underwater streets.

West, besides seeking a further reduction in the number of houseboats planned, said that residential houseboats do not belong in a resort-commercial area like Richardson Bay. He also wanted to know what Arques would trade to the county in exchange for building his piers and berths over county streets.

Hugh G. Lawrence, attorney for Arques, replied that Arques would reserve open water in exchange for use of the county streets.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty wanted the number of berths cut to between 100 and 133. He was unable to determine how many houseboats were in existence in Arques'harbor when the resort-commercial district was set up in 1966.

County Planning Director Werner von Gundell gave this overall picture of Arques' houseboat plans:

The proposed 261 berths would handle the 133 houseboats already there and other boats anchored in the bay at random. A total of 438 parking spaces are planned for automobiles, with about four acres of new fill. Most of the fill would be placed where the ferry Charles Van Damme is located and around the ferryboat San Rafael.

Don Louden of Mill Valley announced plans to lease the Van Damme (formerly Juanita's Galley) for use as a steak house and eventually for entertaining and dancing.

Von Gundell recommended a redesign of the Arques plan for berths and docks because the plan does not allow for a continuous 20-foot wide pedestrian path along the shoreline, as provided in the Richardson Bay Specific Plan. Furthermore, he said that Arques's plan calls for considerable fill, whereas the Bay Conservation and Development Commission prohibits new fill for houseboats except for walkways on pilings.

Lawrence protested any reduction in the number of berths. "Someplace along the line, the county seems to have assumed a policy that there should be no more houseboats. Such a policy does not exist," declared Lawrence.

He said the 261 berths are allowed by the county's houseboat ordinance, and all boats that tie up to the Arques piers will meet county standards.

Harrah, 58, Weds Californian, 30

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Nevada gambling entrepreneur William Harrah, 58, has taken a 30-year-old Southern California physical culturist as his fourth wife.

Harrah's third marriage ended when he and entertainer Bobby Gentry obtained a divorce last April.

The bride is Mary Burger, a native of Amarillo, Tex. The couple said they had been friends for several years.

They were wed in a quiet ceremony Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church.

Harrah owns casinos at Reno and Lake Tahoe.

Californian Chosen To Commerce Position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has nominated William R. McLellan, 47, to be assistant secretary of commerce.

McLellan would replace Kenneth N. Davis who resigned recently because of his disagreement with administration trade policies. McLellan, a native of Kearney, Neb., has worked for the FMC Corp. in Saratoga, Calif. for the last 20 years.

North Koreans Hit U.N. Buildup

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) —North Korea charged today the United Nations Command is building up military strength in South Korea while talking about U.S. troop reductions.

Maj. Gen. Han Yong-ok of North Korea said at the 304th meeting of the Korean Military Armistice Commission that the buildup could lead to all-out war in Korea.

Han said the recent meeting of South Korean and U.S. defense officials in Honolulu was designed for war preparations under the pretext of discussing a U.S. troop reduction in Korea.

The North Koreans and the United Nations Command accused each other of numerous violations of the armistice agreement since June 28.

Ruling Stalled On Company Sign Request

Coldwell Banker and Co., which plans to buy the Greenbrae Co.'s real estate office in front of Bon Air Shopping Center for its new Marin headquarters, may get a free-standing sign but could lose the present wall sign at the building in the process.

Several members of the Marin County Planning Commission declared yesterday that the wall sign on the quaint, castle-like building at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and La Cuesta Way detracts from the beauty of the structure. Greenbrae Co. has moved its offices into the Bon Air center.

Harold Valceschini, representing Coldwell Banker, asked for both a free-standing lighted sign and a wall sign to replace the words, "Greenbrae Co."

The commission — some members expressing a desire to eliminate the wall sign — postponed action until Aug. 24. Valceschini said he would have to confer with Coldwell Banker officials to see if removal of the wall sign on the structure is acceptable.

Several Greenbrae residents thought only a small wall sign.

Two Points Defeat Tentative Laird's Landing Subdivision Map

A tentative map for Laird's Landing subdivision, a 319-acre residential development within the proposed boundaries of Point Reyes National Seashore, was turned down yesterday by a unanimous 5 to 0 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission. Commissioners Walter F. Freitas and Margaret B. Azevedo were absent.

On a motion by Hugh Dougherty, the commissioners rejected the tentative map for the 63-home development because the developer failed to indicate adequate access to the property on the west side of Tomales Bay, just north of Tomales Bay State Park, and failed to provide details for water and sewage facilities.

Dougherty also declared that the tentative map did not conform to the county master plan, and that the developer did not make adequate showing that the federal government would not acquire the land for the seashore within a reasonable time.

James B. McKenney, attorney for the property owner, Robert D. Marshall Jr., protested that the two reasons given for denial are "unreasonable, arbitrary and unconstitutional."

Details on water and sewage facilities are conditions required in the final map, but not in a tentative map, argued McKenney.

William L. Desmond, director of the county division of environmental health, recommended denial of the tentative map because nothing had been presented to him to show an adequate waste disposal system. He said borings on the property showed the soil unsuitable for septic tanks.

Others who spoke against the tentative map were Howard Waite of the Inverness Improvement Association; Mrs. C.R. Thompson of Kentfield, representing the Sierra Club; Harold E. Gregg, representing the Marin Conservation League, and Sidney M. Levin of Berkeley, who said he intends to move to Kentfield.

"I'd hate to see this great block (of property) taken out of the Point Reyes Seashore," declared Gregg.

Mrs. Thompson said the Sierra Club fears effluent from the subdivision would flow into Tomales Bay, polluting waters and damaging oyster beds.

Phase Out Of Lead Gas Bill Killed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation requiring oil companies to phase out the lead in gasoline pumped at California filling stations has been defeated by the Senate Transportation Committee.

The bill by Assemblyman Peter Schabarum, R-Covina, was scrapped on a split voice vote Monday after nearly a three-hour hearing which he complained was too brief for the magnitude of the bill.

It was the key measure in a package of antismog legislation drafted by a special Assembly committee on air pollution.

Schararum said the Assembly spent 50 hours analyzing the proposal before passing it. He said he was "disappointed the Senate saw fit to spend only a couple of hours on this bill."

Asked if he thought he got a "fair shake," the lawmaker replied, "I don't think I did." However, he said it was doubtful he would seek a reconsideration vote.

"I doubt whether I'd get the votes for reconsideration," he told newsmen.

Committee Chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, was even more certain about the fate of the measure.

The proposal would gradually have ordered the elimination of air pollution-causing lead in gasoline. On July 1, 1977, only a "trace" would be permitted.

Nearlyl every major oil company—Shell, Standard, Mobil, Atlantic-Richfield—in addition to the Ethyl Corp. opposed the measuse. Smaller independent refineries also objected.

The independents said the bill would impose economic hardships on them, which would make lead reduction unfeasible to remain in business.

Paul Petrus, Mobil's manager of fuels, suggested that a third pump featuring low-lead gas be used instead of phasing out all leaded gasoline.

HIRING POLICY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation aimed at eliminating any discrimination against hiring women by the state colleges and University of California won Senate approval Monday.

The three measures by Sen. Mervyn M. Dumally, D-Los Angeles, were sent to the assembly with little opposition.

One would require college trustees to "eliminate all policies which detrimentally and unreasonably affect the employment status of females hired by the state colleges." Another requires the university to "review" hiring practices with a view toward correcting inequities.

The third measure requires that school teacher manuals and textbooks used in public schools contain "accurate portrayals of both men and women in all types of roles, including professional, vocational and executive."

WORK PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The author of an omnibus welfare reform bill has accepted "in principle" an amendment requiring the State Human Resources Department to develop a work program for unemployed fathers.

Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, said he had "no objection" to the amendment proposed by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills. The Senate Health and Welfare Committee headed by Beilenson, conducted its second hearing on the measure Monday and set another session for Wednesday.

Duffy's bill requires unemployed fathers of families receiving aid to work in public service projects.

Beilenson suggested the Human Resources Department should first be required to come up with a "plan that makes sense and provides jobs."

Arrow From Alcatraz To Boat Brings Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An investigation was launched Monday into who shot an arrow from Alcatraz Island into the side of a passenger-laden tour boat over the weekend.

Nobody was hurt in the incident last Saturday night as the Harbor Queen was returning from a cruise on San Francisco Bay.

Meanwhile, the federal government said Monday there would be no prior concessions to the band of Indians occupying the former prison island in the matter of the Coast Guard's reactivation of navigation signals on the 22-acre "rock."

The government cut power to the island lighthouse May 29, saying offshore buoys would replace it. The Indians have kept the light burning at night with a donated gas generator.

But the Coast Guard has been pressured by fishermen and mariners to regain control over the light and foghorns.

"When the Coast Guard is ready, the light will go on," said Thomas Hannon, the regional administrator of the General Services Administration.

The Indians want a guarantee that the government will supply them with electricity and water before they allow the power to the lighthouse and foghorn to be restored.

Hannon conceded there might be a showdown in the matter, given the Indians' stance.

"If you take what everyone says, there is a crisis in the making," Hannon said.

Hannon said he was puzzled by the Indians' attitude because "they have consistently told me they want the light on."

He said he will leave the situation as it is until the Coast Guard gets the equipment necessary to activate the light house and fog horns.

Last week, the Indians warned away a work crew sent to the island to assess what repairs and equipment would be necessary to restore the navigation service. A fire on the island damaged some of the equipment in June.

The small Indian band on the island represents tribes from across the country and seeks possession of the former federal penitentiary on grounds that it has been abandoned by the government.

Israeli Jets Hit Lebanon, Suez Quiet

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel sent warplanes against Arab targets in Lebanon today for what a Tel Aviv spokesman said was retaliation for continuing guerrilla raids on Israeli soil. But a cease-fire held on the Suez Canal and there were hopes for early peace talks under U. N. auspices.

The air raids on the slopes of Mt. Hermon in southeast Lebanon marked the second time Israeli jet fighter-bombers have struck there since the cease-fire went into effect last Friday.

"The attack which came as a result of terrorist shooting on Israeli forces began at 1:50 p. m. (7:50 a. m. EDT) and continued for about 30 minutes," an Israeli spokesman said in Tel Aviv announcing the new Mt. Hermos strikes. Israel claims that the area is a stronghold of guerrilla bases.

Israeli reports said an Arab guerrila was killed Monday night in a clash between a guerrilla force and an Israeli patrol in the southern Golan Heights, a part of Syria which Israel seized in the 1967 war.

In Cairo, the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said today Egypt will not repartriate four Israeli Phantom jet pilots it has captured.

Israeli officials had expressed hope that U.N. peace envoy Gunnar V. Jarring would be able to convince Egypt to agree to a prisoner exchange, the newspaper said.

The newspaper, quoting a responsible source, said Cairo considered "The current situation is no more than a temporary cease-fire and the struggle with the enemy was still continuing."

As the 90-day cease-fire on the Suez Canal entered its fourth day, Israeli military records showed a steady decline in guerrilla attacks from Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

There were a dozen guerrilla incidents Saturday in the first 24 hours of the cease-fire, but only seven Sunday and four Monday.

Military observers attributed the failure of the guerrillas to make good their threat of stepped-up attacks to two possible factors:

—Tension between the guerrillas and the Jordanian government which may have caused the guerrillas to pull forces away from the Israeli frontier to Amman for a possible confrontation.

—Reduced cooperation of the Jordanian and Lebanese armies with the guerrillas since Amman accepted the American peace initiative and Beirut applauded it.

Greek Regime Frees 500 Alleged Reds

ATHENS (UPI)—The Greek government has announced the release of 500 alleged Communists and granting of exit visas to former politicians in a "spirit of leniency."

George Georgalas, deputy to Premier George Papadopoulos, said the 500 alleged Communists, including 22 women, will be released from detention within the next two weeks.

'Major' Pacific Quake Noted By UC Station

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California seismology station recorded what it termed a "major" earthquake early today centered in the area of the New Hebrides Islands.

A spokesman said it was recorded at 3:22 a.m. PDT (6:22 a.m. EDT) and registered a 7.6 reading on the Richter scale. Such a quake in a crowded area could cause havoc, but the spokesman said today's temblor was apparently centered in the Pacific some 5,850 miles southwest of here.

Temporary Checks On Subpoenaing Newsmen

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell has tackled "one of the most difficult problems I have faced as attorney general", setting down temporary guidelines prosecutors must follow in subpoenaing newsmen."

Mitchell spelled out the guidelines Monday in a speech to the American Bar Association (ABA) house of delegates. He announced these guidelines, which he said would be administered "with sensitivity."

—The Justice Department recognizes that in some cases subpoenas may limit free press rights. The approach must be to weigh this factor against the public interest in the fair administration of justice.

—All reasonable attempts should be made to obtain the information from non press sources.

—Negotiations with the press should be attempted when a subpoena is contemplated.

—The attorney general must authorize each subpoena.

—A request for such authorization must show the information sought is essential and cannot be obtained from non press sources. Subpoenas normally should be limited to verification of published information. Great caution should be observed in requesting unpublished information of identification where a serious claim of confidentiality is alleged.

Although Mitchell indicated he did not wish to infringe on the rights of the news media, he said, "we will not permit an innocent man to be convicted or a guilty man to be freed because we decline to subpoena a newsman who had information vital to the case."

At a news conference following his speech, Mitchell disclosed that the Justice Department soon will file its own suit in the Supreme Court to test the constitutionality of the law giving the vote to 18 year olds. The suit also will be aimed at abolishing state literacy tests and residency requirements as the law provides, he said.

Texas and Oregon already have filed test cases against the government in the high court.

Earlier, at the ABA's opening assembly, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger told the lawyers the federal judicial system must be overhauled to reduce crime and cope with new laws generated by changing times.

He predicted a sharp reduction in the crime rate if courts were given "the manpower and tools" to try criminal cases within 60 days after indictment.

The chief justice recommended creation of a judiciary council of perhaps six members, one-third from each branch of government, to report to the President, Congress and the judicial conference on matters affecting the judicial branch. The judicial conference is the administrative arm of the federal system.

Parents' Bus Suit Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Superior Court judge on Monday dismissed a suit brought by the Concerned Parents Association which objected to a school board plan to bus Richmond District pupils in an attempt at racial integration.

Judge Edmund M. Moor, on assignment from Alpine County, declared the "petition has not stated legal grounds for the issuance of any extraordinary writ...to compel the board to abandon its Richmond complex plan."

The board, he added, had acted within its authority.

Munich-Rome Express Derails, Killing One

CHIUSA, Italy (UPI)—The Munich-Rome express train jumped the tracks in the Brenner Pass between Italy and Austria Monday, killing one person and injuring 34 others.

The electric locomotive split in two and several passenger cars derailed, one falling down an embankment. Trainmen blamed a rock in the tracks for the accident.

Priest In Draft Case Is Arrested

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Fugitive priest Daniel Berrigan S.J. who failed to surrender to federal officials to begin a prison sentence for destroying draft records, was arrested Tuesday on Block Island, about 10 miles off the Rhode Island coast.

Berrigan, 49, a Jesuit priest and noted poet, was apprehended at a "private summer residence" and taken to Pt. Judith on the mainland by a U.S. Coast Guard vessel, the FBI said. He was to appear before a federal judge in Providence for arraignment on charges of failing to surrender to serve his prison sentence.

NO DETAILS

The FBI gave no details of his arrest except to say he was picked up shortly after 11:30 a.m. EDT on the small island and taken to the mainland for arraignment.

He was wearing "civilian clothes" and did not have a beard, the FBI said.

Federal authorities would not say who owned the summer home or how they learned he was there.

The FBI said no one else was arrested in connection with Berrigan's apprehension but would not comment if other arrests were planned.

LONG SEARCH

Berrigan had been sought since April 9 when he failed to appear to begin serving a three-year prison sentence. A bench warrant had been issued for his arrest.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover announced that the 49-year-old Berrigan, a member of the "Catonsville Nine," was arrested at 11:25 a.m. at the small summer resort island.

Linda Handed Another Bloody Tate Picture

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Defense attorney Irving Kanarek pounded away today with more cross examination of key state witness Linda Kasabian despite the objection of other defense attorneys to his tactics

The lawyer for 35-year-old hippie cult leader Charles Manson handed another bloody photograph of one of the victims of the Tate-LaBianca slayings to Mrs. Kasabian on the witness stand as he sought to force her to admit that she had gone into the Tate residence also.

Mrs. Kasabian averted her eyes from the photograph.

The "united defense" put forth by Manson and the three young women codefendants was disintegrating and other defense attorneys said that Kanarek might be doing a good job for Manson but he was implicating the girls.

Kanarek showed Mrs. Kasabian a photograph of a window at the Tate home and asked her if she had not looked into the house. She replied that she had been standing by Charles "Tex" Watson and did glance through the window.

She said that all she saw was a table and a book case in the room.

Objections by the prosecution squelched many of Kanarek's questions, including one about why she had lived in communes all over the United States.

The 21-year-old witness was in her 12th day of testimony in the case. She was granted immunity Monday in the seven slayings.

Kanarek asked Mrs. Kasabian today about waiting in an automobile outside the home of grocer Leno LaBianca while Manson went into the house.

He asked her whether she had made any attempt to alert anyone that another murder was about to be committed and she replied that she had not.

"You didn't get out of the car did you?" Kanarek asked.

"No."

"Why didn't you get out?"

"Charley didn't tell me to get out."

"Were you chained to the car?"

"No."

"Did Charley tell you to smoke a cigarette?"

"No."

"Did Charley tell you to breathe?"

"No."

"When you say that you didn't get out of the car because Charley didn't tell you to, that's just an excuse isn't it?"

"No, it's not an excuse, it's the truth."

"Kanarek asked the witness when she finally got out from beneath Manson's spell.

"The day I ran away from the ranch," she said.

Defense counsels Paul Fitzgerald and Ronald Hughes both strongly objected yesterday to questioning of Mrs. Kasabian by Kanarek.

And Manson interjected himself into the controversy by calling out suddenly in the courtroom: "You're getting me locked into this guy."

The long-haired, bearded defendant was objecting to Kanarek's asking questions over and over again and showing pictures which could tie him into the case.

Fitzgerald charged that Kanarek was "acting more like a third prosecutor" in his questioning of Mrs. Kasabian. He said Kanarek was doing a good job for Manson but that he was implicating the other defendants—Susan Atkins, Leslie Van Houte and Patricia Krenwinkel.

Tiburon Asks Out Of New Waste Study

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District last night approved a resolution opposing inclusion of the district in an improvement district being formed by the Marin Municipal Water District to finance a pre-engineering study of waste disposal in southern Marin.

Secty. Robert A. Sterling reported that the board convened briefly at a special meeting and unanimously passed the resolution. It will be forewarded to the water district in time for tomorrow's board meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the district office, but action is not expected at that time.

"This is our way of telling them that we want out," Sterling said. "We're willing to go along with anyone to improve the sewage situation, but more studies won't accomplish anything."

Sterling said that three studies by "three reputable engineering firms" have been performed in past years and the proposed pre-engineering study is a "move backward."

A-C Bus District, Workers Huddle

OAKLAND (UPI)—A-C Transit District and bus drivers union representatives are meeting today to work out details on a labor contract that ended a 19-day June strike.

Amalgamated Transit Union members returned to work for an hourly wage of $4.50 for drivers and $5.26 for top mechanics.

Still to be settled are fringe benefits, including the union's demands for full paid medical and dental care.

An arbitration panel has 60 days to reach a binding decision.

Trustees At Kentfield Adopt Budget

Kentfield School District trustees last night approved a final 1970-71 budget totaling $1,525,630 up about $185,000 over last year's.

However, the tax rate will remain about the same as last year, according to Emma H. Wright, district business manager, because the board is expending reserve funds.

She added that last year's rate was $3.33 per $100 assessed valuation including a general operating rate of $1.965.

Approval of the budget followed an additional .5 per cent pay increase offer to teachers above the previously approved 6 per cent, Mrs. Wright said. The additional .5 per cent about $4,000 to the total budget and increases the teachers' payroll to $281,630.

The board also approved payment of all employee health insurance benefits, including full dental expenses incurred by employees, Mrs. Wright added.

Previously, the district paid $20 per year per employee toward hospital and health insurance.

The Kentfield School District board also:

LANDSCAPING — Rejected a $57,800 bid from landscape contractors A and J Shooter of San Rafael for landscaping, paving and general improvement at Adaline E. Kent School. The board decided to consult its architect before proceeding further with bidding.

MILK PROGRAM — Held over until its next meeting a decision on participation in a federally subsidized milk program.

ATTENDANCE — Approved four interdistrict attendance agreements and rejected one from the Mill Valley School District because no agreement exists with the Mill Valley district.

Bomb Threat Delays Willy Brandt On Flight From Bonn To Moscow

BONN (UPI) — A bomb threat today caused a two-hour delay in Chancellor Willy Brandt's flight to Moscow to sign a nonaggression treaty with the Soviet Union which he said would help make "peace in Europe more secure."

A search of the plane turned up no evidence of any bomb and it took off on the three-hour flight to the Soviet capital at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT).

Moments after the Boeing 707 jetliner carrying Brandt, his official party and 106 newsmen started taxiing for takeoff, an anonymous telephone call was received by the control tower at Wahn Airport saying a bomb had been placed on the plane.

The jetliner stopped so it could be searched. Fire trucks surrounded the plane, parked at the end of a runway, and police cleared public galleries around the administration buildings.

In a statement made at the airport just before leaving, Brandt declared the treaty renouncing the use or threat of force "preserves our national interests, should make peace in Europe more secure, and will be a good starting point for the development of our future relations to the Soviet Union, and also to other East European partners."

"This signature does not take effect upon signature," the chancellor went on. "The federal government assumes the signature also will be helpful for a satisfactory solution of the Berlin question by the Four Powers."

The United States, Britain, France and Russia have been negotiating since early summer on Western proposals for ending the recurring Berlin crises provoked by Moscow's challenge to the city's links to the west.

The talks are now in recess but will resume in September. Brandt's government has said it will not let the nonaggression treaty be ratified by Parliament or take effect until and unless the Russians do agree to improvements in Berlin's situation.

In a separate news conference, Foreign Minister Walter Scheel declared he considers Russia's actions in the Berlin matter to be "the test case" for deciding whether the West should take part in the European security conference Moscow wants.

But Scheel, who negotiated the treaty with Moscow and accompanied Brandt today for the signing ceremony, said he is confident the pact will encourage the Russians towards Berlin compromises.

"Our talks in Moscow and our treaty have an influence on the Berlin talks, and I believe all will agree it is a positive influence," Scheel said.

Brandt was the first west German Chancellor to visit Moscow since the late Konrad Adenauer went 15 years ago to take up diplomatic relations.

New Rights Chief Discussion Set

Recruitment for a new executive director of the human rights department will be discussed tomorrow night at a meeting of the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

The meeting will be held in the planning commission chambers of the Civic Center at 8 p.m.

The commission's regular meeting date is Thursday but the session was advanced to tomorrow because two commissioners could not attend on Thursday, secretary Anne Smith explained.

Since Austin J. Thompson resigned as executive director in June, Mrs. Smith has been managing the office. She said the commission hopes to hire a new director at $1,000 per month as of Oct. 1.

Novato Sanitary District Budget Left Unchanged

The Novato Sanitary District Board last night reviewed its 1970-71 preliminary operations budget of $297,000, making no changes.

District Mgr. Charles A. Joseph said he expects the budget to produce a tax rate increase of approximately two cents per $100 assessed valuation over the current rate of 31.5 cents if no changes are made.

The board also approved plans for a sewer main extension to serve Western Oaks Village Unit No. 1 subdivision south of the Scottsdale development on Highway 101, and passed a resolution aimed at annexing the San Marin East area on both sides of San Marin Drive West of Highway 101.

Bicycle Hits Car, Rider Breaks Arm

A 9-year-old San Francisco boy was reported in good condition with a broken arm today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco after his bicycle collided with a car in Inverness.

The California Highway Patrol said Joseph A. Lucas was riding his bicycle on Cameron Street near Douglas Street at 10:30 a.m. yesterday when it collided with a car driven by Joan T. Kurtz, 40, of Aberdeen Way, Inverness.

Lucas also suffered arm and face cuts and was treated at the West Marin Medical Center before being taken to the hospital.

Lapchick Funeral Set For Thursday

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI) — Services for Joe Lapchick, 70, St. John's basketball coach who died Monday, will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at St. Denis Church in Yonkers, N.Y.

Lapchick had a career coaching record of 335-118 during 19 years as head coach at St. John's, including four National Invitation Tournament victories. He later coached the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association and reached the NBA playoff finals in 1951, 1952 and 1953.

Lapchick, who was a member of the "Original Celtics" during the 1920's and 1930's along with Nat Holman, Johnny Beckman, Pete Barry and Dutch Dehnert, retired from coaching in 1965 after suffering from heart disease.

Salute To Joe Louis—Champ Down, But Not Out

By JIM MURRAY

The word, "champ," has come in for a good deal of misuse. Rotarians call each other "champ." Chamber of Commerce - types abuse it. People use it to summon bartenders. Backslappers throw it around like confetti.

To me, the word, "champ," denotes — and it always will — a tawny, lightning-reflexed young man out of Detroit in the 30s. His left was a blur. His right was an explosion. He knocked people kicking without changing expression. He looked at the world with sad, weary eyes.

They called him, in that more innocent — or more guilty, if you will — age, the "Brown Bomber," the "Dark Destroyer." Strong men turned to jelly when they fought him.

He wasn't a braggart. He went about his business with a "this is gonna hurt me more than it is you" expression. He seemed to pity his opponents.

He never made the mistake of equating a white man with the courage to climb in a 16-foot ring with him under blazing light with only a pair of shorts and a pair of gloves to protect him with a cowardly character who rode out of the night in a pack hidden by darkness and a bedsheet and armed with a rope and a gun.

He never deliberately taunted, baited or tortured an opponent. He knocked them unconscious as quickly as he could, murmured, "Another lucky night," and left the ring, unsmiling, apparently unhappy. He never hurt anybody except in a ring. Plenty of people hurt him. He never said an unkind word about any of them.

This was "The Champ." You better believe it. This was one of the most beautiful human beings who ever entered professional sports. This was a man who looked around a dressing room at a sniffling, sobbing, weeping crowd of people after a young bull from Brockton had half-killed him and knocked him consciousless and shrugged, "I knocked out lots of people."

This was Joseph Louis Barrow. Occupation: Champion.

Way back in 1916, in a cotton patch in Lexington, Ala., Monroe Barrow, a giant of a man, melancholy, defeated by life, weary of trying to keep his tar paper shack and pitiful store of clothing and bedding suitable for a family of 10, cracked and was led away to the Searcy State Hospital for the Insane where he died over a year later.

He never knew that his 2-year-old son would go on to become the most famous black man in America or the world, would become the mightiest fist-fighter the sport had ever seen, would make — and lose — several million dollars.

Today, Monroe Barrow's son is in a mental institution in Denver. Joe Louis Barrow didn't become violent, irrational, irritable or demonic. He just retreated into a cave of his own fears. Groundless fears. Joe is the same gentle giant he has always been. Joe Louis has finally found somebody to fear — Joe Louis. It is the one opponent he cannot take out in one round.

Is life that inescapable? Does this have to be? Does Monroe Barrow's son have to find the same exit from a harsh world as his daddy did?

Not if I can help it. We're all on trial here. If there's a man out there Joe Louis did an instant's harm to — aside from knocking him down at a pay rate of $200,000 a minute — you may be excused.

The rest of us should be advised that they are giving a "Salute To the Champ Joe Louis" Night in Detroit Tomorrow, at Cobe Arean. Bill Cosby will emcee, Red Foxx will make jokes, Mahalia Jackson will make great music. A lot of other groups will make noise.

If you can't be there, pass the buck. Put it in an envelope and mail it to Salute To The Champ, Joe Louis, c/o Bank of the Commonwealth, P.O. Box 3156, Detroit, Mich. 48231.

The ring has left a lot of human debris around our country. But not The Champ. The count hasn't even reached 9. And Joe has gotten off the floor before.

Let's pull for one more lucky night. As they say in the fight game, always stick with The Champ.

Leo On Way Out If Cubs Don't Make A Comeback

CHICAGO — Last time the Giants visited Chicago, the Cubs were comfortably in front in the National League East. That was in June and the Cubs were leading both Pirates and Mets by five games.

In the intervening two months, the Cubs have played seven under .500. They had been nine over .500. So their lead evaporated and now they are in third place.

The word around The Loop is that Leo Durocher goes if the Cubs don't make a comeback. But that's not exactly news. They were saying the same thing last year. Then, the one man with the authority to bounce Durocher said he would still be manager of the Cubs this year.

Phil Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, keeps a close watch on his team — but from a distance. Unlike Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, Wrigley is not at the ball park every day. After all, baseball is just a sideline with the chewing gum king.

Boss Popular With Players

However, that doesn't mean Wrigley is out of touch with what goes on in Wrigley Field. He checks the pulse of the Cubs closely. His popularity with the players always has been high but never as high as it is this year.

The feeling of loyalty Wrigley has for Cub players is reciprocated by them. Cub players trust him. They even sought his advice, not their own players association, during disputes between the association and baseball owners.

Leo Wasn't Fair To His Team

Wrigley counseled the Cubs to be loyal to their own organization since they were members of it.

All of Wrigley's comments on the Cubs have been in the welfare of the players. When Durocher took a weekend leave from the team last year without telling anybody why, Wrigley was angry "because it wasn't fair to the players."

Wrigley found no fault with the reason why Durocher left the club —to be at a Wisconsin boys camp with his stepson. But Wrigley did find fault with Durocher for not being straightforward in the matter. Durocher had said he was sick.

Wrigley called Durocher into his office on that occasion. It wasn't the first time Durocher left the team without an explanation. In Pittsburgh a year ago Durocher left the club and the Cubs dropped a 3-2 decision in 10 innings.

Took Day Off To Get Married

It turned out that Durocher also had a valid reason for that leave, too. He took the day off for his wedding to the former Lynn Walker Goldblatt.

"I guess we'll just have to forgive Leo this time," said Wrigley. "Any man is entitled to a day off for his wedding. But I don't like the way he went about it. It wasn't fair to the players."

Wrigley might not be as forgiving this year if the Cubs don't make a comeback, especially after their 1969 collapse during which a 9½ game lead on Aug. 13 was erased by the miracle stretch drive of the Mets.

Triumphant A's Home

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (UPI) — The resurgent Oakland A's are reeling in the slack in the American League West.

They returned home from Minnesota today after three straight victories which yanked the high-riding Twins down to six games ahead of California and seven ahead of the A's.

They returned home from Minnesota today after three straight victories which yanked the high-riding Twins down to six games ahead of California and seven ahead of the A's.

Monday's 7-3 win over the Twins followed a twinbill sweep on Sunday, but prior to that the challenging A's had only been able to throttle the Twins twice in nine tries.

Rick Monday applied the wood for Oakland's win Monday, whacking a homer, two doubles and a single, while Tommy Davis, Tony LaRussa and ex-Twin Don Mincher added three hits apiece as the A's chalked up a season high 19 hits off four Minnesota pitchers.

Monday's eighth homer of the season came with the bases vacant in the third, after Sal Bando doubled in the previous inning and scored the A's opening run on Frank Fernandez' single.

After Monday doubled in the seventh, Davis singled and took second when Monday was thrown out at the plate. He scored when Cesar Tovar bobbled Mincher's single to left.

FOUR MORE

Oakland added four more runs in the eighth with six straight hits. LaRussa doubled, Jim Grant beat out a bunt, Bert Campaneris singled, Monday doubled and Davis and Mincher added singles.

The win was Diego Segui's seventh of the season against eight defeats. Former Twin Jim Grant pitched three innings for his 20th save, after collecting his 19th against his former teammates in Sunday's nightcap.

The A's inaugurate a nine-game homestand tonight with Jim Hunter (15-9) on the mound against the Cleveland Indians' Dean Chance (7-5).

SURGERY MAY SAVE CAREER FOR CERRUDO

Golf pro Ron Cerrudo of Napa, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cerrudo of San Rafael, was to undergo surgery on a ruptured disc today at Stanford Medical Center.

The ailment, apparently stemming from an old football injury, threatens his entire golf career, but doctors believe he will be able to swing a golf club again in two months.

Cerrudo, 25, had won one tournament and nearly $30,000 this year until March when the pain began to ruin his game.

Sharon Wins Opener

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif., began defense of her U.S. girls' 18-and-under grass court tennis championship Monday with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Daryl Gralka of Houston at the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Other seeded players to advance included Chris Evert, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., a 6-1, 6-3 victor over Gale Lipton, Encino, Calif.; Eliza Pande, Palo Alto, Calif., who defeated Nancy Wheelwright, Bethesda, Md., 6-0, 6-0, and Laurie Tenney, Los Angeles, who eliminated Sandy Stamp, Deersdfield, Ill., 6-1, 6-0.

Also, Marcelyn Louie, San Francisco, over Claudia Smith, Lancaster, Pa., 6-1, 8-6; Nancy Ornstein, Washington, D.C., defeating Kay Reed, Cleveland, 6-2, 6-0; Kristien Kemmer, Los Angeles, over Carol Sawyer, Wilmington, Del., 6-0, 6-0.

PRO FOOTBALL CAMPS

Ex-Glamor Stars Norton, Appleton Can't Make It

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Add Rick Norton's name to the long lists of glamor college quarterbacks who never quite made it with the pros.

For every Joe Namath who lives up this college reputation, there are several QBs like Norton who fail to display the form in the pros that they had in college.

Norton, who gained over a thousand yards passing at Kentucky for three consecutive years while tossing for 24 TDs, threw just six TD passes in four years with the Miami Dolphins and was one of eight players placed on waivers Monday when the squad was reduced to 66 players.

Norton was a first round bonus pick of the Dolphins when the club was formed in 1966. He signed a four-year $300,000 contract and was the player the Dolphins were going to build the franchise around.

BAD START

Norton got off to a bad start in his rookie year when he suffered a fractured jaw and missed the final half of the season. The next season the Dolphins drafted Bob Griese of Purdue and Griese quickly beat Norton out of a job.

Another big college name who didn't make it is Scott Appleton, the former Texas star who was cut by the New Orleans Saints. The Saints are the third pro team to get rid of him.

In other training camp action, the Washington Redskins lopped three veterans—halfback Gerry Allen, tackle Ken Kortas and quarterback Dan Talbott—off their squad. Green Bay got its squad down to 55 players by cutting 10, including three-year veteran Claudis James. Pittsburgh also tried 10 players, including Bobby Compbell, a fifth round draft choice from the Penn State.

Houston announced that Sonny Bishop, the veteran offensive guard, is quitting after eight seasons in pro ball. He has been with Houston since 1964. San Diego cut nine players, including three veterans—Don Alley, im Campbell and Leveret Carr.

STAR HOLDOUT

Lem Barney, the star cornerback who has been a holdout reported to the Detroit Lions camp even though the still hasn't signed. He could play out his option if he doesn't come to terms.

Buffalo cut eight players, including veterans Bobby Crockett and Ben Gregory.

The New York Jets announced that standout defensive end Gerry Philbin will undergo a shoulder operation and miss more than half the season. Since Al Atkinson has retired and Jim Hudson and Larry Grantham are coming back from injuries, the Jet defense could be shaky.

Meanwhile, nothing has been heard from the Jet offense—Joe Willie You-Know-Who. He's still expected to play this season, though, and might even be back within a week so he can play against the Giants on Aug. 23.

Frazier Vs. Foster Title Bout Planned

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Nev. (UPI) — Joe Frazier will meet light heavyweight king Bob Foster in Detroit on or around Oct. 22, according to the champ's manager.

Yank Durham said Monday night plans for the bout were just about set.

Durham praised Foster as a tough challenger for Frazier.

"Frazier will obviously outweigh him since Foster will probably come in at about 180. But Foster is very tall and a terrific puncher. I was really impressed with him."

Frazier has been working out and sparring in the afternoons at the Sahara Tahoe Hotel. At night, he sings as part of the current show there headlined by singer Teresa Brewer.

Durham said the high altitude and the good running facilities have helped Frazier stay in top shape. But he said the champ would go into heavy workouts about Sept. 1.

Further evidence that a Foster-Frazier fight is in the works came from reports that Lou Viscusi, Foster's manager, had discussed details for the match with the World Boxing Association WBA executive committee in Montreal.

He planned to discuss the fight more fully before the full convention today.

Wilson Sparks Sohner Victory

Former professional baseball player Doug Wilson slammed a triple and single and scored two runs to lead Sohner Tree Service to a 4-2 victory over Perry's Delicatessen last night in San Rafael Class A Softball League action at Albert Field.

In another A League game last night Two Turtles nipped Brandon Tires 1-0 on Tom Jones' ninth inning squeeze bunt, his fourth hit of the game.

In 16-inch softball league, the Bombers bombed the Native Sons 11-8. Dick Bastion and Roger Hillman each had three hits for the Bombers; Tay Johnstone had a triple and double and Gary Frugoli collected five hits for the losers.

49ERS TRIM SQUAD

Place Kicker Gavric, Four Others Released

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers cut five players Monday, including soccer-style place kicker Momcilo Garvic who was the team's third leading scorer the second part of last season.

A team spokesman said Gavric became "expendable" when "dependable" Bruce Gossett was obtained from the Los Angeles Rams during the off-season.

The Yugoslavian-born place kicker had 31 points last season but made only three of 13 field goals.

The other men who were handed their releases all were rookies.

They were: wide receiver Danny Crockett, an 11th round draft choice from Toledo University; defensive tackle Willie Peake of Alcorn A&M in Mississippi, an 11th round pick in 1969; linebacker Willie King of Arkansas A&M and cornerback Tom Robinson of Colorado State, both free agents.

Some Notes And Quotes From Marin Deer Camps

By AL GIDDINGS

On the deer hunting front, the take has been fair. Here are some facts:

The Jim and George Grossi ranches at Novato took 11 bucks over the first weekend. That is the most they've ever taken on an opening weekend.

Checked a buck killed by E. Zunino in the Point Reyes Locker Plant. Hope he sent his tag in because he's running for judge, you know!

My daughter, Marylu took a friend, Ken Walker of Woodacre, hunting, guided him up to two bucks standing together, then watched him miss both. She forgot to shoot, too!

At one of the Pt. Reyes restaurants, I asked a gal there if her husband had gotten his buck yet. Her answer, "He can't get a buck with a bar stool" was interesting! She bought me a free lunch when I threatened to name and quote her in the column. She doesn't know much anyway! Lots of bucks have been killed by those using those Pt. Reyes bar stools! Some whoppers, too!

LOCAL TROUT plants for this week only at Mendocino County at the East Branch of the Russian, and the Russian River between Squaw Rock and Ash Creek. No Marin County plants scheduled.

CALIFORNIA'S 1970 dove season opens statewide at one-half hour before sunrise on Tuesday, Sept. 1.

The Fish and Game Commission, at a meeting in San Diego, formally adopted a split 46-day dove seaon opening Sept. 1 and continuing through Wednesday, Sept. 30, then reopening Nov. 28-Dec. 13. The opener is the earliest date allowed by international agreements and the migratory bird hunting framework set by the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Seasons and limits are the same as last year with a dove limit of 10 per day, 20 in possession after opening day. White-winged doves may be taken only in Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The bag and possession limit applies in the aggregate of species where whitewings are allowed.

THE BAND-TAILED pigeon season will open Saturday, Oct. 3 and continue through Sunday, Nov. 1 in the counties of Butte, Del Norte, Glenn, Humboldt, Lassen, Mendocino, Modoc, Plumas, Shasta, Sierra, Siskyou, Tehama and Trinity. The balance of the state will open for band-tail shooting on Saturday, Dec. 12 and continue through Sunday, Jan. 10, 1971. The bag and possession limit is eight per day.

Shootiing hours for both doves and pigeons are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

CALIFORNIA HAD 767,149 paid holders of hunting licenses and 2,294,430 licensed sportfishermen — both record figures — during the 1969-70 fiscal year.

The totals were reported by the Department of Fish and Game to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which bases apportionments to states of federal aid funds for fish and wildlife restoration on license sales.

The DFG reported sales of 410,869 deer tags, 225,110 pheasant tags and 34,158 bear tags during the fiscal year.

Angling license sales included 2,093,271 resident angling licenses, 166,120 3-day Pacific Ocean licenses, 11,372 regular nonresident angling licenses and 23,627 10-day nonresident licenses. A total of 32,192 free licenses was issued to such persons as recipients of state old age security, senior citizens whose income is not over $140 per month, disabled and hospitalized veterans.

ARRESTS FOR fish and game violations — and fines paid by violators — were higher during the first six months of 1970 than for the same period the previous year.

The DFG reported today a total of 7,895 arrests for the first six months of 1970, compared with 7,326 during the corresponding period of 1969.

Fines levied by courts were $230,497 this year, compared with $211,971 for the first half of 1969.

Bouton Retires, Plans Sequel, Movie

HOUSTON (UPI)—Jim Bouton retired from baseball one moment and announced future publishing plans and how a movie should be made from his controversial first book in the next.

As far as baseball is concerned, Bouton said he would only return to the sport if the Houston Astros recalled him. On July 1 the Astros sent Bouton to their American Association farm club in Oklahoma City. He had a 4-6 record and 5.42 ERA so far this season.

Bouton said Monday he was retiring because "I just can't get anybody out."

OTHER PLANS

But Bouton said he has plans —some he talked about and others he didn't. The projects he did not discuss at length were "the few job opportunities" he has been offered.

But he did discuss a sequel to his best selling "Ball Four," a book which has provoked some anger from fellow baseball players and resulted in a talk with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

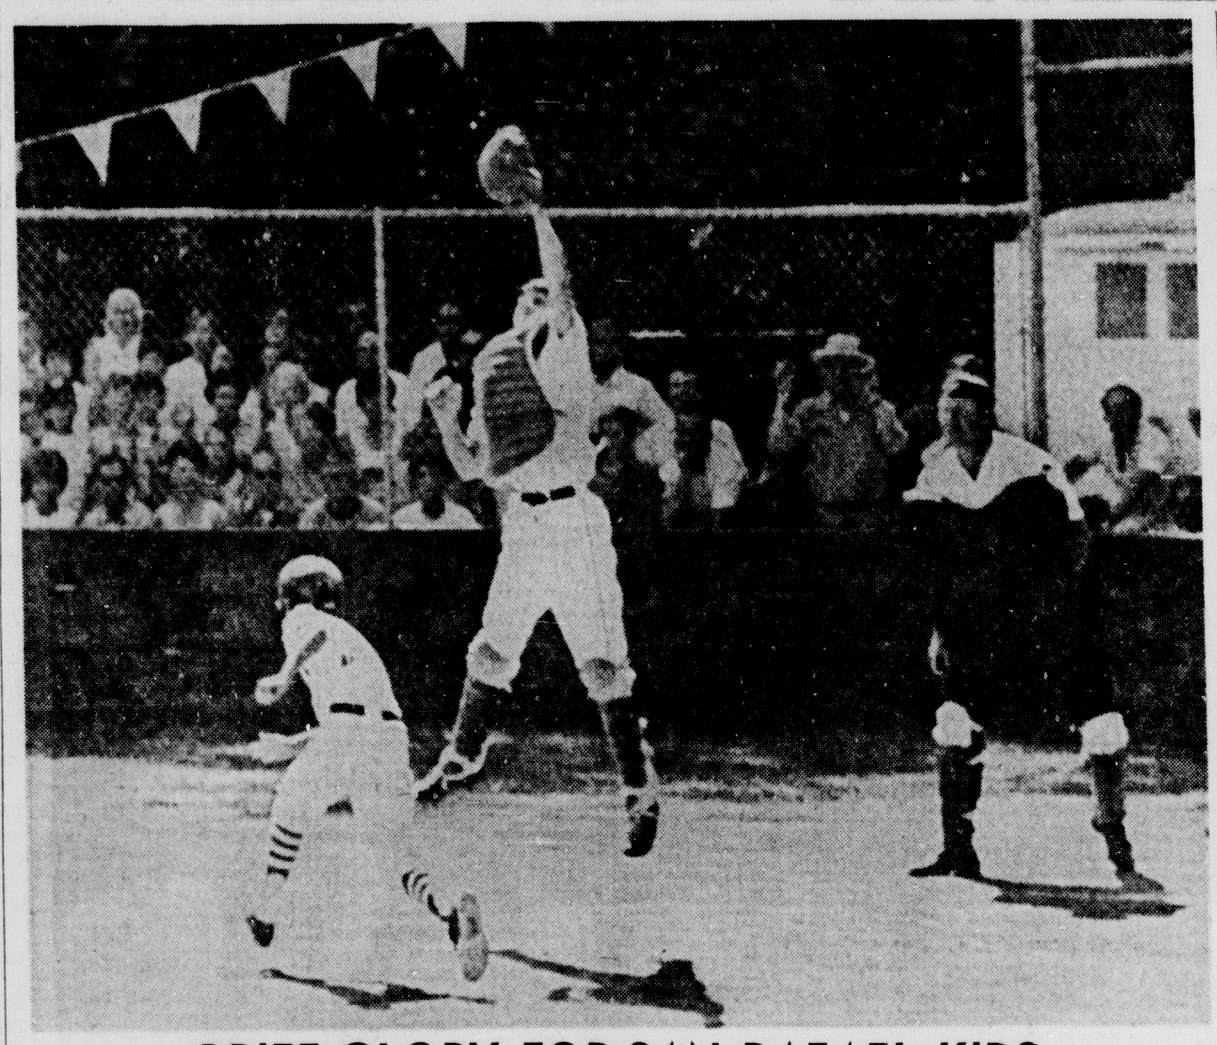
Bouton said the book ay be about the reaction to "Ball Four" and his tentative title is "I'm Glad You Didn't Take It Personal."

The one-time New York Yankee who tried to make a comeback as a knuckleball pitcher also said if a movie is made from his first book he would like it to star Elliot Gould (the star of "M-A-S-H" and "Getting Straight") and be directed by Mike Nichols (who directed "The Graduate" and "Catch-22").

BASEBALL EPICS

He specifically said he would like the movie to be out of the realm of ordinary baseball epics such as "The Babe Ruth Story" and "The Monte Stratton Story."

Bouton said he did not retire because of the reaction to the book but admitted he doubted if any other team would want his services because of "Ball Four." He said he would only return to baseball if the Astros want him back but he doubted if the team did.



BRIEF GLORY FOR SAN RAFAEL KIDS

San Rafael's Bryan Shelly, who opened the game with a hit, later scored this first inning run on a hit by Jeff Knotts during Saturday's championship game in the Little League Sectional Tournament at Novato. San Rafael jumped off to a 2-0 first inning lead, but Concord roared back to win the game, 9-2, and eliminate the Marin County champions from further competition. Concord catcher is Mark Spanka.

METS WIN

Seaver Predicts Pirate Collapse

By IRA MILLER

Just like last year, Tom Seaver thinks pitching will make the difference in the National League stretch run. But this year, he says it will b the Pittsburgh Pirates' pitching, not his New York Mets, that decides the Eastern Division pennant.

"I think their pitching is going to hurt them going down the stretch," Seaver said after pitching the Mets to a 10-2 victory over the Pirates Monday night for a split of their four-game series.

Although the split left the Mets exactly where they started the weekend—2½ games behind the Pirates — Seaver was satisfied. The Pirates, not surprisingly, were satisfied too.

"As long as we stay this way, I think in the last month, the pitching will make the difference," Seaver said. "We haven't lost anything. I figured before the weekend that if we got a split here, we'd be in good shape."

The Pirates, happy not to lose ground to their closest pursuer, figure time is on their side.

NOTHING LOST

"We didn't lose anything and we didn't gain anything," said shortstop Fred Patek of Pittsburgh. "We're still 2½ ahead now. We've got to keep winning and they've got to keep winning. The thing is, they've got to catch us."

Seaver survived a rocky three-walk one-double first inning and then blanked the Pirates on five singles the rest of the way to notch his 17th victory and tie Minnesota's Jim Perry for the major league leadership. The Mets-Pirates game was the only game in the National League Monday night.

LIGHTS OUT

At Pittsburgh, the lights at new Three Rivers Stadium went out just as the game was to begin and when it finally started 27 minutes later, there was a crowd of 47,148-second largest in Pittsburgh history. It didn't take them long to find out what Seaver was talking about.

In the first five innings, three Pirate pitchers walked 11 batters — including four in a row at one stretch — to help the Mets put the game away. The Mets scored their first nine runs on just six hits.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

It's unnatural for a bowler to move her elbows outward when preparing to make her approach. Such a move places too much pressure on the hands and can't help but cause inconsistency in the delivery later. At address, see that your elbows are close to your body. Your right arm should always stay close although the left swing outward later for balance.

Four Knockdowns In First Round Of Oakland Bout

OAKLAND (UPI) — Scoring four knockdowns in the first round, Al Robinson of Oakland needed only two minutes and 53 seconds to knock out Henry Olea of Phoenix Monday at Oakland Auditorium.

In a 10-round heavyweight co-feature 202-pound Steve Carter of Oakland was awarded a unanimous decision over 182-pound Ray White of Hollywood.

A punishing right to the ribs floored the 138-pound Olea the first time and he never recovered, going down two more times from Robinson's hooks to the midsection. A right to the chin produced the final knockdown and the referee gave the fight to the 136-pound former Olympic silver medalist.

It was Robinson's 10th victory in 11 professional bouts.

In his first start in over two years, Kim Booker of Oakland won his eighth straight middle-weight fight with a first-round knockout over Ted Lidgett of Bakersfield, Calif.

Lame Ben Hogan Quits Tourney

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Ben Hogan, after testing his ailing knee in two practice rounds over the hilly Southern Hills Country Club course, today withdrew from the 52nd PGA Championships starting Thursday.

"I can't play, I am lame," the 58-year-old two-time PGA champion said in a clubhouse interview. "My knee is too gimpy. It has stiffened up."

Open Champ Jacklin Looks Like Solid PGA Contender

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Tony Jacklin is feeling the same way he did just before he won the U.S. Open, and that could mean the $40,000 first prize in this week's PGA championship is about to be converted into pounds.

But then Jacklin feels the same way before every tournament.

"I am the worst practice player in the world," Jacklin said Monday after finishing a practice round. "I just don't concentrate too hard in practice rounds. I just don't like to practice.

"I didn't play well in practice rounds before the Open. I had no inkling that I was hitting it well enough to win."

All Jacklin did at the Open was win by seven shots over Dave Hill, becoming the first Britisher to capture that title since Ted Ray did it in 1920.

Jacklin, resplendent in pink slacks, took advantage of a temporary break in hot Oklahoma weather Monday to play with Ben Hogan, Bert Yancey and Jack Burke Jr.

PRAISES COURSE

He said it was his first serious effort at scoring over the 6,962-yard, par 35-35—70 Southern Hills Country Club course, and like everyone else who has played the plush layout thus far, he came away with praise.

"They have set this course up very well," he said. "The greens are holding, and the fairways are narrow. I think it's a good golf course.

"Even par (280) ought to win in a walk. Let's just say I would like to shoot par."

Jacklin was not too close to par Monday, coming away with a 74. And that brings up his general distaste for practice rounds again.

"It doesn't make any difference how you shoot practice. It doesn't make any difference if you shoot a 56. I really don't start getting on edge or start concentrating really hard until the tournament starts."

STRIKING SIMILARITY

Jacklin found, in his early tours of the course, one striking similarity to the Hazeltine course at Chaska, Minn., where he captured the Open two months ago.

The unique 17th hole at Hazeltine, where Jacklin kept his momentum going with two super shots on two consecutive days, looks a lot like the 17th at Southern Hills.

Both are par four holes where an iron or a four-wood is used off the tee for placement on a fairway that slopes sharply from left to right.

"They are not dissimilar," Jacklin said. 'At Hazeltine you had to worry about trees on the 67th, and here it is the rough."

In June Jacklin drove into the trees on both the second and third rounds, but played superlative and somewhat dangerous recovery shots in both cases. He returned the second round recovery shot into a birdie and saved par during the third round.

And he showed he liked the 17th at Southern Hills Monday. He birdied it.

Hairy Vallejo Star Traded To Hawaii

HONOLULU (UPI) — Henry Thomas Mark McGraw got a haircut and a Hawaii islander uniform Monday night after being suspended by the Eugene Emeralds for boycotting barbers.

The Islanders traded pitcher Dale Roberts to the Philadelphia farm club for the suspended McGraw who arrived today, settled himself into a barber's chair and ordered a "neck trim."

When he arrived on the field Monday night, the hefty Irishman from Vallejo, Calif., had his locks neatly tucked under his cap, and they were much shorter than those of some of the other Islander players.

During batting practice, McGraw sidled over to Islander manager Chuck Tanner and eyed his long sideburns. "Chuck," he said, "they'd never let you manage a ball club in Eugene with those."

Tanner ade a note of McGraw's recently-snipped locks and observed that anybody who is hitting in the .300 bracketa nd has 14 home runs to his credit couldn't possibly have hair any longer than his.

McGraw, who drew a suspension without pay July 12, for refusing to get a haircut, blamed his suspension from the Emerals on "their double standard,"

"In the major leagues," McGraw explained, "Anything goes as long as you produce. But in the minors, some clubs set up their own rules.

long-term the picture is bright for both Sears and Zayre. President Stanley H. Feldberg of the latter company sees fiscal 1970-71 sales gaining 17 per cent to a record $700 million, benefiting in part from the 10-15 new stores to be opened this year. Expansion, which has been aggressive, has been effected through taking over operation of formerly leased departments, acquistions and opening of new retail outlets. Sears' unbroken record of sales and earnings improvement is expected to continue again this year, with $3 per share looked for. At 21 times this figure, Sears' shares are trading at the lower end of their historical earnings multiple. Although Zayre at only 11 per cent estimated results has a greater degree of risk, upside leverage is proportinately broader. Thus Zayre would appear better suited to a young man's investment needs.

Dymo Industries To Omit Stock Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Directors of Dymo Industries Inc. has voted to omit the 3 per cent annual stock dividend usually announced at this time. The company reported higher earnings and sales for the year ended June 30.

Dymo last paid the 3 per cent dividend in October 1969. Rudolph Hurwich, Chairman, said the board will continue to review its dividend policy periodically.

Stocks Close Lower Again; Session Dull

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed lower in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Declines led advances 810 to 356 among the 1,498 issues crossing the tape. Volume of around 7.4 million shares was slightly below Monday's 7,580,000.

Fourth hour turnover of 750,000 shares was the lowest for the hour since 730,000 shares on Aug. 29, 1967.

There seemed nothing specific to account for the market's current lethargic behavior. "It's simply a case of the line of least resistance," one analyst said. "With nothing to put the market up, it's sagging of its own weight."

It is thought generally that investors are uneasy about the economy and whether a permanent peace settlement is possible in the Middle East.

Big block transactions included an 84,700-share block o RCA at 21 3-4, o 1-2; 167,000 shares of Kinney National Service preferred at 43, off 3; and 26,300 shares of Hammond Corp. at 8, off 1-2.

GAC Corp. and Ryder Systems were active issues trading lower.

Also active were Eastman Kodak, American Smelting and Refining and University Computing.

Most major groups moved in fractions.

General Motors closed off 3-8 at 67 1-4, Chrysler was off 1-4 at 19 5-8 and Ford closed unchanged at 45 5-8.

IBM lost 2 1-4 with a close of 238 1-4, Du Pont closed up 1-2 at 116 1-4 and Xerox gained 1, closing at 68 3-8.

UAL Asks CAB For Fare Hike

CHICAGO (UPI) — United Air Lines, Inc., said has applied to the civil Aeronautics board for a five per cent fare increase to be efective Oct. 15.

"Unless the CAB responds promptly to the need to increase fares the airlines industry will show little net income for 1970," the airline said in filing the application.

George E. Keck, president, said the industry hasn't been able to produce the earnings necessary to fulfill its public service obligations.

Wardell works at San Quentin Prison, so Mrs. Wardell will be conducting store business most of the time. hours are from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sundays. Closed Mondays andTuesdays.

NEARBY AND ACROSS RED HILL AVENUE, Rod Silva's Arco service station (or Rod Silva's Richfield, as it was formerly called) has been sold by Rodney J. Silva, who will spend all his time at a service station he has in Petaluma.

New owners David White of Novato and David Law of Petaluma, logically call the station Dave's Arco. They also own another Dave's Arco at Second and E Street, San Rafael, but expect to see this closed by fall with the opening of a new and larger Arco station at Second and D Streets, one block away.

AND ON THE SAME SIDE of the Miracle Mile at 56 Red Hill Avenue, there is a new produce store called Smiling Tom's Proper Foods, located where Col. Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken used to be. This is operated by Thomas Hale, who has retired from a more extensive grocery operation.

MEANWHILE, a new decorating business, David Arrow Interiors, has been opened at 637 San Anselmo Avenue in downtown San Anselmo.

This is a first business venture on his own for David Arrow of Terra Linda, who has been an expediter for a large corpo-

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 11th, the 223rd day of 1970 with 142 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1909 the first radio SOS was received when the liner Araphoe messaged for help off Cape Hateras, N.C.

In 1954 a formal peace announcement in Indochina ended the seven-and-one-half-year war between the victorious Vietminh forces and the government of France.

In 1962 a Soviet cosmonaut was launched into space on a four-day trip.

In 1965 Negroes began rioting in the Watts section of Los Angeles. During the six days of violence 34 persons were killed and 856 injured.

A thought for the day: Victor Hugo said, "A compliment is something like a kiss through a veil."

Train Cars Jump Rail Near Marin

Nine cars of a 99-car Northwest Pacific freight train were derailed Saturday at 3:48 p.m. five miles south of Petaluma near the Marin County Line.

George Phelps of the Northwest Pacific Railroad said the southbound train was traveling at 35 miles per hour when the last nine cars carrying lumber jumped the track.

He said that 175 feet of track was torn up, but that the line was restored to service early last night. The cause of the mishap had not been determined. There were no injuries.

Shutout Bids Have An Effect Even On Best Bridge Players

Don't let anybody tell you that shutout bids have no effect on him. They affect our best players, as you can judge for yourself by today's hand, taken from the recent world championship in Stockholm.

RICH OPENER

After East's pass, South opened the bidding with three spades. This may be a little rich for your taste, since South has only about four playing tricks, but the fact is that a player will almost never get punished for this kind of bid when the opponents are vulnerable and his side is not. The opponents will almost invariably plunge into the bidding, fearful that they will not collect enough if they double for penalties.

In this case West had a very normal takeout double. He had reason to hope for a vulnerable game even if his partner had a very poor hand. There might even be a slam if his partner had a few minor values. And, in

INTO THE ACT

It was North's turn to get into had a lay-down slam, North bid promised about seven spades headed by the queen-jack-ten, with probably no outside defensive values. What trick could North expect to win on defense?

Fearing that his opponents had a laydown slam, North leaped to five spades. Now it was almost impossible for the opponents to find their best contract.

HOPED FOR BEST

East doubled, hoping to show his values, but West didn't want to take a stab at the best contract at the six-level. He passed and hoped for the best.

The defenders took one trump, one heart, three diamonds and one club, collecting a penalty of 700 points. They expected to lose because at the other table surely East-West would bid and make a slam in hearts or clubs, scoring about 1,400 points.

This may be a story without a moral. In the other room, the East-West pair stopped at five hearts and scored only 680 points.

The best laid plans of mice and bridge players gang oft agley!

3 GREAT PLAYS

The Tempest
Taming of the Shrew
Henry V

JULY 17 - SEPT. 27

Plus six special performances of BRIGADOON
Aug. 18, 19, 25, 26; Sept. 1, 2

* If you haven't yet met Shakespeare it's time to meet the bard at Forest Meadows. He has been practicing magic for 350 years. Your chance, now, to see how.

Enjoy one of the finest Shakespearean festivals in the U.S... in the beautiful setting of Forest Meadows Theatre

The time is now to buy tickets to this spectacle under the stars . . . Marin County's own production of magic, color, action and great words.

It's enough that Shakespeare wrote these plays. But to see and hear them in the green of Forest Meadows Theatre (where even a stream flows past the stage) is a play itself on your imagination.

There will be 37 performances during the summer, plus six of the delightful, musical, BRIGADOON. This is rich fare and the dates will fit your plans if you simply plan to attend.

But be careful. DON'T let the days go by. Don't keep Shakespeare waiting - after 350 years! Decide that you must see him. Line up the family, your friends, even a theatre party. Then call the Festival Box Office, 456-1490 - certainly a magic number in entertainment.

If you do nothing else, meet Shakespeare in Marin this summer.

Action At McNear's Beach Calls More County Action

"Now that the County has finally acquired McNear's Beach and begun restoration there, it is a safe bet that it will soon draw more people than it can comfortably accommodate."

"We predict that it will not be long until the place is overcrowded, especially on warm summer afternoons."

Those are statements made in this space two months ago today, shortly before McNear's Beach was reopened as a public recreation area.

As we said, we didn't think it would be long. But we didn't think the crowds would materialize this soon.

BEFORE THE MONTH of July was over, this headline had appeared in the I-J: "Crowds Cause Woes at McNear's Beach."

The new county park, said the I-J report, was "drawing four times the number of people it was designed to handle."

As it stands, the park contains only 13.6 acres of dry land. An approximately equal area owned by the county is submerged.

Of the dry land, a portion is thickly grown steep hillside. The amount which is usable is tiny. There are tennis courts, a swimming pool, some restrooms and utility structures. When 800 people crowd into the park, which has happened already, it looks like a corner of Coney Island beach.

The present park embraces approximately 1800 feet of bay front, but practically none of this is yet usable for the park visitors.

THE REMNANTS of a ruined boat harbor remain to be removed, including rip-rap boulders as well as old pilings, before the beach can once again be usable for park goers.

An adjoining 34 acres is under condemnation, but only eight acres is dry land, adding little to the land surface of the park. About 1,400 feet of usable beach front would be added, however.

Funds are available for this acquistion.

With the crowding what it is, the acquisition can be completed none too soon.

Correction of sewer problems, swimming pool difficulties and other troubles can come none too soon, either.

ANOTHER 600 FEET of potentially usable bay frontage also adjoins the park. It is still owned by McNear interests. It embraces a small, flat-bottomed canyon readily adaptable to picnicking sites.

If McNear's Beach county park is to serve the people who wish to use it, this piece, too, must be added.

The demonstrated need for this park, as evidenced by the unexpected high usage starting immediately after its opening is plain. The County must find funds to develop and expand it.

"FOR MORE THAN two decades the I-J has editorially advocated public acquisition of Marin bayshore lands for recreational purposes. It is good to see that officialdom is moving at last.

"But the moves are too little and almost too late."

We also said that two weeks ago in this space and it still goes.

In the not-too-distant future the County must once again give its attention to preserving China Camp, adjoining McNear's Beach, for continued public use and enjoyment.

"My Fellow Arabs! ... Unaccustomed as I Am ..."

Spices From Our Gardens

Marin's gardens grow many good things. Some of them are delicate seasonings.

Bay trees, a native on the Pacific Coast, provide the bay leaves which lend their flavor to meat dishes.

A neighbor uses the herb, rosemary, as a ground cover. He probably has enough of the stuff to season all the stews in Marin on any given day.

Mint, ginger, chives are just a few of the multitude of seasonings we grow here.

Marin's gardens are not only pretty. They're tasty, too.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Alioto's Ferryboat Enthusiasm Needed On Bridge Bus System

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto is an expert on many things, but like a lot of bigwigs can mistake his enthusiasm for expertise.

Take ferryboats. The mayor knows they are a good thing, so he's all for them. Their memory, after all, is revered by almost everyone except most 1970 commuters.

Peterzell

Alioto got a chance to grandstand his expertise on ferries last week when Golden Gate Bridge District directors got the $14 million ferryboat plan done by naval architect Philip F. Spaulding of Seattle.

Spaulding did not think much of hydrofoils, but Alioto did.

WITH TELEVISION cameras doting on him, Alioto unwound in detail his recollection of a trip aboard a hydrofoil between Denmark and Sweden.

About a dozen others in the crowded room also have been on the vessel, but Alioto managed to give it a personal flavor that made it seem only he had seen the vision of a fleet of the bugs scooting about the bay.

No matter that his details were sort of loused up. He repeatedly said the 35-minute trip covered 25 miles, which would be pretty impressive. Unfortunately, the trip is only 16 miles.

HE ALSO KEPT insisting that hydrofoils on the Scandinavian run cost only $700,000, implying the price tag could be matched on San Francisco Bay. He clearly preferred the $700,000 cost to the $2.1 million cost Spaulding estimated for a sleek displacement hull of his own design.

Spaulding gently noted that the Swiss-designed hydrofoil Alioto was pushing needed 18 feet of water, while channels to the Marin terminals would be only 12 feet deep to avoid even more massive dredging costs. Also, even the largest version of the Swiss design would carry only 250 passengers, compared to the more than 600 on Spaulding's design.

MOST IMPORTANT, the naval architect noted, the Jones Act bars use of foreign vessels in domestic service.

Alioto was unimpressed with this catalogue of problems. "American technology" would come up with an even better design, he insisted.

Perhaps so, Spaulding said, adding neatly that the Swiss design, if built in an American shipyard with American labor costs and to Coast Guard standards, would cost $2.5 million. This would be some $400,000 more than the vessel he had designed for the bay service.

The $700,000 cost was for building the hydrofoil in an Italian shipyard, a point that at least temporarily silenced Alioto.

SPAULDING, despite Alioto's contribution, has given the bridge district what appears to be a highly workable blueprint for getting into the ferryboat business on a full scale. Well, not exactly given. He was paid $55,000. But many observers guessed he spent twice that doing the report.

Now what we need is some mayoral enthusiasm for the bridge district's long-delayed bus system.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editor Of UC Paper Airs Problems, Goals

The heading of your July 22 editorial about the UC News, "University is Many Things Besides Place to Teach," defines precisely the difficulty in putting together a weekly newssheet about the myriad activities of nine university campuses, plus more than a hundred research facilities, our statewide agricultural extension services and university extension which last year attracted more than 290,000 registrations.

While we give space to university research advances in UC News, we don't neglect student opinion and activities, recognizing that we must finally be judged on the accomplishments of 106,000 students currently enrolled, together with thousands of distinguished UC alumni.

The issue mentioned in your editorial is not typical in this respect. The following week's issue (July 24) contained eleven articles, four of which were about students.

Do UC News readers want to know more about University of California course curricula and how classes are structured? Or would they rather learn about some UC discovery which is pertinent to their everyday lives, or which will affect their futures? We reach media across the country and hope to engage the interest of writers and editors with stories of universal appeal. Administrative policies, faculty statements, university governance, etc. are much more fully covered in our internal statewide organ, the University Bulletin.

I agree that UC News should publish more articles about what goes on in the classroom, although it isn't easy for a writer to describe the impact of a brilliant teacher/researcher upon his students. But we'll keep trying to communicate that excitement. Understanding higher education is more important today than ever before and we all have a vital stake in ensuring that understanding.

Thank you for your thoughtful comments. We hope you find UC News interesting. As questions about our clipsheet have arisen during its 45-year history, we have surveyed editors to determine whether they wish to continue receiving the publication. As recently as 18 months ago, your colleagues indicated overwhelmingly their desire to keep the News coming.

What About Dog Leash Law?

This letter to you is to ask why can't something be done about enforcing the dog leash law? I know that is a long standing question among many, many residents of Novato. I suppose the answer, at least one answer, is that people do not want to complain about their friends and neighbors, but what happened to us this past week has really got my dander up.

We've put up with dogs running through our yard, ruining plants, scraping gravel all over the place and leaving numerous calling cards, but up till now we've kept our mouths shut or complained in a nice way. But now I'm just plain mad.

One of our sons had a motorcycle accident this last week, and it was solely due to a dog who was out running without the owner in sight. Thank God he was only traveling 20 miles an hour when the dog ran out in front of him. He was not hurt and only by the grace of God was not killed or crippled for life. Needless to say, his beautiful graduation present that he took such pride in is in a crumpled heap but can be repaired for a price that he will have to pay for out of his hard-earned money when it should be paid for by the owner of that dog. It's not only the money, but it was his only means of transportation to and from his job.

This isn't the only accident we have heard or read about happening because of this serious problem of running dogs. Do these things happen because people don't care, because they're thoughtless, or is it because they are just plain stupid and think the laws apply to everyone but them?

There are so many tragedies in this world that we have no control over as individuals that surely we can do our share to try and control the one we can do something about. Who knows, maybe the next time something like this happens, it could be you or one of your family.

So please, neighbors and friends, keep those dogs fenced in where they can do no harm to themselves or to anyone else, especially to our sons and daughters.

MRS. BETTY GILDAY
Novato.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Nixon Friends, Aiding Gov. Reagan, Want To See Him In White House

LOS ANGELES — On a sentimental pilgrimage just before he flew back to Washington President Nixon visited each place where the course of his life had been charted in his native state. From Yorba Linda, his birthplace, he went to Whittier where he grew up working in his father's store and gas station, then to the house in the Turesdale Estates in the Beverly Hills area where the Nixons lived from 1961 to 1963 and then to the restaurant in Hollywood that had represented for him the big time, big names.

IT WAS THE native son seeing his past unfold from the exalted position of the presidency, the most powerful office in the world. The Nixon story is a Cinderella story, the triumph over adversity and those who spurned him when he ran for governor in 1962.

California is the appropriate setting. On the Pacific slope a way of life has come into being that exerts a powerful attraction. Part of it is a climate, the sunshine, the Golden West.

BUT IT IS MORE than climate. Almost from America's origins this luxuriant, semi-tropical paradise has been a magnet for the earthbound the toilers under dreary, gray skies. The theme runs through much of American literature.

Every Iowa farmer dreamed of fleeing from the sub-zero cold and the blizzards to retire in the Golden West.

While the census figures for 1970 are not yet in final form, there is no question that California is leading. The total for the state approaches 20 million, which is an increase of nearly five million over the 1930 count. Thus, nearly one-tenth of the entire population of the country is concentrated on the slope between the Sierras and the sea.

EVEN MORE significant is the fact that the migration from across the country coninues. From 1965 to 1968 the net gain from migration was 400,000.

In the 25 years since the end of the war enormous fortunes have been made here. In land speculation alone — the rise in land values — it probably exceeds anything in the rest of the nation.

THE MEN OF the new fortunes are the Nixon friends. Their wealth, or a part of it, has gone into the creation of Ronald Reagan as a political figure. And they will give unstintingly to help insure a second term for Governor Reagan with a majority so impressively large, they hope, to put him in the presidential picture.

Alongside this wealth there has been great poverty. After many months of struggle and a nationwide boycott of California table grapes, Cesar Chavez won a union contract for the grape pickers. It will be a long time, however, before they move out of poverty.

THIS POVERTY has been more or less taken for granted. What is currently happening is far more disturbing. With the sharp downturn in the aero-space and the aircraft industries, California's unemployment is perhaps 6 per cent, a point above the national average. It has hit many of the technicians and engineers who migrated here to get in on the bonanza.

The worm in the golden apple is deeply disquieting. While the rest of the nation may see the heralded Nixon upturn in the second half of 1970, it is doubtful that this will happen in California.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Galbraith Writes Book, But Also Leads Referendum '70

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith is doing more than just writing magazine articles and books advocating the defeat of Democrats.

The oracular Harvard economist, anti-Vietnam zealot, Kennedy-McCarthyite, former head of the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action and author of a recently published pamphlet, "Who Needs the Democratic Party?", is fronting for an organization with the avowed aim of providing campaign funds and "technical assistance to New Left, pacifist and activist candidates.

Calling itself "Referendum '70," the Galbraith-inspired organization lists him as nominal chairman and Robert Clampitt, a 1968 McCarthy leader, as executive director.

"REFERENDUM '70" is actively supporting some 75 Senate and House Candidates in 27 states, plus two gubernatorial aspirants — Jesse Unruh, die-hard Kennedyite in California, and former Rep. John Gilligan in Ohio.

Highly significant of the real motivation behind "Referendum '70" is that a number of its choices are opposing incumbent regular Democrats.

In other words, "Referendum '70," in effect, is a "spoiler" operation.

It is far more bent on knocking off incumbent Democrats it disapproves of than defeating Republicans.

OUTSTANDING among the prominent Democrats "Referendum '70" is gunning for are —former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic Farmer-Labor candidate for the Senate in Minnesota; Sen. Henry Jackson, Wash., chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee and senior member of the Armed Services Committee, running for a fourth term; and Sen. Gale McGee, Wyo., chairman of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and member of the powerful Appropriations and Foreign Affairs Committees, seeking a third term.

Against these prestigious party and congressional leaders, "Referendum '70" is supporting:

EARL CRAIG, 31, former Afro-American lecturer at Minnesota University, who has never run for public office before. At the DFL state convention, to the astonishment and indignation of the Humphrey camp, the black activist got around 240 of the 1,000 delegate votes. Backing him is a coalition of dissident elements — McCarthyites, Kennedyites, New Left, Students for a Democratic Society, Communists and black militants.

CARL MAXEY, Spokane Negro lawyer, who is drawing from the same elements supporting Craig.

O.P. SVILAR, little-known lawyer, also the standard bearer of such forces in Wyoming. Svilar, like Craig and Maxey, is extremely unlikely to win. Bu their clangorous primary campaigns are forcing Humphrey, Jackson and McGee to dip into hard-to-get electioneering funds and thus considerably reduce their resources for the fall battles against powerful and well-heeled Republican opponents.

As McGee ruefully remarked, "They seem to be a lot more eager to soften me up for my Republican opponent than reelecting a proven liberal Democrat to the Senate."

HUMPHREY, Jackson and McGee, while consistent, steadfast liberals, have supported the Vietnam policy. Recently Humphrey switched and is now siding with the doves.

Craig, Maxey and Svilar, all all-out Vietnam foes favor immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces. They also advocate equally militant domestic and racial policies.

"Referendum '70," in addition to Galbraith and executive director Robert Clampitt, is run, according to its literature, by a seven-member steering committee that, in turn, is part of a 35-member national advisory committee.

Both groups consist almost entirely of Kennedyites and McCarthyites.

Petaluma Police Seeking Respect More Than Just A Raise In Pay

Strikes and walkouts for higher pay are splashed across newspaper pages daily, but in the case of the Petaluma police, wages seemed to be only the surface cause. It boils down to dignity.

Discontent has developed slowly, but strongly, within the department in the past months. To hear some of the officers talk, it's a matter of self-respect and the desire to be respected by others.

Police across the country have certainly experienced the same feeling simply because they wear a uniform and represent the establishment. In Petaluma it goes deeper than that. It appears they are seeking respect for the department as a whole.

IN THE PAST month four officers have resigned. They maintained that money was not the main reason in any of the cases.

Two of the four left the law enforcement field completely, while the other two joined other departments. Since October of 1968, 10 men have moved on.

One of those looking forward to his resignation, who could perhaps look at the situation more objectively than the others, spoke up at a meeting of the police officers association and said that more than a pay increase would be necessary to pull the department together again.

Some of the departing officers have gone so far to say that they couldn't think of a man on the force who was truly worthy of a large salary increase.

THIS DIVISION among the troops also runs deep. None has been heard to openly criticize Police Chief Larry D. Higgins, but they feel it is he who must take responsibility for the discord by virtue of his office.

Higgins has always been known in the community as a gentleman. He has publicly supported his policemen whenever possible and defends his men when riled citizens storm his office.

The community, as a whole, is apathetic about the condition of the police force. Those who did speak out seemed largely in favor of a substantial raise, but the reasons varied.

SOME FELT the officers to be so harassed and underpaid, that only the very best would be good enough. Others supported a raise on the basis that it would attract better qualified men and gradually upgrade the department.

Petaluma police, like their counterparts everywhere, want to be proud of their department. They want to attend county and regional police meetings and feel equal to any man there.

The Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission will meet at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Room 245 of the Hall of Justice to elect officers and appoint a member to the advisory committee for the police-community relations program and a representative to the youth commission.

Nader: Collusion To Avoid Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says a federal investigation is needed to disclose collusion between business and government officials which enables private industry to avoid taxes at the expense of the citizen.

"Nothing short of a federal investigation can begin to disclose the abuses which have woven a fine web of mutually implicating relationships between businessmen and government officials," Nader said in a letter Sunday.

The consumer advocate wrote the letter to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie to urge him to call the investigation of property tax systems under which he said state and local governments are forcing citizens to pay billions in extra taxes private industry should be paying.

Hayakawa Next Harvard Head?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) —Former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner and S.I. Hayakawa, of Mill Valley, president of San Francisco State College, head a list of about 600 men most often suggested as Harvard University's new president, it was learned yesterday.

The suggestions have come in response to an estimated 200,000 requests sent by the Harvard Corporation to students, faculty and employes asking advice on who should replace Nathan M. Pusey when he retires next June after 17 years as president.

Hayakawa could not be reached for comment today. He is vacationing in Japan until September.

South Pacific Hit By Another Explosion As Tourists Invade

TAHITI — There have been two explosions in the South Pacific recently. One is the French atomic bomb and the other is the tourist invasion of Polynesia. It is predicted that while the fallout from the former will blow away, the fallout from the tourist explosion will be around for centuries to come.

Tahiti and the other islands in the South Pacific are caught between cultures. The airplane has made it possible to fly to Tahiti in a matter of hours. The only ones who aren't awed by this are the Tahitians. They don't know who designed the 707 jet but they'd just as soon he'd drown in the nearest atoll.

For hundreds and hundreds of years Tahitians have set their own pace, which is somewhat slower than that of Americans and Europeans.

To cite an example, as of this writing, Tahiti is still celebrating Bastille Day, which took place on the 14th of July.

No one is exactly sure when the 14th of July will be over out here, though some hotel owners, whose help has not come back yet, are hopeful everyone will be at work by Christmas.

In order to enjoy the islands you must understand the thinking of the Tahitians.

The American says "Please, I must have breakfast immediately because I have to catch a plane for Pago Pago."

"Yes, sir," the Tahitian says. But he thinks "I have already had breakfast and besides I do not have a plane to catch, so why is he bothering me with his problem?"

Ten minutes later the American says "Waiter, I must have breakfest now!"

"Yes, sir," the Tahitian says. But he thinks to himself "If I do not give him his breakfast, perhaps the French manager will fire me and then I can go fishing in the lagoon."

Fifteen minutes later a fuming American says "See here, I have been waiting for breakfast for 25 minutes. I haven't even had coffee. I have five countries to see in six days. When I get back to the United States I will tell all my friends not to come to Tahiti."

"Yest, sir," the Tahitian sys, wiping the counter. But the thinks "If he would only keep his promise, then this hotel would close, and I could sleep with my papaya all day long."

The tourist says sternly "Your economy depends on tourism, and you will never prosper and become rich if you don't learn that tourists like to be served fast."

"I know," the Tahitian nods sadly. But he thinks to himself "Who wants to become rich if it makes you so nervous?"

"Don't get me wrong," the tourist says. "I admire your life style. But one must get with the 20th century. You can't just dilly dally all day long. You have to go, go, go."

"Thank you," the Tahitian says. But he thinks, "I wouldn't have to put up with all this garbage if I had gone canoeing with Fredo this morning."

A half hour later the American is now steaming and shouting for the French manager, who is also steaming and yelling.

The Tahitian smiles at both of them and thinks to himself sadly, "I would hate to be a tourist in Tahiti because it's almost impossible to get anything to eat."

Car Crash Hurts 2 In Tam Valley

A Tamalpais Valley woman and an Ohio man reportedly were injured Saturday when their car ran off the road on Marin Drive in Tamalpais Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

Pamela P. Stahl, 20, of 873 Marin Drive, and David R. Siff, 23, of Englewood, Onio, received minor injuries and were taken to Marin General Hospital, the patrol said, but a hospital spokesman had no record of the two being treated.

Officers said the accident occurred at 7 a.m. when Miss Stahl's car, which was backing out of the driveway, hit an embankment and ran off the road.

5,000 Acres Go To Caverns Site

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The addition of more than 5,000 acres to the Mitchell Caverns state reserve in San Bernardino County was announced by the Department of Parks and Recreation.

Director William Penn Mott, Jr., said the $13,940 purchase from the U.S. Bureau of Land Management will eventually be developed for family camping and interpretive trails.

The Public Works oBard has approved the purchase of 640 acres of school lands from the State Lands Commission, Mott said, and leave only one small holding that the Department hopes to acquire eventually.

Two Marinwood youths suffered minor injuries Saturday when their motorcycle swerved off Shoreline Highway near Stinson Beach School and into a six-foot ditch.

California Highway Patrol officers reported the cycle driven by William Charles Kelly, 22 of 394 Johnstone Drive, traveling north, went off the roadway on a curve at 12:55 p.m.

Kelly who suffered a cut knee and his passenger Steve Wallace, 21, of 248 Blackstone Drive, who suffered a cut left foot and scrapes, were treated at Marin General Hospital.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Skin Cancer Is Easy To Detect Bur Why Take Any Chances?

A reader writes: "I'm a young fair-skinned housewife trying to avoid too much sun. Outdoors I wear big floppy hats and remain in the shade as much as possible. I tan after gradual exposure but try not to overdo it. Does ordinary window glass screen out the harmful ultraviolet rays? I enjoy sitting in the window watching the world go by."

Ordinary window glass, but not all glass, usually absorbs the ultraviolet rays in sunshine. We neglected to mention that this the window watching the world go by."

Ordinary window glass, but not all glass, usually absorbs the ultraviolet rays in sunshine. We neglected to mention that this young woman has a family history of skin cancer and she wants to avoid the condition if possible. Fortunately, this form of cancer is easy to detect and cure, but why take a chance.

IN A RECENT issue of Family Health, Edward Edelson mentions the paradoxical behavior of sunlight. Water is a good conductor of ultraviolet rays and a person could burn or get a tan while swimming. Contrary to popular belief, water does not reflect these rays. This is why they pass through thick layers of clouds and could produce a sunburn on an overcast day.

Sand and snow relfect the rays. The same can be said of the cement or tile around the swimming pool. Many suntan creams and ointments contain chemicals that have light-absorbing properties. The thicker these are applied, the more protection they offer. Zinc oxide and titanium ovide provide maximum protection but many people object to the pasty white texture of the salves. Red petrolatum also is effective.

A TAN IS nature's way of protecting against sunburn. There is very little damage to the skin when the bronzed look is acquired slowly. Dark-skinned persons seldom are bothered because they have an inherited tan with enough pigment to form a natural barrier against ultraviolet.

'INSTANT' INFORMATION

L. S. B. writes: Three days ago I sent in a letter and very carefully typed my name, address, and zip code on the enclosed envelope. You probably received the letter on Monday and here it is Thursday, and no reply. Please let me know what happened. P.S. — I also told you in the letter than an immediate reply was needed.

REPLY

All letters accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope are answered. If the mail volume is heavy, this may take a week to 10 days. Some readers enclose an envelope but fail to put on a stamp. Please write again and be sure the return envelope has a stamp on it.

WOBBLY BEFORE BREAKFAST

C. T. writes: I'm weak and wobbly in the morning before breakfast. Is this typical of old age? I'm 74.

REPLY

No, but the condition may occur if the circulation to the brain is a bit sluggish or your blood sugar is low. Sometimes it takes a little while to get the "old machine a-goin."

MUSCLES AND LABOR

L. E. writes: Is it true that muscular women have more trouble giving birth than those with normal muscular development?

REPLY

Only when the pelvic muscles are enlarged to such an extent that they crowd the birth canal.

CONCEPTION IS POSSIBLE

R. C. writes: Can a woman conceive if she has all her pelvic organs except a fraction of one ovary?

REPLY

Yes, provided she is the right age.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Landowner Did Not Act Wisely

Scott owned a small country home on a beautifully wooded hill overlooking a small creek. When Scott built a carport next to his house, he had to fill in the creek and pave a driveway over it. He put a two-foot pipe under the driveway for the creek to run through.

But when the first heavy rain came the creek filled up. The pipe could not carry all the water. It backed up and gathered debris which clogged the pipe and caused a flood. The water spilled over and damaged nearby homes.

When the country fire department tried to dig a new ditch to relieve the clogging, a large soil mass on Scott's land tore loose and slid into his neighbor's swimming pool.

As a rule, the law favors a person who improves his land but Scott had not acted wisely.

If you block or divert the natural flow of a watercourse, you are legally liable for the resulting damage to someone else's property. If you do divert the course, you must provide a proper way to handle the waters to prevent damage.

Another principle also applies to flood waters: The "common enemy" doctrine. These are waters which escape from a stream and overflow on the land. Flood waters, like fire, are the "common enemy" against which anyone may protect his property even if this injures his neighbors'. But this rule applies only to flood water in highly abnormal times.

A rule of strict liaiblity applies to the landowner who creates an abnormal, dangerous condition on his land.

Suppose a landowner creates an artificial lake or stores a large amount of water in his abandoned mine. Through no fault of his, let's say, the water escapes. The law nevertheless holds him strictly liable for any damages the escaped water causes — that is, his neighbor does not have to prove he was negligent before he can collect damages.

HEW Aide Takes Post As Editor

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Creed C. Black, an assistant secretary in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and former executive editor of the Chicago Daily News, has been named editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Black, 45, whose resignation from the HEW is effective Sept. 1, will assume his new post Sept. 14.

The editor's position has been vacant since Knight Newspapers, Inc., assumed control of the Inquirer Jan. 1 from Walter H. Annenberg's Triangle Publications, Inc.

Black left the Chicago Daily News 18 months ago to join the HEW as assistant secretary for legislation.

Actress Offers Rioters Bail

LONDON (UPI) — Actress Vanessa Redgrave went to court Monday to help provide bail for those arrested during Sunday's clash between police and Black Power demonstrators but her help was not needed.

She waited with her brother, Colin, while 18 persons appeared at Marylebone Court on charges that included assaulting policemen, obstruction, possessing offensive weapons and using threatening behavior.

The suspects were bailed on a total of nearly $7,200 until Oct. 28. No one took advantage of Miss Redgrave's offer of assistance.

Police battled with the demonstrators for half an hour before bringing the situation under control. The marchers were protesting what they said was police harassment of blacks.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

'Fresh New Approach To Programming' CBS Credo

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—You could almost hear the gasp of millions of viewers in front of their television sets. Within minutes the switchboard of the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) glowed red with incoming calls. On the screen in what had been advertised as a comedy series a character was actually referring to ethnic minorities in terms rarely used these sensitive days.

The BBC was quite happy about the fuss. Yes, they said, the man on the screen, Alf Garnett by name, was a bigot. He was supposed to embody all the prejudices of his kind. The idea was to bring these into the open and expose them to the healthy ridicule of the nation's laughter. Once this was made clear the series, "Till Death Us Do Part," became one of Britain's funniest shows and the BBC's proudest boasts.

Where else, they hinted, could you produce such a series?

That was before Robert D. Wood became president of the CBS Television Network in Feb. 1969. A man who could fire the Smothers Brothers at the peak of their popularity, and drop the Jackie Gleason, Red Skelton and Petticoat Junction shows when the ratings were still high because they no longer fitted his image of the network, needs no other credentials for programming courage.

Among the 2,100 ideas that passed through his office on the 34th floor of CBS headquarters during the first year of his regime was a program, as yet untitled, inspired by the British series but adapted to fit American situations. He approved it, against the misgivings of some others in the network, in words that echoed what he said about his decision to drop Gleason and Skelton:

"A lot of people think I was wrong and maybe I'll be proven wrong but I'd rather try something and fail than wonder what would have happened if I'd done what I didn't have the courage to do."

Wood doesn't so much sit for an interview as poise in flight. He took over one of the top entertainment and education jobs in the country at a time when networks are facing one of the most challenging years in their history. Next January they lose $200 million worth of tobacco advertising and if the competitive race has a little harsher edge right now it may be because of the feeling that the network that does best in the autumn season will attract the most new commercials after New Year' Day.

What Wood, 45, wants for CBS, he said, is a will to "try the untried . . . a young fresh, new approach to programming."

"I don't want orthodoxy to prevail," he said, earnestly in a concise statement of his credo. "I don't want to get locked in. If there is a new idea I want CBS to have it."

Topless Ruling Ignored In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—New Alcoholic Beverage Control regulations on the apparel and deportment of saloon waitresses and entertainers went into effect Monday, but were not apparent in San Francisco.

A San Francisco Chronicle reporter, after a survey, reported seeing waitresses without pasties, bottomless entertainers and dirty motion pictures.

Drew McKillips, the reporter, said a place that advertised "completely nude go-go girls" was telling the truth.

King Friend Asks Hoover's Suspension

CHICAGO (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover should be suspended for trying to "white mail" the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Rev. Jesse L. Jackson says.

Jackson, head of Operation Breadbasket of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, held a news conference Monday about an article published in Time Magazine. The article says King, late head of the SCLC, met with Hoover in 1964 and was confronted with wiretap transcriptions revealing alleged extramarital activities by King.

CALLS FOR OUSTER

Jackson called on President Nixon to suspend Hoover as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and demanded that Hoover's "fitness for holding office" be reviewed by: The attorney general and the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division; a panel of black jurists and lawmakers; eminent civil rights leaders; and a group of black and white psychiatrists.

"We contend that Mr. Hoover has stooped to the lowest rungs of viciousness and maliciousness in his underhanded dissemination of information regardign a deceased man, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who commited his life and finally gave the last full measure of devotion to the cause of social justice and advancement of racially and economically disinherited."

Jackson said he did not know about a meeting between King and Hoover and "even if it was true it's irrelevant because Dr. King's contribution to his people was not one of sexual prowess but one of commitment to liberation."

CHARGES PLOT

Jackson charged Hoover was guilty of "complicity in a plot designed in essence to 'white-mail,' as formerly in 'black-mail,' and to intimidate Dr. King so as to prevent him from carrying out his civil rights activities.

"Mr. Hoover's belated dissemination of information regarding a dead man who can no longer defend himself constitutes an incredible sordidness and unfairness with reference to Dr. King.
